“I was robbed and lost my phone the first day. I came back yesterday night so I haven’t been able to contact anyone” I lie to him and hope he will be fine with my answer.

“We contacted the company you visited, and they said you weren’t available. But they were satisfied with your visit. Sounds like everything else went well”

“Thank you!” She says and takes my hand.

I squeeze it before she sighs and walks out of my bathroom leaving me alone. again. I finish my wine and when the water starts to get cold I get out and dry myself before putting on my clothes.

Heading over to my bed I get under the covers and try to get some sleep.

The next day I was early as usual to work, taking my time and starting the day in front of my computer and going through everything I need to catch up on.

There was a box of chocolate on my desk when I came in today and I enjoy eating one to my coffee before I walk over to my door. I have some papers I have to place on my Secretary’s desk.

Opening the door I run right into Elijah and his arm comes around to steady me.

“Why the rush?” He asks and I get free from him and place the papers down on her desk before I turn around again.

“I was just going to give my Secretary some papers” walking back into my office he follows behind me.

He closes the door and grabs my arm and turns me around.

“I was worried about you!” He says and draws my body close to his and give me a hug.

I just stand there and don’t know what to do.
