Chapter 147: Book of Kungu, Level 5 Hell! (2)

Of course, in Snow Valley City, the scariest thing was not these thousands of Ordinary Snow Demons.

What was genuinely terrifying was the mutated Snow Demons in the city's center city, Bluefeather.

These Snow Demons were once the retainer knight of Duke Bluefeather and the soldiers of the Bluefeather Guards. After they turned into Snow Demons, they still wandered around the Bluefeather Castle and guarded the castle.

In the castle's depths, the former ruler of the city, the famous noble of the kingdom, Duke Bluefeather, who had the power of a top-tier grand knight, had also become a Snow Demon.

Some people had seen Duke Bluefeather sitting on the throne from afar. After turning into a Snow Demon, he seemed even stronger and more terrifying. His body was covered in an inextinguishable blue flame. He could even ride a skeletal warhorse and patrol the castle like a nightmare knight who had returned from hell!

Therefore, Bluefeather Castle became a forbidden area in this city. No one dared to go inside to investigate. Even grand knights did not dare to enter.

However, Kader's goal this time was not to exterminate the Snow Demons but to transfer a group of survivors.

"I hope that person will be fine. He must not go to the Bluefeather Castle," Knight Kader muttered in his heart.

Levi and Demon Shark wandered the streets.

He fully activated his Advanced Vibrosensing and was on full alert. Although he was powerful, this was Snow Demons' nest. He was not invincible, so he still had to pay attention to his safety.

In some houses, some survivors who were hiding poked their heads out. When they saw the knight coming, they ran out.

An older man walked out shakily. He was emaciated, and no one knew how he had survived in this city.

The older man asked expectantly, "Old master knight, are you here to save us?"

Did the Queen send you here?"

"A rescue team is coming. You have to wait here for them to come," Levi said.

He wanted to kill the Snow Demon, so he did not have the energy to save these people or the obligation to do so.

However, he could point out a way for these people. It was a piece of cake.

"Alright then...Thank you, knight. Be careful. The closer you get to the city center, the more Snow Demons there are. "

The older man warned before returning to his shelter.

For most ordinary people, the survival rate of staying in the city was much higher than leaving the city.

Levi sighed. If he could, he would have wanted to save these people.

Yet, he was powerless.

"However, killing Snow Demon can be considered saving lives," Levi thought.

Suddenly, Levi looked at his left hand. His Advanced Vibrosensing sensed something was lying in an ambush in the alley on the left.

At first, Levi thought it was a Snow Demon.

It was not until he went over that he found a person.

Levi had an impression of him. He seemed to be one of the level knights in the group that set off this time.

Seeing that the ambush had been discovered, this person charged at Levi without a word.

The long sword slashed down, but Magic Shark's body blocked it.

Kacha.

Magic Shark's giant black palms directly broke this inferior longsword.

Then, Magic Shark punched the man in the chest. He flew out and fell into a pile of junk.

Levi walked over and looked at the mid-level knight.

He asked, "Who sent you?"

The mid-level knight was dumbfounded.

After he heard from Knight Kader that the White Wolf had a pure mithril sword, he was blinded by greed.

He thought the White Wolf could kill Snow Demons because of the pure mithril sword.

Therefore, he followed him. Relying on his familiarity with Snow Valley City, he had hidden himself in advance, hoping to kill Levi by surprise and seize his sword.

Now, he deeply regretted it, and fear filled his heart.

In the next moment, his head was separated from his body, and he died with a grievance.

Levi skillfully touched the corpse. "Three Cores of the Undead."

"60 gold coins."

"Eh, what's this?"

Levi took out a thick booklet from the mid-level knight.

The book's cover had been torn off, so Levi could not see what it was. However, after flipping through some of the contents, the corners of his mouth could not help but curl up.

The manual was called the Book of Kungu.

From the introduction of the manual, Kungu was a pharmaceutical and medical master from hundreds of years ago in the Gaia Empire. He was an existence that even the knowledgeable people of the church paled in comparison.

Gaia Empire, a country far from the Emerald Kingdom.

It was unknown how this mid-level knight got this book.

The Book of Kungu recorded many basic medical knowledge, pharmaceutical knowledge, and many medicinal illustrations. There were also many secret pharmaceutical recipes.

These medicines were not the poisons on the Man-Faced Spider Breathing Technique inheritance diagram but natural medicines used for treatment. What shocked Levi the most was that this master cracked the secret recipes of many of the "sacred medicines" held by the church.

Levi took a cursory look. Hundreds of prescriptions were recorded in the Book of Kungu, with quite a few sacred medicines prescriptions. These prescriptions were suitable for many diseases, and they were all related to some of the common conditions of the people in this world.

In the end, the manual owner mentioned that he had no choice but to hide his medical and pharmaceutical knowledge due to the suppression of the Church of Earth.

The Church of Earth was the national religion of the Gaia Empire. They believed in the “Mother of Earth.” It was said that this god was inextricably linked to the “Heavenly Father..”
