Chapter 66 Not Taking It Seriously

Yes, she brought Wen Yue and Wen Yi, her stepdaughters, to the Luo Family to apologize and to show off in front of others, so as to earn herself a reputation as a woman who was literate, nurtured her stepdaughters lovingly but not indulgently, and was capable of teaching them manners.

Who would have thought, that woman who looked like a vixen was even better at “playing the game”!

Grinding her teeth silently, Su Man felt extremely frustrated!

...

The Luo Family.

Seeing his precious daughter walk through the courtyard gate, Captain Kang stopped his work and with a hint of worry in his eyes, asked with concern, “Who was it that called out to you just now, did anyone bully you?”

Gently shaking her head, Kang Li responded, “It was the neighbor next door, she called out to apologize to me.”

Captain Kang was puzzled, “Apologize?”

Big Brother Kang and Kang Guoan both looked at Kang Li with eyes full of questions.

To avoid worrying her father and brothers, Kang Li had to recount exactly what Su Man had said when she stopped her.

Captain Kang went back to his work, but continued to speak without stopping, “You don’t need to take what kids say to heart, it will only make you feel uncomfortable.”

“Of course, I didn’t take it seriously.”

Kang Li looked natural with a smile in her fox-like eyes, and she said, “Before I agreed to marry Comrade Luo Yanqing, I already knew what kind of status I would have to face. Since it was something I knew and agreed to, I of course don’t mind what others say about my current status.”

“It seems the child next door knows a lot.”

Kang Guoan muttered softly.

Hearing this, Kang Li paused, then stepped forward and whispered to her father and older and younger brothers, "The Comrade Su next door is the same as me."

"..."

The three men of Captain Kang's family were perplexed.

Kang Li: "Also a stepmother."

"What a coincidence?"

Kang Guoan was surprised.

Kang Li: Could it be any less of a coincidence? Your sister is the control group in their experiment!

"Maybe it's just a coincidence. This house was assigned by the agency, and who becomes neighbors with whom isn't for individuals to decide."

That's what Kang Li said, but what she was truly thinking, nobody knew.

After all, it was the plot that demanded it, or more precisely, it was an intentional arrangement by the author.

The purpose was nothing but to highlight the female protagonist.

As evening approached, He Feng arranged for someone to deliver the bricks and cement that Kang Li needed, and also sent word to her that the craftsmen would arrive early the next morning.

The moon was bright and clear, casting a watery light. After dinner, Captain Kang walked with his hands behind his back in the courtyard to aid digestion, with Xiao Ming Rui trotting closely behind him.

In the kitchen, Big Brother Kang and Kang Guoan chatted idly while washing pots, pans, dishes, and cutlery.

“The day after tomorrow you’re going to start your official job. Remember to work hard and don’t bring shame to our family or to our Kang Li.”

This was the voice of Big Brother Kang.

Kang Guoan: “Don’t worry, big brother, I’ll certainly do my best!”

“That’s good. Also, don’t forget to come over this weekend to see if Kang Li needs any help with anything and take care of the kids too.”

Big Brother Kang continued to instruct.

Kang Guoan nodded, "Mhm."

"Kang Li has been pampered since she was young and she is a bit naive. I'm really worried that she might suffer injustices here and have nowhere to turn to due to the distance from home."

Big Brother Kang felt particularly bittersweet inside at the thought of being separated from his beloved sister who had been pampered since childhood in just a few days, especially when he considered the uncertain future of when they would meet again, his worries grew even more.

He feared that his precious sister might be wronged, afraid that she would be bullied in this unfamiliar place, and as her older brother, he would not only be absent when she needed him but also unable to appear in a timely manner, which made him feel very uneasy.

"I'll be here."
