

Weak B 46

Chapter 46 Kang Li's Design Layout for the Courtyard

This was Xiao Ming Rui's response after slurping a noodle.

Upon hearing this, Kang Li's fox-like eyes brimmed with laughter, "If it tastes good, eat more." Saying so, her soft and warm gaze fell on the twins, who were still looking at her, "Hanhan and Vivi, you too!"

"Vivi eat lots!"

"Hanhan eat lots!"

The twins, though slim and delicate, had big smiles on their faces.

"Okay, Vivi and Hanhan eat lots."

Kang Li responded to the twins with a smile, then turned to ask Captain Kang, Big Brother Kang, and Kang Guoan, "Dad, Big Brother, Little Brother, how do you find the taste?"

"It's delicious!"

Captain Kang was concise.

“Li Bao, you really do have a talent for cooking.”

Big Brother Kang praised.

Kang Guoan, “As long as it’s a meal cooked by Li Bao, to Little Brother, it’s always the most delicious.”

“I also think it tastes good, but be careful, all this praise might make me arrogant!”

Blinking her lively fox-like eyes, Kang Li picked up her bowl of food and began eating gracefully.

The washing of pans and dishes was completed by Big Brother Kang and Kang Guoan, however, Kang Li still made a trip to the kitchen. Seeing the kitchen tidied up clean and proper, she didn’t forget to give her brothers a thumbs-up.

Afterwards, Kang Li spent nearly half an hour playing with Xiao Ming Rui and the twins in the living room. Seeing the twins gradually become listless, she knew the little ones must be tired. So, she took the twins by the hand, called for Xiao Ming Rui to follow, and settled them in their bedroom.

Sleep comes quickly for children, and sure enough, just as Kang Li laid each one onto their little beds, in the blink of an eye, they closed their eyes successively, emitting uniform and faint breathing sounds from their mouths.

Exiting the room on tiptoes, Kang Li returned to the living room and sat down to talk with Captain Kang and the others, "Dad, if I'm not mistaken, Comrade He should take Little Brother to North City Petrochemical for the onboarding process this afternoon."

Captain Kang, "If it turns out as you said, Dad and your Big Brother will accompany your Little Brother there. You just rest at home."

Kang Li nodded, "Okay." Then she added, "Dad, before you and Big Brother return to the old home, could you help me rearrange the yard?"

Big Brother Kang asked, "Li Bao, what kind of arrangement are you thinking of?"

"I'll draw a floor plan for you to see."

With that, Kang Li got up and went to Luo Yanqing's study. After a moment, she came back with paper and pen, sat down at the small dining table, and with her eyes lowered, swiftly sketched the courtyard layout she desired onto paper with a few strokes.

"There, Dad, Big Brother, Little Brother, take a look."

Putting down her pencil, Kang Li passed her own sketch to Captain Kang.

Big Brother Kang and Kang Guoan leaned in towards Captain Kang.

“This crescent moon, flower petals, and all these odd-shaped little patterns you’ve drawn, don’t tell me you’re planning to plant vegetables in them?”

This was Kang Guoan’s voice.

“Little Brother is smart, that’s exactly what I had in mind. Don’t you think it would be interesting?”

Kang Li tilted her head to look at Kang Guoan, “Although there’s a concrete path in the yard, if you want to pick some vegetables on a rainy day, you’re bound to get mud on your feet. So, I designed the vegetable plots in shapes that the children and I like, and then I’ll make the surface around the vegetable plots and flower beds out of concrete... oh, almost forgot to mention, look at this...”

After listening to Kang Li, Kang Guoan spoke, “You’re planning to install taps for both the kitchen and bathroom.” It was a statement, not a question.

Kang Li snapped her fingers, “Exactly, that’s the plan.”