

Wizard 1771

Chapter 1771: Star Alliance Tournament, Sword from the West arrives, Dragon emerges from hibernation, Electric Eel falls!

A Soul Imprint had put Leon in such a difficult position.

It was apparent that it could very well have been a marking personally set by the Molten Gold Wizard King. After all, the Electric Eel Wizard was his most beloved grandson.

Levi soon returned to the human realm.

Having killed the Electric Eel, the Letney Family would certainly not let matters rest.

Next, he would need to lay low in the Ancient Dragon Continent for a while.

Once he refined the oddity, he would go to Hell to avoid the storm.

Star Tower.

The Law Enforcement Department meeting.

The golden prince was currently convening the meeting.

"In one month, the Inspection Envoy from the Central Realm will arrive for an inspection at the Star Tower. Everyone, be sharp and elevate your awareness. As Wizards of the Law Enforcement Department, setting an example and abiding by the law is our basic duty!"

The wizards below responded,

"Understood!"

The golden prince mused to himself,

"The inspections from the Central Realm have been increasingly frequent lately."

Suddenly,

His expression changed, and a token appeared in his hand.

It was the soul token of his most valued son, the Electric Eel Wizard.

Crack.

The token shattered in his hand, turning to dust.

His normally untroubled heart was now stirred into tempestuous waves.

He had not felt such agitation in a long time.

"How could this happen... how could Ooi Vander die?"

He turned and left the conference room.

The Electric Eel Wizard was a primordial soul wizard that he and his family had cultivated at great cost, with a potential even greater than his own.

He had thought once his son achieved the primordial soul, there would be no need for his own concerns.

Little did he expect to face the tragedy of the older generation mourning the younger!

"Let's report this matter to my father first."

Central Realm.

In a wizard tower within a secluded valley,

The Molten Gold Wizard King was playing chess with an elderly man in a white robe and white hair, appearing quite leisurely.

"Elder, though the Schubert Family is just a high-level wizard organization, they are still an important part of our interests. If we can't give them a proper explanation, I fear it will chill the hearts of the other affiliated families... This matter will still require your intervention."

The kind-faced elderly man chuckled,

"Molten Gold, I understand what you mean, but we old folks can't easily leave the Center, and it's strictly forbidden for us to descend to partake in such affairs. Do you know how many people are watching our every move?"

The Molten Gold Wizard King replied,

"Elder, I heard that recently the Black Abyss Walker meddled in the affairs of the human realm and claimed a New World..."

With a cold snort from the elderly man, the Wizard King shivered, and quickly added,

"Elder, my words were thoughtless, please pay it no heed."

The old man said,

"The Black Abyss matter was agreed upon by the Frost Witch and several Legendary Wizards... otherwise, what right does he have to be an exception? You think I'd bother a Legendary Wizard with your trivial matter?"

The Molten Gold Wizard King fell silent, then said,

"I understand. While the Bright Moon Artifact might not catch your eye, it's still a gesture of my sincerity... I shall take my leave, Elder."

Not long after the Molten Gold Wizard King left, he received a message from his son.

Upon seeing it, his expression stiffened, and then rage spread across his face.

"It's him again! He attacked the Schubert Family last time, and now he dares to lay a hand on my grandson!"

In the scene,

The Blood Flame Giant's ferocity shook the heavens... Such a scene, strikingly reminiscent.

He didn't even need the "Mirror of the Past" to trace back; he knew it was the work of that murderer!

He calmed himself and then turned, heading towards the house of that senior.

This matter, absolutely could not be easily dismissed!

Several days later.

Ancient Banyan Fairyland.

After the Electric Eel Wizard's death, the Wild Electric Dragon Eel and the contract dissipated.

With the overpowering might of Dragon's Might, Levi easily tamed this sub-dragon of the thunderbolt system.

And so, a new member joined the Dragon Palace, and all warmly welcomed it.

After encountering unique sub-dragons like the Four-eyed Shrimp Dragon, the electric eel actually seemed quite normal.

In this way. Another had joined the ranks of the sixth-level Generals of the Dragon Palace.

Snake King Dragon, Black Lotus Beast, Bloodsucking Demon Dragon, Four-eyed Shrimp Dragon, Wild Electric Dragon Eel... and other creatures such as the non-sub-dragon Green Fire Crow, Dragon Ant, and Red Flame Mink.

The spoils of war from the Electric Eel Wizard were also tallied up.

As for Aether Stones, there were not as many as Levi had imagined, about 3 billion. Now Levi's Aether Stone reserves reached 18 billion, closely approaching 20 billion.

With the Fire Dragon Shop and a pharmacy to cover expenses,

This money could all be hoarded for one thing: to splurge at the auction!

Also among them was the Morning Star-level oddity "Flame King's Arm".

"Not bad, the head of an Eight-Armed Demon Witch actually exchanged for two Truth Oddities."

Next, Levi refined the "Cold Mountain Crow".

The "Flame King's Arm", however, was reserved for the Holy Infant to refine.

The diligent Holy Infant certainly deserved the reward of a Morning Star-level oddity.

Additionally,

There were three sixth-ring Magical Artifacts, and one Sixth-level Treasure.

The three artifacts were a Sixth-Ring Masterpiece "Golden Feather Robe", an Ordinary Sixth-ring "Golden Thunder Needle", and a Sixth-Ring Masterpiece "Golden King Spear".

An Ordinary wizard would be lucky to have one Sixth-Ring Masterpiece, but the Electric Eel Wizard had two.

Nevertheless, even he did not possess any top-grade Sixth-Ring artifacts. Such top-grade rarity spoke for itself.

Among them, the "Golden King Spear" was the Electric Eel Wizard's soul artifact.

This was a very ornate golden spear, crafted entirely from the rare thunder element metal "Thunder Melt True Gold", yet before it saw action and proved its might, the Electric Eel Wizard was slain by Levi.

The "Golden Feather Robe" was also quite good, nearly causing Levi's assassination plan to fail.

