Chapter 138: Transcendent Endurance, Vast as the Great Lake! (2)

Even a grand knight would quickly exhaust his stamina in battle. Eventually, he would be killed.

Even the Fist of the Empire could only flee in the face of an army, let alone an ordinary grand knight.

This was the equivalent of how masses of ants could overwhelm an elephant.

Moreover, the difference in physical fitness between a grand knight and a mortal was only about ten times. Although mortals were weak, they were still relatively strong.

However, Levi could use it to his advantage after obtaining his Transcendent Endurance.

Even if he were surrounded by thousands of soldiers, as long as Levi's defense was not broken and he suffered no severe injuries, he would have enough stamina to fight.

Of course, it was only limited to killing one way out.

But defeating a whole troop single-handedly?

Levi reckoned that not even a legendary knight, let alone a grand knight, could achieve that.

After all, thousands of fully armed soldiers attacking one person with weapons would exhaust him to death.

Thousands of soldiers and horses avoiding a powerful enemy was a science that could only appear in literary works.

In other words, if he had the wizard's power, he could summon the wind and rain, thunder and lightning, and use those calamity-level spells to attack indiscriminately in a large area. Then, he should be able to destroy thousands of troops by himself. Yet he should not be an ordinary wizard.

If Levi's Frost Giant's Sigh had zero cooldown and unlimited firepower, he could barely fight against an army of thousands alone.

After all, he still had the Frost Giant Armor, Transcendent Defense, and Transcendent Endurance. This might be an advantage that some official wizards did not have.

Unfortunately, these were just illusions.

From what Levi knew, even a wizard could not cast spells with unlimited firepower.

Every spell needed to be prepared through meditation in advance, through the spell model, and then through the casting materials. It could only be released after consuming Mind Power and the power of Aether.

Even if the spell was fixed on an item like the Frost Giant Armor, which could be quickly charged with the precious [Aether Stone], it could only use the spell once a day.

However, Levi had Transcendent Endurance, so he did not do it for the sake of fighting against the entire world alone.

There were armies under his command in war and specializations in every field.

His enemies would always be the other grand knight, not the thousands of soldiers.

In short, with Transcendent Endurance and Transcendent Defense, Levi's proficiency panel had two items that had reached the Transcendent level.

Facing a grand knight of the same level, Levi was already in an invincible position.

"Very good. With my strength, I shouldn't be as passive as I was in the Tuva Empire when I went to the Evernight Kingdom."

Levi recalled how he had to flee in panic whenever he encountered the Fist of the Empire. He was in quite a sorry state.

The current him might not match the Fist of the Empire.

However, he still had the strength to fight, and saving his life was not a problem.

Unknowingly, Levi had already reached the peak of the knight.

All of this was thanks to Levi's 10% sweat and the 90% assistance from the proficiency panel.

He had to admit that without the help of the panel, even if Levi was the top genius in the world, he could not have attained such an achievement.

It was not that Levi's talent was not good, but that mortals had their limits.

If he wanted to break his limits, he had to be inhuman or cheat like the proficiency panel.

"The pleasure of increasing one's strength is intoxicating."

"Pack up and prepare to depart for the Evernight Kingdom."

After giving the butler and Sam some instructions, Levi took advantage of the darkness of the night while the people in his territory were still asleep.

He already carried two swords and a snuff bottle and brought Magic Shark.

Magic Shark carried a large luggage bag, and the master and servant left Black Water Valley.

Levi felt much more relaxed with Magic Shark's help on this long journey. Furthermore, with Magic Shark protecting him along the way, his cultivation was more at ease.

High up in the sky, amidst the blue sky and white clouds, Harris, the snow eagle, followed behind Levi.

Levi would better view the Evernight Kingdom's future with Harris.

As for Demon Mountain, Levi did not plan to bring him along. With his current strength, whether he brought along his two companions did not make much of a difference.

The main reason why Levi brought Magic Shark along was to increase his proficiency in the Seal of Hell in the Evernight Kingdom.

He let the grand knight-level Demon Mountain guard the house to prevent powerful enemies from invading and stealing his home.

The living dead summoned by the Seal of Hell could stay far away from their master, but they could not carry out complicated instructions. They could only carry out combat actions mechanically.

Levi did not expect Demon Mountain to do anything complicated. He just wanted Magic Shark to take care of his castle and territory.

If a mighty grand knight like the Magic Shark invaded, with the help of the three brothers and the Red Blood Cavalry, it should be enough to eliminate the enemy.

Now that the three brothers all had armor, their defense was strong. Even a peak knight was no match for the three brothers. With their brute force, even a Non-defensive grand knight would not feel good if slapped.

Moreover, the Red Blood Cavalry served as a trump card..
