

Widow 354

Chapter 354

After saying that, Crystal smiled and said, "Forget it. There's definitely inflation in the Netherworld. What can I do with 1 dollar? Keep it for yourself."

Harold said, "There's inflation in the human world too. 1 dollar can only buy a lollipop."

Crystal looked at Harold pitifully. Give me my 1 dollar in advance. You can buy me a lollipop." Harold had lived for more than 20 years and had seen countless people who were greedy. In a big city like Fairby, there was no shortage of people who sought fame and profit. Even the so-called second and third generations from big aristocratic families would only be more greedy. He had never seen children who were easier to satisfy than Crystal. She was very happy when she was given some delicious food.

"There's no next time," Harold said. "You've eaten too much candy, so I won't care if your tooth hurts."

Crystal showed her little white teeth and said, "My teeth are very good, so I won't get cavities."

Harold led her to buy the candy. She didn't finish it until they arrived at Flower Land. She threw the stick into the trash can and clapped her hands. She turned around and saw Harold standing quietly in the dusk, looking at her.

outlined his broad shoulders and long legs. Under the dim sky, his eyebrows looked deeper. Under the burning

Are you worried about said, "I just think you look like this since he was young. Crystal, on the other hand, did not have any ulterior of me is good looking?"

Crystal said, "Everywhere, but..."

face with her fingertips and people had moles in this position. She pointed at the inner love in his previous life. That was why he was born with such a mole in this life. However, the mole didn't make him look distressed. Instead, it had an unspeakable coldness, which I was young,

"It must be your grandmother who believes in superstition again, right? I think this mole is

"Do you know physiognomy?"