Like the "Fiery Flame Iron Armor" oddity belonging to the Holy Infant, this robe would automatically protect its wearer in face of danger.

Now that it had been sliced open by Levi, the problem was minor; after future repairs and modifications, it could still be used.

Considering the Holy Infant's susceptibility to assassination, Levi decided to let the Holy Infant use it, adding an extra layer of protection.

Another treasure, however, surprised Levi.

He saw in his hand an ancient longbow surrounded by circulating currents of air.

"Wind Chasing Bow, created by Doster Collin... To think this treasure was made by the owner of the Wind Disaster Pearl, this person is no simple matter, leaving behind such a legacy of rare treasures."

The Wind Chasing Bow was immensely powerful; it required no arrows, only to be drawn, and it would automatically condense Wind Element Arrows!

If fully drawn, the power of a single arrow could pierce through the defensive field of a Six Ring Senior Wizard.

Even a Sixth Circle Perfection Wizard wouldn't dare to withstand it head-on.

The effective range was up to five hundred miles, comparable to the Flying Secret Sword Flow.

"A fine bow and arrow, it can make up for my lack of techniques."

Although Secret Sword had great power, it required a build-up of momentum; otherwise, it was just ordinary.

"I also have max-level archery skills, a shot that never misses; typically, this bow is made for me... It logically belongs to me."

Chapter 1772: Brilliant Golden Dragon Level 6 Middle Stage, obtained the forbidden technique Death Finger!

Eight-Armed Demon Witch, deceased.

Lived for over a thousand years.

Above the relic ruins.

Levi and his duplicate each took a medicine, then sat down to meditate and regulate their breath.

Four Spiritual Weapons and the Snake King Dragon served as their protectors.

A Sixth Ring Senior teaming up with two ordinary Sixth-Circle wizards had killed a Sixth Circle Perfection, and that one was a top-level talent at that. Such an achievement was exceedingly rare in the Wizard World.

This meant that once Levi merged his three bodies, he could almost rove unhindered below the seventh circle.

The path of body-refining wizards was generally considered weaker, but not those who cultivated the "Eight-Armed Ancient God Body Refining Technique."

Ancient Banyan Fairyland.

The Mark of Truth of the Eight-Armed Demon Witch dissipated into the cosmos.

Levi asked Leon to turn the memories of the Eight-Armed Demon Witch and Moore into a disk.

Among a pile of scattered flesh at the ruins, Levi found the heavily cracked skull of the Eight-Armed Demon Witch.

As the Eight-Armed Demon Witch passed away, the effects of spells dissipated, and the body-refining runes began to vanish, leaving the skull far less rigid than before.

This was the fundamental difference between body-refining wizards and the path of knights.

On the surface, it seemed focused on "body refinement", but in fact, it primarily cultivated "spiritual force".

Once dead, the spiritual force and soul dissolved.

Those bodies that relied on body-refining runes to become powerful would revert to their original forms.

However, had a knight of this level died, their corpse, like that of a sixth-level transcendent creature, could maintain its extraordinary traits for a long time, even suitable for weapon refinement.

Of course, Levi would not put such a perverse idea into practice.

After a short rest.

The Snake King Dragon was sent back to the Ancient Banyan Fairyland, and Levi ordered his four Spiritual Weapons to clean up the battlefield.

Some of the buildings at these ancient ruins were made of good materials. Despite the terrible aftermath of a sixth-level battle, they were only knocked down, not shattered.

They could be used to refurbish the Emperor's Palace.

Meanwhile.

The doors previously guarded by two Stone Man Puppets remained intact.

Danger Perception warned Levi.

Crossing this door and delving deeper posed a significant threat to Levi.

Holy Infant said,

"Should we continue onward?"

Levi shook his head.

"I'll have the Spiritual Weapons scout around first to see if they can find any Achilles Fire Ore. If not, we'll leave. This place is no simple matter; only the congress has the strength to take it."

Besides combat, Spiritual Weapons made excellent scouts. Their loss mattered little, as there was no real damage.

With a flick of his finger, Levi made the four Spiritual Weapons shrink and transform into four slender Rock Snakes.

"Go!"

The four Rock Snakes immediately slipped through the doors and went down deeper.

The surroundings were pitch black, and there were some remnants of skeletons from alien races on the ground.

These aliens seemed roughly humanoid in shape but were short and stout, resembling dwarves.

However, their skulls were like those of canines, complete with sharp canine teeth.

Wherever the Rock Snakes passed, they absorbed any suspect storage items along the way into their bellies.

After an unknown amount of time.

The four Rock Snakes arrived at an entrance to an underground palace, and through their perspective, Levi witnessed a shocking scene.

In the palace square.

Massive stone puppets, each a hundred metres tall, were staged.

These Stone Men, clutching swords, spears, and halberds, were clad in scale armor assembled from Black Stone, their faces vividly life-like.

Levi's expression hardened.

All were stone puppets above rank five, and he saw hundreds at a glance.

Besides that, there were eighteen two-hundred-meter-tall Stone Men clad in Bronze Scale Armor.

Each one's aura was level 6, fully comparable to the two that had guarded the gate and had just been retracted by the Holy Infant.

In the midst of this stone army were four silver-glowing puppets, three hundred meters tall and still looking brand new despite the ages, each clad in silver scale armor.

Clearly, these were Level 7 puppets.

At the heart of the palace, there was a kilometre-long and about three hundred meters wide rectangular building, shaped like a Stone Coffin.

Inside it, a fearsome aura reached Levi, evoking profound terror.

"I've heard that some alien race powerhouses, when buried, like to use powerful puppets to guard their tombs and protect their tribe's fortune. With such grandeur, the Stone Coffin likely contains a dead Level 8 powerhouse... or, perhaps, he is not dead, merely in a deep slumber."

Levi was relieved that the Stone Coffin was still far away; otherwise, awakening them could cause an onslaught of countless puppets, forcing him and the Eight-Armed Demon Witch to flee in complete disarray.

