

Weak B 49

Chapter 49 Kang Li is not easy to fool

Su Man was understandably unhappy about being unreasonably roped into gossip, but there was no sign of displeasure on her face. She simply said, “Professor Luo’s wife is indeed very beautiful, but I’m not sure about anything else. After all, I’ve only just met her once.”

What difference does it make if she looks like a goddess?

In a few years, she would end up shattering Professor Luo’s family life, claiming the lives of Professor Luo and his son Luo Mingrui, and even sacrificing her own.

This was something she had heard mention of from her sister, Su Qing, in her previous life.

Yes, her previous life. Compared to everyone else in this world, Su Man had lived through another lifetime—only it wasn’t a good one, and she died young.

To say that she died young, that is, a few years after the youth sent-down movement’s return to the city... she passed away from an illness.

Unexpectedly, when she next opened her eyes, she found herself back a month before being sent down to the countryside.

Without much hesitation, she decided to snatch the marriage prospect meant for her sister, Su Qing, and gave up on the so-called love of her past life.

Ha! The idea that having love is enough for fulfillment is truly a joke!

Therefore, it's better to be pragmatic in life to avoid future regrets.

...

Kang Li returned to the living room from the courtyard and was suddenly greeted by the System's voice.

"Sister, can Dwen Dwen talk to you for a moment?"

"..."

Kang Li frowned, giving no immediate response.

Dwen Dwen was frightened and hardly dared to breathe.

After a moment, Kang Li said, "Go ahead."

Dwen Dwen let out a sigh of relief and chirped up in its cute and milky voice, "Does sister want to officially start on a task now?"

Kang Li: "I've said I don't need you to issue any tasks for me."

"Dwen Dwen didn't issue a task for sister. Dwen Dwen just wants to give sister a suggestion."

Dwen Dwen felt aggrieved; why didn't sister like it?

Could it be that it wasn't cute enough?

Not as cute as sister's current three human cubs?

That shouldn't be right?

Its current incarnation is the "Bing Dwen Dwen" that sister likes!

"Speak."

Kang Li casually sat on a small wooden chair, but no matter how you looked, her posture exuded an air of grace.

“Sister currently has three little cubs. From Dwen Dwen’s point of view, sister could start by winning over the girl cub, then her twin brother, and finally tackle Ruirui cub.”

Kang Li: “Don’t talk to me about ‘winning over.’” She had no intention of “winning over” anyone because in her view, the term was clearly disrespectful to would-be subjects!

Everyone is a human with blood, flesh, and feelings, not some non-human entities.

That require winning over to achieve some nonsensical goals.

Dwen Dwen: “I’m just using an analogy. To put it simply, sister could start with the girl cub to earn a lot of happiness points and affection value and this way sister would also be able to exchange points for...”

“There’s no need to say too much. I know what I’m doing.”

“Sister is the smartest, Dwen Dwen knows! Oh, by the way, sister, the moment you appeared at the train station today and afterwards interacting with the cubs, cooking for them, playing with them, you’ve already gained 1000 happiness points, coming from the twin brother and sister. And from choosing and washing vegetables... to preparing the entire lunch, you earned a total of 13 Life Points.”

Kang Li didn't respond.

Dwen Dwen was baffled, but it clenched its little fists to encourage itself and continued, "I almost forgot to tell sister, before you left your hometown, you gained five thousand happiness points from your nephews. That's the tally. As for the Life Points, sister gained 3 points. In other words, to date, sister has acquired 6000 happiness points and 16 Life Points."

"And the rewards?"

Kang Li was not so easily fooled.