Chapter 107: Level 7 Black Snake! (1)

Emulation refers to copying calligraphy and paintings from the original.

Breathing technique inheritance diagrams were essentially unique paintings.

However, they were rather complicated paintings. Not only did one have to draw the lifelike ancient beast, but most importantly, one had to copy every posture, movement, and rhythm of the small people around the beast.

This was the key to cultivating breathing techniques in the future.

Levi was unsure if he could cultivate the breathing technique inheritance diagrams he had copied.

Up until now, all the breathing techniques he had cultivated were authentic copies of the breathing technique inheritance diagrams.

He had never cultivated a counterfeit before.

Everyone had a common rule: one must cultivate authentic breathing techniques and not fake ones or be taught by others.

Breathing techniques were different from combat techniques. If one learned a combat technique wrongly, it would be nothing more than taking a detour and going in the opposite direction, not being able to unleash the power of the combat technique.

If he learned the wrong breathing technique, it would be a light punishment. Levi's attempt was bold. Collecting breathing techniques through conventional means was too slow.

In the future, whether it was the Black Snake Breathing Technique or other types of breathing techniques, he would need many shallow breathing techniques to break through the limit. Only then would he be able to continuously deduce and break through the limit, evolving it to the highest realm!

After he learned that the Earl of Silver Mountain was a breathing technique collector, Levi agreed to cooperate with him.

However, he made some changes to the terms of cooperation. From becoming the retainer of the Earl of Silver Mountain and working in the Silver Mountain Castle, Levi now only needed to deliver goods to the Earl every month.

Put bluntly, Levi would work with him but not under him.

In this life, Levi would never go to work!

Most importantly, Levi did not dare to cultivate in someone else's territory. After a long time, finding clues and flaws would be easy, especially when Levi was using the alias of Master Tyra.

The perception of a grand knight was not something ordinary people could compare to. Levi could sense that the Earl of Silver Mountain should be able to see through his strength, but he was discreet and did not care about this.

Levi began to copy. He wanted to finish it as soon as possible and return to cultivate.

As long as there were no problems with copying the breathing techniques, it would be much easier for Levi to cultivate in the future.

The Earl of Silver Mountain looked at Master Tyra's copy. It could be seen that the master's accuracy was very high. He should have a talent in this area.

It was hard to imagine that a rough blacksmith would be so good at copying. Perhaps this was talent.

Ultimately, the Earl of Silver Mountain sent a high-ranking knight-level retainer to guard the place. Then, he bid farewell to Master Tyra and went to work.

No matter what, success and cooperation with a Blacksmith Master would benefit the territory's development.

So many great nobles had approached Master Tyra to reach long-term cooperation. But he had all rejected them.

He was the only one who had reached long- term cooperation with Master Tyra.

It could be seen that the Blacksmith Master did not lack money and was only interested in the breathing technique inheritance diagrams.

This made the Earl of Silver Mountain feel quite proud. His hobby of collecting breathing technique inheritance diagrams was useful.

"Hmm? The Earl of Silver Mountain had finally left? I won't pretend anymore!" In the collection room, only the knight watched him from afar. He quickly replied on the proficiency panel and began the boring copying.

The copying took more than half a month!

Levi stayed in Icewind City to emulate the diagrams.

During the day, he would be thick-skinned and copied in Silver Mountain Castle.

Apart from copying, he would also take the initiative to give pointers to the Official Blacksmiths in Silver Mountain Castle.

With Levi's skill as a Blacksmith Master, they felt thoroughly enlightened under Levi's guidance. They were also very respectful towards Levi.

At night, Levi would return to his hotel in Icewind City and continue his cultivation.

The Earl of Silver Mountain was very pleased to see Master Tyra's careful guidance to the blacksmiths in his territory.

Therefore, he did not say anything about Levi's shamelessness. After all, copying would not cause him any losses.

Most of the time, the Earl of Silver Mountain was busy and had long forgotten about Master Tyra.

After all, he was an Earl, a big shot. Many things were happening in his territory and the circle of nobles. He was different from a small baron like Levi.

Just like that, Levi's Emulation lifestyle skill reached its limit.

In the end, Levi, with dark circles under his golden mask, looked at the extreme copy skill and revealed a confident and gratified smile.

"There's nothing that can't be done. If there's anything, you haven't done enough!"

[Emulation: Level 3 (Maximum), Special Effect: Fake or Genuine?]

[Fake or Genuine?: Your emulation skills have peaked. There is no difference between the fake and the original.]

There was a big difference in the work's material, texture, and color, but no noticeable differences in the content and lines. Levi felt that it should not affect his cultivation.

"Now I can copy it without worry."

"Next, I'll show you what copying and pasting manually means!"