Levi also saw some Achilles Fire Ore scattered around the Stone Coffin, glowing faintly and tantalizing to the eyes.

Above, there was something resembling a chandelier.

The area around it was blazing hot, distorting the air.

It was partially shattered, and the Achilles Fire Ore on the ground had fallen from the chandelier above.

"An absolute treasure, I must find a way to acquire this chandelier. The owner of this tomb truly indulged, using such precious Level 6 materials for a chandelier — a complete waste!"

Levi planned in his mind.

First and foremost, storming the underground palace directly was out of the question.

In the palace square, he saw many corpses of what he tentatively called "Dog-headed Dwarves" from alien races.

Among them were not a few powerful rank five and even rank six corpses.

He speculated.

A Level 8 powerhouse had turned a medium-sized plane from the Land of Darkness into his resting place, constructed a grand underground palace, and used formidable Stone Man Puppets to guard this place.

The fog outside was either naturally formed or set by this powerhouse using great skill.

Chapter 1773: Brilliant Golden Dragon Level 6 Middle Stage, obtained the forbidden technique Death Finger!

The goal was to further protect their own tombs.

If Levi guessed right, there were likely some treasures inside the Stone Coffin that were rare in the outside world, all burial objects.

Later, the "Dog-headed Dwarf" alien race accidentally discovered this plane, which was used as a tomb.

They excavated resources here, delved underground, and eventually found the exterior relics.

A part of the Dog-headed Dwarfs passed through the guards and entered deeper into the underground palace, finding the rare Achilles Fire Ore chandeliers, and immediately went to harvest them.

The result was the outbreak of a horrific war, with the Dog-headed Dwarfs' army meeting their demise. Perhaps a small number escaped the underground palace, but they were also dealt with by the outside guards.

Until the plane convergence, the Mist Continent emerged, discovered by Moore who passed by. He explored it and found the harvested Achilles Fire Ore.

Moore was an agent of the Eight-Armed Demon Witch, and he used the ore of this place to bait Master Fire Dragon.

In the end, all of this occurred!

"It seems, I dare not claim the rest... but this chandelier, Assemble should be mine!"

Levi immediately had the Holy Infant and Gandaph leave the underground, keeping away from Mist Continent, and he set up the Dead Ash Dragon Palace outside the mine.

Then he entered the relic alone.

At the same time, he ordered the four Rock Snakes on that side to suddenly take action!

Boom!

Three of the Rock Snakes, in an instant, changed into three huge turtles, one of which turned into a Stone Eagle.

The giant turtles shielded the Stone Eagle in the center like shields!

The Stone Eagle shattered the void and reached for the chandelier.

Rumble!

The Stone Man Puppets below began to move, accompanied by the clanging of metal as the lights of swords, spears, and halberds aimed to strike down the three giant turtles!

Boom!

The giant turtles didn't hold out for long before shattering, but the Stone Eagle took this opportunity to grab the chandelier, which wasn't stable to begin with, along with a piece of the ceiling, and swiftly flew out!

In an instant.

Levi felt a powerful presence awakening in the underground palace.

A Silver-armored Puppet holding a bow and arrow opened its eyes.

It radiated the murderous air of an ancient General, as if it were an archer god, and its sharp gaze followed the fleeing Stone Eagle!

In a flash, the bow was drawn full circle.

The next moment, the arrow flew like a shooting star!

Whoosh!

A silver streak, at a terrifying speed, turned the space it passed through into debris and chaos!

Bang!

The Stone Eagle used the hard chandelier to defend itself!

Crack!

Along with the sound of the explosion.

The chandelier, carved of Achilles Fire Ore, erupted into pieces.

The Stone Eagle was thrown backward, claws only holding a part of the chandelier. It transformed into a Stone Lizard, entered a tunnel, and vanished.

The leftover force of the silver light penetrated the entire underground relic, passing by Levi, then through the mine, dissipating the ever-present fog, clearing the clouds, shooting into the Land of Darkness before finally disappearing... the might of this one arrow was evident!

Levi finally caught the crumbling Stone Eagle; he sent the mining lamp into the Ancient Banyan Fairyland, then turned to ash himself, to be reborn in the divine palace of the outside world.

"Let's go!"

Levi rode a Heavenly Horse, traveling through the void, leaving Mist Continent.

Above the Ocean, the Holy Infant and Gandaph were already waiting there.

Levi said,

"Gandaph, you can go back to Midland, get started on refining Pharmacy as soon as you can."

Gandaph said,

"Alright, this is goodbye then!"

He turned into a light and disappeared into the sky.

The Holy Infant said,

"I'm going back to the Endless Sea too. I'm almost at the sixth-circle with my crafting talismans, so I will likely focus on that from now on."

Levi said,

"Keep it up, don't push yourself too hard. Those Soul Artifacts I gave you, just refine them when you have free time; I don't rely much on Soul Artifacts anyway."

The Holy Infant nodded his head, turned around, and left.

Levi watched the rolling fog of the continent and the slowly healing crystal wall that had been pierced by the silver light.

"So terrifying, it was just a Level 7 Puppet... I wonder how powerful the owner of that tomb was. But in front of the congress, it wouldn't be able to cause much trouble."

That said, it was necessary for the Ancient Dragon Continent to remain on alert.

As time passed, stronger planes were being fused together. For the Ancient Dragon Continent in the human realm, it was both a crisis and an opportunity.

Endless Sea.

Office of the Law Enforcement Department.

The Electric Eel Wizard, taking a break from his cultivation, came to the window to look out.

"That Eight-Armed Demon Witch, I don't know if he has made his move yet; no word has come so far."

As the client, he didn't know how the Eight-Armed Demon Witch was carrying out the assassination task.

The other party had only promised, that within a month, they would bring back the head of Master Fire Dragon; and if it went beyond the deadline, it would mean failure of the mission. The Electric Eel Wizard could then look for someone else.

