

Widow 170

Chapter 170

Crystal was startled. She shrank behind Larry and said, "I suggested it because I'm confident... I've learned a little about embroidery."

"It's impossible!" Vera said, "Master Bolton is the only successor of the Bolton Clan's needlework. Others don't know how to do it. If you want to repair it with ordinary embroidery techniques, you will only make a fool of yourself and make others laugh at you!"

Someone echoed, "Yes... Master Bolton's work is very difficult to copy. Her needle technique is unique. If she doesn't fix it herself, it will look very strange."

"Who is this person? Mr. Reynes's new girlfriend? Don't express your opinion if you don't know anything, okay?"

"We're already very anxious. How could there be such a joke?"

Larry took a serious look at Crystal and asked, "Do you really know how to do it?"

Crystal said, "A little bit."

The corners of Larry's lips twitched.

Vera took advantage of the situation and said, "She's not sure at all. She's so young. Does she look like she knows how to embroider? Let's contact the backstage and adjust the order of the show..."
