

Reborn as a Weak Beauty Pampered by All

Chapter 8 - 8 8 What Do You Think

Chapter 8: Chapter 8: What Do You Think? Chapter 8: Chapter 8: What Do You Think?
The wheel of fortune instantly stopped spinning.

Brilliant fireworks burst into the sky as the gift package Kang Li won slowly opened.

Dwen Dwen clapped like a seal, "Congratulations, Miss, you've drawn a Power Pill and several sets of clothing for adults and children, including hats, shoes, and socks!"

"..."

Kang Li remained silent.

Thinking Kang Li was dissatisfied with the gift package, Dwen Dwen eagerly explained in a cute manner, "Miss, as long as you take the Power Pill, from then on, you will have the strength to pull up mountains in this world. As for the clothing, Miss, you can give them to your relatives to wear!"

Kang Li, "With this body of mine, if I take the Power Pill and exert extraordinary strength, are you sure I won't collapse and have my soul ascend to the Western Heaven?"

Dwen Dwen, "That won't happen! Miss, rest assured, System's products come with absolutely no side effects~"

The proud Kang Li went online, "I'll trust you this once."

Feeling trusted by the host felt so good, Dwen Dwen happily twirled around, "Miss, the clothes, hats, shoes, and socks you won all match the clothing of this era. You can just give them to your family without worrying about how to explain it~"

"Really?"

The original host had saved up over a hundred dollars in pocket money, which her family had given her over the years, and she had not spent much, so she kept on saving it as a dowry.

However, the original host seldom had the opportunity to go out alone. One reason was that her family worried about her; the other was that she herself was too timid to go to town or to the county city alone. Naturally, she had never bought anything for her family.

Now, if she suddenly starts giving out clothes, hats, shoes, and socks, with her family's love for her original body, won't some explanation be needed?

Dwen Dwen, “Miss, what are you thinking about? Did Dwen Dwen say something wrong?”

Kang Li, “It has nothing to do with you. Go and play. Remember, you don’t need to issue those so-called tasks to me; I have my own plans.”

“Really?”

Dwen Dwen felt a little sad.

Kang Li, “What do you think?”

Dwen Dwen had a good sense of danger, “I know what to do now, goodbye, Miss!” And just like that, he was gone.

With a thought, a pill appeared in Kang Li’s hand out of thin air.

Milky white, with a medicinal fragrance lingering around her nose. After a moment of contemplation, Kang Li didn’t hesitate any longer and swallowed it.

It melted upon entering her mouth.

Kang Li wasn’t surprised.

She thought that given the original body’s condition, getting winded just by walking a few steps, taking the Power Pill would do her no harm.

The reason?

Kang Li certainly didn’t want to be utterly useless.

Yes, not being able to carry things on her shoulder was one thing, but if she couldn’t even pick up objects, it would be downright embarrassing for Kang Li.

She was well aware that she was no longer the one steering the vast Kang Group, where everything in life was taken care of for her. Now, she was just a genuine country girl, a country girl who had been almost spoiled into uselessness by her family.

If she couldn’t even carry something weighing a few pounds, she would probably be subjected to gossip by the neighbors in the Imperial Capital, talking about her “lady’s body but maid’s fate.”

“Li Bao, get up and pack your things. I’m going to ride the bike and take you to the Commune to see Director Wu,” called Captain Kang from the living room to Kang Li’s room door, pushing the bicycle to the front yard.

“Old man, wait a minute.”

Chasing after Captain Kang to the yard, Kang's Mother quickly tied a thick and soft cushion to the back seat of the bike, "This way Li Bao will be more comfortable sitting."

"I almost forgot, you're more attentive," Captain Kang said somewhat ruefully.

"What could you possibly remember? You're always thinking about all sorts of things for the Team Leader, never paying attention to my Li Bao," Kang's Mother rolled her eyes at Captain Kang and said, "I'll go check on Li Bao's room. Wait here, and remember to ride slowly on the road. Don't jostle Li Bao."