Somewhere in Endless Sea.

In the black market.

The Red Whale Ancestor Witch had just finished participating in an underground auction and had sold some recently acquired loot for a profit of 100 million Aether Stones, seeming to be in a good mood.

Suddenly, his Wizard Tool received a message—it was from the City Lord.

He went to a deserted place, where the City Lord's projection appeared, his voice cold,

"What's happened, Glatios just died!"

The Red Whale Ancestor Witch's face showed shock.

"What? He's dead! That's impossible. He told me a few days ago he was going to carry out an assassination task, and after that, he would lay low. This..."

The City Lord asked,

"Whom was he going to assassinate?"

The Red Whale replied,

"Master Fire Dragon."

The City Lord fell silent for a moment, then spoke with a hint of anger,

"Useless! To fail in assassinating a sixth-circle ordinary wizard and even lose his own life... How many times have I said it? Lesser involvement in such matters is better; there would eventually be a day when you capsize in the gutter. We're all preparing for the Blood Battle right now, the organization is in need of people. The loss of a single primordial soul wizard is a tremendous loss!"

Chapter 1774: Brilliant Golden Dragon Level 6 Middle Stage, obtained the forbidden technique Death Finger!

The Red Whale Ancestral Wizard hesitated,

"Lord, in that case, should we continue the mission to capture the Golden Dominator?"

According to his wishes, it might be best to let this matter slide. He had been too confident before. To complete this task, the difficulty was too high!

With the death of the Eight-Armed Demon Witch, he was lacking assistants, and this seemed like a good opportunity to extricate himself.

The City Lord said,

"Why not continue? You, a seven-circle wizard, can't deal with the Golden Dominator?"

In his view, that so-called Master Fire Dragon wasn't worth studying at all. Such figures were a dime a dozen in the history of the Wizard World.

But the Golden Dominator was different. He held secrets the City Lord yearned to control, stirring his curiosity.

The Red Whale Ancestral Wizard was exasperated and reluctantly said,

"Lord, could you assign me another seven-circle wizard as an assistant?"

The City Lord said indifferently,

"If I had that many seven-circle wizards, would I need you? Solve it yourself."

The projection closed, and the Red Whale Ancestral Wizard cursed the Eight-Armed Demon Witch inwardly.

"I warned him not to complicate things, to 'steer carefully for a long voyage'... Alas, these body-refining wizards, all so single-minded, deserve to be nearly extinct."

Emperor's Palace.

Seeing Levi return safe and sound, Hundred Flowers breathed a sigh of relief. She threw herself on Levi and asked,

"How was it? Was the process dangerous?"

Levi said,

"Not bad, pretty much as we expected. Someone tried to frame Master Fire Dragon. That person was the Eight-Armed Demon Witch."

Hundred Flowers frowned.

"The Eight-Armed Demon Witch? Why would he target Master Fire Dragon? That doesn't make sense. Could it be because of the incident at Triss's banquet? Then why isn't he going after me?"

Levi replied,

"Maybe he's worried he can't beat you?"

Hundred Flowers giggled and kissed Levi, saying,

"You sure have a way with words."

Levi said,

"Let's wait and see. I really want to find out who's scheming against Master Fire Dragon."

He had suspects in mind—first was the Mysterious Organization, and second, the Electric Eel Wizard and the Schubert Family.

Once the disk was made, Levi would see if he could retrieve some clues.

Levi said,

"Regardless, this trip was quite fruitful."

He took out a chunk of chandelier fragment that radiated a fierce red glow, about one meter in diameter.

Levi boasted,

"This ore is worth at least 500 million! It can be used to refine twenty Sixth-Ring Magical Artifacts without a problem, and we'll make a killing."

Of course, Wizard Tools refined from such rare ores were primarily for personal use.

Hundred Flowers' eyes shone with delight as she hugged Levi and said,

"That's wonderful! Such good news... should we celebrate?"

Several days later.

After celebrating.

Levi lay in bed reading the newspaper.

[Nora Daily: Today, a medium-sized continent has emerged in the outer sea region of the human realm. The congress has tentatively named it Mist Continent. A battle group led by an eighth-circle wizard has already set out to explore and test the Mist Continent and take over the subsequent development work.]

A few days later.

More news came in the newspaper.

[Urgent Notice: The danger level of Mist Continent is level 8. A level 8 Alien Race warrior awoke from its slumber, leading an army of Stone Man Puppets and clashed with the pioneering wizard battle group.]

The alien race, riding a rare treasure coffin, was gravely injured and fled to the Land of Darkness. The congress hereby reminds all wizards to report any clues about alien races in a timely manner to avoid missing the opportunity, preventing loss of life and property.]

Levi furrowed his brows.

"The congress has been careless, allowing the alien race to escape. I was hoping the congress could completely eliminate this threat."

Levi had just stolen the chandelier from this powerful being's tomb and felt a bit guilty.

But then again, level 8 was right below the mightiest realm of Grand Wizard. Such powerhouses, even if defeated, should have no problem escaping when playing their last card.

The congress was just a vast state apparatus, not omnipotent.

Especially since warriors above level 6 could freely roam the Land of Darkness; all they had to do was dive in there, and even gods couldn't bring them back.

This was why the Dark Pirates ran rampant.

Ancient Banyan Fairyland.

By the Small Stone Pond.

The spoils of war from the Eight-Armed Demon Witch and Moore Wizard had been tallied.

First was Moore, who only had thirty million worth of Aether Stone on him, making Levi exclaim at his poverty.

Then, there was a Soul Artifact, named [Hallowmas Lamp], similar to Levi's [Book of the Undead]; it could seal undead creatures within for use in combat.

But the sealing capacity was far less than [Book of the Undead], unbelievably, the Sixth-Ring Soul Artifact could only seal three thousand undead.

According to the Book of the Undead, after reaching sixth-circle, it should be able to seal ten thousand undead.

Moreover, the control over the undead by the Hallowmas Lamp wasn't as good as the Book of the Undead.

