

Widow 198

Chapter 198

Hearing this, the others also looked over. Someone sneered and said, "Another lunatic? Who doesn't know that our studio basically doesn't recruit newcomers? The last person who was recruited was a master of intangible cultural heritage."

"I don't know where you got this business card, but you said you were invited by Master Bolton? It's so funny. It's hard for those noble ladies to meet Master Bolton. Do you think she still has time to invite you?"

"That's enough. Don't waste our time here, okay?"

Crystal was speechless.

At this moment, Aletta came out of the elevator. A few receptionists at the front desk saw her and quickly nodded and greeted her. "Hello, Miss Sutton."

Crystal waved her hand. "Miss Sutton!"

"Miss Sutton!" The receptionist also said, "You came at the right time! I don't know if this woman is crazy or not. She said that Master Bolton invited her to join the studio in person. Doesn't she know what she's capable of?"

Aletta looked at Crystal. Before she could speak, the receptionist had already said cleverly, "I'll get the security guards to drive her out right away!"
