

Widow 197

Chapter 197

"Maybe." Harold narrowed his eyes. "It likes this name very much."

The old doctor was speechless.

Crystal lectured Devil. Although Devil was still visibly irritable, it didn't show any offensive action at all. The old doctor and his assistants quickly went forward to check on Devil.

It wasn't until then that Crystal found out that Devil was not raised here, but in a nearby mountain under Harold's name.

About a month ago, a few hunters found out that there was a white tiger in the mountain, so they tried to hunt it down. Devil was seriously injured, and its injury would only be more serious if it was left in the wild. That was why Harold moved it to Flower Land.

The doctor checked and said, "The wound has basically healed. You can put it back in the mountain forest."

He wiped away the sweat on his forehead and hurried to stay away from Devil. After all, no one knew whether it would suddenly lose its temper and eat someone for fun.

hair and as expected, she saw a flesh-colored scar. It was extremely sinister, and even she felt pain when she looked at was tender, and its tongue was full of papillae. Even though it and said, "Just coax it will do. Don't spoil it all immediately growled in a low

Are you going to fight

slowly lay back down

"You've wasted half an hour. There's no next with Crystal. Crystal quickly turned around and waved her hand at Devil. "CoCo, I'm going to work. I'll play with in the cage, with have breakfast. Harold glanced at the business card Christy gave Crystal Fairby, she would know that Harold had to take a detour to drop her off. She nodded and said, success and won fame over the years. Although her studio was not as good as the White Group, noble. When the receptionists at the front desk saw Crystal's messy hairstyle, Crystal was confused.