Besides this,

Moore Wizard also had two primordial soul spells.

The first was [Advanced Summon].

This spell was similar to [Summon Hell Lord], but it was not as precise. The latter can only summon Undead of Hell, while the former might even accidentally bring forth a cunning and dangerous Archdevil of Hell, so its quality was merely Ordinary.

The second spell was intriguing, named [Death Finger].

This spell was said to be created by a renowned Crazy Lich and quickly spread throughout the Wizard World once it came into existence.

Its quality was not Ordinary, not excellent, but... top-grade!

[Death Finger: Uses negative energy (Death) to launch an attack that bypasses physical defense and pierces the enemy. After being hit by the attack, there is a small chance that the enemy will be instantly killed by a mysterious force beyond the theoretical realm of the Wizard World! Factors such as physique, spiritual force, and willpower make one more susceptible to the Death special effect...]

Chapter 1775: Brilliant Golden Dragon Level 6 Middle Stage, obtained the forbidden technique Death Finger!

Until now, the wizarding world had yet to figure out why the "Death Finger" spell could result in instant death. Perhaps some powerful individuals had figured it out, but chose not to publicize their findings.

The emergence of lichens was a relatively recent event, and this spell was even more so. Perhaps, after some time, the principle behind it would be thoroughly researched.

The common understanding was that the Death Finger was neither a physical attack nor a mental attack, but some sort of rule-based attack. The wizard who invented this spell had unintentionally mastered this rule but knew the phenomenon without understanding the underlying principle. And this rule might be related to the legendary Underworld.

Generally speaking, powers involving the rule level were extremely profound, unreachable even by primordial soul wizards. Thus, the Death Finger was an anomaly.

In fact, from the current practical effects observed, the combat effectiveness of the Death Finger was not as good as imagined.

Compared with the difficulty of learning it and the resources required, the cost-effectiveness was not high.

When used against level six experts, its success rate was probably only one percent. As for casting beyond one's level, no successful cases have been discovered to date, so it can be considered ineffective.

This spell reminded Levi of his own Trembling Ring and Snake Eye Ring, whose spells also had an extremely low probability of being triggered.

Until now, the number of successful casts could be counted on one hand. Levi had already forgotten.

After advancing to primordial soul, these two rings had lost their function and were now collecting dust in fairyland.

"Regardless, this spell is still worth learning."

From what Levi had observed about Moore Wizard's forms, he hadn't learned the spell, and now it was Levi's gain.

"I wonder how Moore came by this spell."

As far as Levi knew, this spell had already been designated a forbidden technique by the congress, not for sale on public channels and not to be included in instructional courses.

The reason was simple: although the success rate of this spell was very small, the effects were so abnormal that it could easily cause chaos in the Wizard World.

The most valuable thing on Moore Wizard was this "Death Finger"; the rest was not worth mentioning.

From the Eight-Armed Demon Witch's side, there were plenty of good things, truly fitting of a Six-Circle Perfect Wizard.

First, nearly half a billion in Tai Stone Cash, which was almost half of what Levi, the hoarder, had.

"Other than that time with Roman, I haven't fought such a wealthy battle in my life."

With that, Levi's reserve of Tai Stone had now reached a total of 1.5 billion.

Besides the Tai Stones, there were ten pebbles emitting a faint glow, roughly the same size.

"Not bad, someone finally gave me soul explosion stones."

These were precious Soul Stones, currently valued on the market at 5 million Tai Stones each, but no primordial soul wizard would do such a trade.

After refining and consuming a Soul Stone, one could directly enhance some spiritual force, reducing the time of arduous cultivation.

For a primordial soul wizard, one stone could increase about three to five points of spiritual force. With ten stones, that amounted to several dozen points!

Even for Levi, it could reduce five to six years of arduous cultivation. For other ordinary primordial souls, that was a starting point of ten, twenty years.

Of course, these stones were exceedingly rare, usually used for surging through small realms.

The Demon Witch had very few Wizard Tools on his body, possibly due to being a body-refining wizard like Levi, and he hadn't set any Soul Artifacts either.

Levi found only a pair of broken steel rings among the Wizard Tools. After some research, he beamed with joy.

"It's actually a broken Sixth-Ring Top-Grade Wizard Tool, what a win."

This Wizard Tool, named the Falling Star Ring, was forged from the rare Star-fallen Iron.

One Ring weighed 240,000 pounds, which was twice the weight of Levi's Eight Desolate Halberd.

The function of this Wizard Tool was simple: once worn on the wrist, it could significantly amplify strength and lethal power.

A punch thrown with it was like a falling star, shattering the heavens and splitting the earth!

It was extremely suitable for strength-type users like Levi and Gandaph, a Sixth Ring Wizard Tool.

"Not bad, once the Holy Infant reaches the Sixth Level of Talisman Making and weapon refinement technology further advances, I'll have him repair it quickly. If I can decode its technology and replicate a pair for Gandaph, that would be even better."

If this Falling Star Ring had been intact, it would have been a priceless treasure to any body-refining wizard, easily worth two to three hundred million.

Moreover, the Eight-Armed Demon Witch also had a piece of valuable Achilles Fire Ore.

This person's primordial soul spells were few and far between, all of them mediocre.

The fundamental cultivation of a body-refining wizard lay in the body tempering technique itself, with abilities derived from combinations of body-refining runes.

Thus, unlike spell wizards, they did not need to learn additional spells.

After taking inventory, Levi took out the spell model of "Death Finger" and began to delve into and understand it deeply.

One month later.

Endless Sea.

Schubert Family.

Master Qilute and others were anxiously waiting in the council hall.

Matro said,

"What's going on? Didn't the Electric Eel Wizard say there would be an accident at the Fire Dragon Shop? I see Master Fire Dragon is still alive and well."

Piero said,

"Yeah, they told us to seize the opportunity, but what opportunity is there? I can't see any."

