

Widow 168

Chapter 168

The headquarters attached great importance to this show, so they invited many people from the upper class to attend. This cheongsam was the highlight of the night, but now it was tattered and could not be worn at all. Everyone felt that the sky had collapsed.

"Why don't we find someone who knows embroidery to fix it..." Someone said, "The show is about to begin. No matter what, the publicity has been sent out."

"We can't fix it..." The assistant choked with sobs and said, "Master Bolton is the only heir of Bolton Clan. She is the only one who knows this kind of needlework. If someone else fixes it, it will only make it seem strange. But at this moment, Master Bolton is still abroad..."

Katie's face became even more ugly.

If she failed to perform during this show, the biggest possibility was that the brand would directly sacrifice her and let Marcus do it alone. She would completely lose the opportunity to expose herself in the show. This was a heavy blow to her career. After all, this show was the resources she had fought for a very long time, and Marcus had also helped her a lot. If she couldn't perform, it would also affect Marcus.

"Have you checked the surveillance video?" Larry said in a deep voice, "Who has been here?"

Someone quickly said, "There are too many people coming the past few days, but logically speaking, the clothes are in the safe. Without a password, it can't be opened, and only this piece of clothing. has been ruined..."
