Chapter 84: Cute Baby Weiwei is a Little Smartie

And she even brought over her own grandson to his house, claiming he would be a playmate for him and his younger siblings.

But what happened?

Grandma Cui's grandson ate eggs and white dumplings, while he could only watch; Grandma Cui's grandson drank his younger siblings' milk formula, which often left them crying with hunger...

He did not speak, but instead directly snatched the milk bottle from Grandma Cui's grandson's hands, and knocked him to the ground.

Seeing this, Grandma Cui glared at him with her eyes and picked up her grandson, cooing over him with terms of endearment.

Afterward, she showed him a smile, saying that her grandson had been frail since birth, which is why she couldn't help giving him some of his younger siblings' milk formula and made him egg custard and boiled eggs to eat... She said he was a good child, strong and robust, and that he should give in to her grandson a bit.

Fearing that he might run out to seek help from the uncles and aunts in the courtyard, Grandma Cui locked him inside the house, forbidding him to go out and play, until... until Granny Qi came to visit him and his siblings at their home. She saw them unkempt and skinny, not looking well at all, while Grandma Cui and her grandson had obviously gained more than a little weight. Granny Qi flew into a rage on the spot!

The bad caregiver was chased away, and he and his siblings were temporarily taken care of by Granny Qi. Then, not long ago, he overheard Granny Qi saying that Dad was going to find them a new stepmother to take care of him and his siblings.

When he found out about this, he was especially panicked and scared that the new stepmother would be a malicious woman, just like his older brothers and sisters had said, that no stepmother was good.

His younger siblings were also scared.

But... but Granny Qi had many heart-to-heart talks with them, saying that the stepmother their dad was finding for them was very good. Not wanting to be seen as bad children by Granny Qi, both he and his siblings acted obedient and accepted the arrival of the new stepmother.

It was also then that his sister quietly told him and his brother that they should test to see if the new stepmother was as good as Granny Qi said she was.

He knew that among the three of them, his sister might be the youngest, but she was quite shrewd.

He did not take a stance, yes, he did not take a stance at the time, and his sister took that as tacit approval of her plan.

And that led to the current situation.

“How can you say that, big brother?” Milk Bun Ming Han frowned disapprovingly at her brother Min Rui: “Isn’t Mom good to us, why would you agree to Sis causing trouble?”

Min Rui: “I haven’t agreed, I just said I wouldn’t take part.”

Vivi: “Second brother, I told you I’m not causing trouble!”

“Mom is a good mom, you know that.”

Ming Han scowled, a deep grievance etched on his face, making him look very unlovable.

“She seems nice now, but she’s a stepmother. What if she’s just pretending to be nice to us for these past few days? Just like we’re pretending to be good kids for her to see.”

Vivi had actually wanted to act out as a problem child from the first day she met the new stepmother, but she hadn’t expected the stepmother to be accompanied by family members to their home. Facing four adults, Vivi secretly signaled to her two brothers to alter the “battle plan” on the fly.

First, they would act like good kids to lull the new stepmother, and once her family had left, they would commence her original plan.

That's what Vivi thought. And just before dinner tonight, she learned that the stepmother's brother and sister-in-law would return to their work place early the next morning, which made her impatient. Before the TV was turned off, Vivi returned to her room, planning to discuss her original scheme thoroughly.

In order not to let the new stepmother detect anything amiss, once back in their room, she and her two older brothers climbed into their separate beds and pretended to go to sleep after undressing.

They successfully deceived the new stepmother!

Ming Han frowned: "I don't think the new stepmother is just pretending to be a good mom."