Over the years,

The Schubert Family had grown increasingly dissatisfied with the Letney Family.

They had been working like horses and involved in quite a few illegal dealings, handing over considerable profits.

Chapter 1776: Brilliant Golden Dragon Level 6 Middle Stage, obtained the forbidden technique Death Finger!

As a result, the Letney Family failed to fulfill a single promise.

Damont's death remained a mystery, and now, it seemed that the Electric Eel Wizard had broken his word as well.

Suddenly,

Qilute's communicator rang. The projection of the Electric Eel Wizard appeared; he said,

"Just hold off on taking action against the Fire Dragon Shop for now; wait for my message."

After these abrupt comments, he went offline.

Qilute said,

"Heh, he used to mock us for inefficiency, and now that he's taken matters into his own hands, what's the outcome? Isn't it the same?"

The other two primordial souls sighed in frustration, rendered speechless.

Law Enforcement Department.

The Electric Eel Wizard was lost in thought.

With doors and windows sealed, a woman dressed in exotic attire, the epitome of a dragon descendant witch with dragon's horns and a graceful figure, walked in.

She licked her lips and, stretching out her long, shapely legs clad in black silk, said enticingly,

"Lord, come on."

The Electric Eel Wizard shot her a glance and said indifferently,

"Get out!"

The dragon descendant witch changed back to her original form, revealing herself to be the capable female secretary.

"Don't be angry; I'll leave if you want me to."

She smiled awkwardly, put on her wizard robe, and left the office.

"How nice, I get to leave work early... He's not doing well himself, why take it out on others?"

Office.

The Electric Eel Wizard massaged his forehead and rubbed around his eye sockets, murmuring to himself,

"Have I been cursed by some influential figure from my family's rivals recently? Why is nothing going right?"

As the scion of a great family, he had encountered more setbacks in the past two years than in hundreds of years of his earlier life.

But.

The Electric Eel Wizard was a stubborn man, and the more he failed, the more setbacks he encountered, the more they fueled his fighting spirit... because that made him look cool.

Starting now, he decided to seriously assess Master Fire Dragon as an enemy.

A moment later,

The Electric Eel Wizard regrouped and, with a smile, said,

"Time is on my side; we'll see."

...

Cultivation knows no time.

Time passed.

In the blink of an eye, four years had gone by.

The year of Nora 12.

Over the past four years, Levi dedicated himself to researching and learning the spell "Death Finger," deepening his understanding of the complexity of top-grade spells.

But with the proficiency panel to aid him, he successfully mastered the basics and cultivated it to level 10.

Thus, he possessed his fifth primordial soul spell and branded the "Death True Trace" into his wizard form(s).

The level 10 "Death Finger" could only be cast on middle-level wizards; it wouldn't be effective against Sixth-Circle Wizards until cultivated to level 14.

Meanwhile,

Boosted by Death Soul Date, Soul Stone, Soul Artifact, and other factors, his spiritual force had entered a relatively rapid growth stage.

Now, his spiritual force had reached 3433 points.

At this rate, he should be able to advance to the Sixth Circle Perfection realm within two hundred years, at which point he would be over six hundred years old.

Then, before turning seven hundred, he would advance to the seventh circle. The pace was perfect.

Compared to this, Gandaph and the Holy Infant were progressing somewhat slower. Of course, they were still far ahead of ordinary primordial souls.

In addition, on the path of knights, Levi achieved a minor breakthrough. He opened his panel.

Levi

Golden Brilliance Dragon Breath Technique: eighteenth-tier (200/5000000), Special Effect: Golden Brilliance Dragon Body·Mythical (Level 6 Middle Stage)...

Indeed, his earliest breakthrough, the Golden Brilliance Dragon Breath Technique, had successfully advanced to the Level 6 Middle Stage realm.

Interestingly enough, although it was the knight that had first made a breakthrough, it was ultimately the wizard form that reached the senior realm of the sixth-circle first.

Levi realized that after Knight Level 6, the speed of cultivation no longer held a clear advantage over wizards.

Actually, upon closer consideration, it made sense; reaching the same growth to level 6, the speed of a knight in the early stages was much faster than that of the Blood Tribulation Master himself.

Furthermore, knights, being akin to ordinary wizards, also had the advantage of longevity.

If their growth remained as rapid and their power as strong, it would clearly not align with the balance of the Multidimensional Plane.

Every path has its strengths and limitations.

"However, I have the proficiency panel, which means the impact isn't so obvious... For ordinary knights, it might be different."

After rank five, the development of the Knights encountered a bottleneck.

Ultimately, it all came down to a lack of the accumulation of years.

After level 6,

Levi's various elemental and spell-like abilities, such as "Golden Rock Armor", "Turtle Shell Barrier", "Pupil of Lamp", and "Golden Gravity", all saw slight increases in power.

The range within which he could mobilize the Power of Heaven and Earth Elements through his bloodline power also expanded.

The diameter of the "Primordial Magnetic Field" had even reached 6 kilometers.

Besides that, the duration of his transformation into a Golden Brilliance Dragon had increased to 1.5 times that of Level 6 Early Stage.

Overall, Levi's strength had ascended to a higher level.

Ending his seclusion,

Levi returned to the Emperor's Palace.

Naturally, after a breakthrough, it was time to celebrate and relax his body and mind.

Thus, he went to find Elena at the Flower Hall.

Several days later,

Levi, looking relaxed, was suddenly asked by an exhausted Hundred Flowers,

"By the way, do you still have the head or any tokens of that Eight-Armed Demon Witch you killed before?"

Levi said,

"I do, why?"

Hundred Flowers handed him a newspaper and said,

"Take a look for yourself."

Levi glanced at it and then his expression shifted slightly.

[Glatios (Eight-Armed Demon Witch) Wanted Poster]

[Reward Money: 2 billion Aether Stones, one Morning Star-level oddity.]

"Hiss, this Eight-Armed Demon Witch is actually worth so much, 2 billion Aether Stones plus a Morning Star-level oddity?"

