

Widow 163

Chapter 163

"It's best if that's the case," Harold said. "Otherwise, the trash can at the door will be your final destination."

Crystal curled her lips. "You don't have the elegance to tolerate others."

Harold said, "No one will be able to tolerate hearing the story of a bunch of dogs using high-tech technology to save the world in the middle of the night."

Crystal said, "Anyway, when I watch TV, I think dogs are much more useful than humans."

"..." Harold said, "I think you're scolding me."

Crystal blinked her eyes. "No."

Harold was speechless.

The feeling became stronger.

instructions or take some documents for him to were flattered. Some of them who didn't know Crystal's identity thought that she was the president's clicked his tongue. Crystal was very busy. Seeing him coming over, she stuffed a

"Thank

here?"

with a glass of opportunity to make Larry looked at Harold and said to Crystal, "I guess he'll have to work overtime tonight." Crystal said, "Aren't you working together?

money.

the most important. position. There's a big order recently..." Speaking of this, Larry paused and said, "Forget it, you don't understand her empty pocket. "I'm so poor. Do I a party tonight, and many famous stars will go.

was not interested. Larry added, "Look at Harold. I think he'll not be able to finish working even until ten o'clock. How boring it is for you to stay looked at the crowd in line and felt that Larry was right. She nodded and said, "Then I'll go with to Harold's desk. He knocked on the table and