

Widow 494

Chapter 494

An hour ago.

Bonnie sat in the yard in boredom. The servant carefully covered her leg with a blanket. Bonnie looked up at her with her yellowish eyes. The old servant sighed and said, "Old Madam, take it easy. Don't worry about these things anymore."

"What else can I do?" Bonnie's lips moved. She looked up at the sky above her and said, "My son and grandson are in the detention center. They are either going to be sentenced to death or a lifetime in prison... I don't have any hope anymore."

The old servant said, "The Young Master still respects you. Take it easy. You can enjoy your old age."