Levi had never considered trading in the head of a dark wizard for reward money as he didn't want to deal with officials. Now, he was somewhat tempted.

Chapter 1777: Brilliant Golden Dragon Level 6 Middle Stage, obtained the forbidden technique Death Finger!

Morning Star-level oddities were multiple choices, and among these oddities, Levi found one that resembled a crimson-scaled arm covered in Truth Runes.

The congress's description was, "A Nameless fire element oddity of Morning Star-level, invaluable."

Upon seeing this oddity, Levi was incredibly excited.

He had seen this oddity listed in "Lucy's Truth Atlas" before.

The Flame King's Arm!

Among several functions recorded there, there was one that Levi desired the most.

Refining this oddity might grant him the associated special spiritual creature, the Flame King's Mobile Furnace.

This associate spiritual creature took the form of a furnace.

From its name, it was clear that it was immensely useful for Weapon Refinement and alchemy.

With this artifact, paired with the Swallowing Gold Treasure Toad, the Holy Infant's weapon refinement efficiency, success rate, and top-quality rate could potentially climb another level.

Moreover, despite Levi having refined the Holy Infant with the Host God Fruit later, improving its quality considerably, its foundation was still somewhat lacking.

If the Holy Infant were to refine another fire element Morning Star-level oddity, it could likely improve and help the Holy Infant break through the Seven-Ring Realm.

Hundred Flowers asked,

"How about it, do you want to exchange it for reward money?"

Levi replied,

"Should we send the Master Fire Dragon? Wouldn't that be too high-profile, and besides, with his ordinary Sixth Ring strength, no one would believe he could kill a Sixth Circle Perfection."

Levi himself didn't believe it.

Hundred Flowers said,

"If you want, I can make the exchange and claim I did the killing. I'm also at Sixth Circle Perfection, and although I'm still inferior to Glatios, with my talent and renown, killing him is not impossible."

Levi said,

"Let me think about it. I worry that by doing this, you might be marked by the Immersed Ancient Castle, and they would undoubtedly seek revenge. Oddities are valuable, but your safety is more important."

Hundred Flowers smiled, lunged forward, and kissed Levi hard,

"With those words, I'm already very satisfied. Let's settle it then."

Several days later.

After a thorough discussion, Levi decided to let Hundred Flowers take the head of the Eight-Armed Demon Witch to claim the bounty.

After Hundred Flowers left, Levi began preparing for his journey to Hell.

He was currently at the Level 6 Middle Stage in both the paths of the knight and the wizard.

His true strength was already comparable to Sixth Circle Perfection.

As long as he didn't venture past the Seventh Layer of Hell, he would be safe.

Moreover, he had Little Pink, a local, as his guide.

No.1 Witch City.

Fire Dragon Shop.

Over the years, under the guidance of Master Fire Dragon, Alexandra and Elsie's weapon-making skills had drastically improved.

Of course, the most important factor was their own comprehension and effort.

A master can lead you through the door, but cultivation depends on the individual.

The popularity of the Fire Dragon Shop soared with the addition of these two popular dragon descendant beauties.

Some wizards pretended to come for Wizard Tools, but really they just wanted to see the legendary primordial soul witch sisters up close.

It proved that Holy Infant's idea to keep the women at the shop was correct.

In business, traffic is king.

Every method possible had to be used to increase the renown of the Fire Dragon Shop, to gradually open up the market—just think how hard companies in past lives worked to advertise.

Inside the Holy Infant Refining room.

A parasol-shaped Wizard Tool was spinning in the flames, runes being hammered into it and disappearing.

Before long, accompanied by a tremble of the ancient umbrella, a stunning crimson light spread out.

"After the tool's formation, to have such an anomaly, thankfully my arrays are all Sixth Ring-level."

Holy Infant's face lit up with joy, and with a wave of his hand, he stowed the Purgatory Nine Dragon Umbrella, which had been completely renewed.

"Sixth Ring Top-Grade!"

Using the tenth guaranteed opportunity along with the Achilles Fire Ore, his Natal Soul Artifact had reached an extremely high quality.

"My ancient umbrella should now rank within the top six hundred. Paired with wizard forms, my actual combat ability can completely rival a Sixth Ring Senior Wizard, and I should be able to hold my ground for a few moves even against a Sixth Circle Perfection."

Sixth Ring Top-Grade Witch Artifacts are indeed very rare.

Levi had killed so many primordial souls, but only the Eight-Armed Demon Witch at Sixth Circle Perfection owned a top-grade artifact, and it was broken.

Even the Star Ring of Hundred Flowers was only top-quality.

If this Purgatory Nine Dragon Umbrella were to be sold at an auction, it would start at a minimum of 500 million. Just the Achilles Fire Ore raw materials alone are worth 100 million.

Star Tower.

Bounty Department.

This is a department under the Law Enforcement Department, responsible for issuing bounties and awarding rewards.

The staff members looked shocked as they gazed at the head before them. Turning to the valiant witch with a longsword on her back, they whispered:

"An Eight-Armed Demon Witch has been hunted... Is it real?"

"This is the Flower Witch, would she deceive us? Just wait, I've already notified the Deputy Director, and he will personally verify if it's indeed the head of the Eight-Armed Demon Witch."

Before long.

A wizard, at the level of Sixth Ring Senior, hurried over.

Wearing glasses, his name was Clavier Springer. He was a primordial soul wizard from the Seven Waters Steeple and served as the Deputy Director.

Elena smiled and said,

"Mr. Clavier, nice to see you in good health."

Clavier smiled back,

"My friend, I heard the news and rushed over. This is a major event. I didn't expect the Eight-Armed Demon Witch to have been executed. Truly worthy of the Flower Witch. I'm impressed."

Elena said,

"Please review it. I have other matters to attend to, and I will leave once I receive the reward."

Clavier said,

"Just a moment."

It didn't take long, and the examination was complete.

Clavier clapped his hands and said,

"It's indeed the Eight-Armed Demon Witch, incredibly strong."

Elena said,

"I can choose any of the oddities from the rewards, right? I want the Red Scale Arm oddity."

Clavier asked,

"That's a Fire Element Oddity, are you sure?"

Hundred Flowers nodded.

He quickly sent someone to fetch it.

After a while, the staff member returned with an uneasy look and said,

"Senior Elena, can you select another Morning Star Artifact instead? That arm, it's been redirected."

Clavier frowned and asked,

"When did this happen, and how do I not know about it?"

The staff member explained awkwardly,

"Just recently, the Director personally redirected it, apparently to reward one of the top ten employees of the Law Enforcement Department who killed a Sixth Ring Senior Dark Wizard."

Clavier said,

"Killing a Sixth Ring Senior and taking a Morning Star-level oddity? Nonsense! This should be one of the candidate rewards for killing the Eight-Armed Demon Witch! Do you know who took it? I'll get it back!"

The staff member said,

"It was... the Electric Eel Wizard. He recently killed the Fallen Dark Dragon Witch from the Black Sun Steeple."

Chapter 1778: Star Alliance Tournament, Sword from the West arrives, the Dragon awakens, Electric Eel falls!

Endless Sea.

The office of the Bounty Department.

The Deputy Minister's face showed a flash of surprise.

"The Electric Eel Wizard?"

The staff nodded, obviously also finding the situation difficult.

Hundred Flowers remained calm, her mind a whirl of thoughts.

"We weren't sure who framed Master Fire Dragon for the murder... but now it seems some people can't wait to show their true colors."

Without a doubt.

It was the Electric Eel Wizard who colluded with the Eight-Armed Demon Witch to assassinate Master Fire Dragon.

After the Master killed the Eight-Armed Demon Witch in self-defense, the Electric Eel Wizard worried about the Master claiming the reward and becoming even stronger, so he took away the one Morning Star-level oddity belonging to the Burning Faction first.

Of course, there were other possibilities, but the Electric Eel Wizard's suspicion could not be ruled out.

As Hundred Flowers came to understand all this, she did not make a scene.

That would be pointless and would only alert the enemy.

With a somewhat dejected tone, Clavier showed regret as he said,

"Elena, would you like to choose a different oddity?"

Hundred Flowers shook her head.

"Sorry, I only want that Burning oddity."

Clavier pondered for a moment and then said,

"Give me a moment."

He temporarily left the hall and headed to the Minister's office.

The Minister, a middle-aged wizard with a goatee and a short, thin build, looked unremarkable but was at the level of Sixth Circle Perfection.

The Deputy Minister asked,

"Minister, the reward for killing the Eight-Armed Demon Witch, that Burning Artifact... Can we get it back? After all, it's our Bounty Department's possession, and now Lady Elena only wants that specific item, she's not interested in anything else."

The Minister frowned and said,

"She's from the Ocean Faction, what does she want with a Burning Artifact? Take it or leave it, who does she think she is? Is she something special just because she has a bit of talent?"

As a wizard nearing the end of his lifespan, what he hated most were people like the Flower Witch.

Working so hard at his cultivation, spending so much time, still unable to advance beyond the seven-circle. Why?

The Deputy Minister spoke earnestly,

"Minister, I think it's inappropriate to let the Electric Eel Wizard take away that Burning Artifact... First of all, although our Bounty Department is a subsidiary of the Law Enforcement Department, we have independent ownership of our property. Secondly, according to the 'Reward Money Standard Act,' killing a Sixth Ring Senior does not, under any circumstances, merit a Morning Star-level oddity. Morning Star artifacts are extremely rare and only deserved by one who kills a seven-circle wizard or perhaps a top-level genius with Sixth Circle Perfection."

The Minister waved his hand dismissively,

"Enough, don't recite the law to me here. How many years have I worked in the Bounty Department? Don't you think I understand? Talking reason here with me is pointless; you need to speak with those above."

The Deputy Minister, left speechless, turned and left.

Back in the hall.

Having discussed the situation with Levi, Hundred Flowers received a straightforward answer.

"Then just pick another one, go for that Frost Artifact."

Since it had come to that, she no longer insisted. However, her dissatisfaction with the Electric Eel Wizard remained distinct.

She even considered calling over the Lady Witch to argue with these people.

But on second thought, she decided against it.

Star Tower was jointly established by the Sea of Six Towers, with the Letney Family being just one aspect of it.

The crows of this world are generally black, with the Letney Family covering the sky with one hand in the Law Enforcement Department, it's natural that other departments were controlled by other top organizations.

As part of the ruling class, none of the Six Towers were good, and no one could criticize the other.

With a blue crow-shaped oddity in hand, Elena was ready to leave, when she saw a figure in a golden robe entering.

His blonde hair fluttering, lightning flashing, his appearance distinguished, who else could it be but the Electric Eel Wizard?

The Electric Eel Wizard chuckled,

"Isn't this Elena?"

Elena replied with a smile,

"Isn't this the electric eel?"

The Electric Eel Wizard's face twitched; not being called 'wizard' or 'my lord' was surely an insult.

He laughed and said,

"What brings Elena here?"

Elena responded,

"Nothing."

She walked past the Electric Eel Wizard with an even expression, even letting out a disdainful snort.

The Electric Eel Wizard, suppressing the urge to react, turned around to watch Elena leave, his heart shadowed.

"Ha, let's see if you can still laugh when Levi is dead."

He didn't believe Elena was the one who killed the Eight-Armed Demon Witch. Elena was powerful, but she had only advanced to Sixth Circle Perfection not long ago, and her spiritual force was barely over four thousand points, while the Eight-Armed Demon Witch had a spiritual force close to the five thousand maximum.

Both were at Sixth Circle Perfection, but the gap between them was substantial.

It must have been a powerful person behind Master Fire Dragon who had killed the Eight-Armed Demon Witch. Then they claimed the reward in the name of Elena.

As to whether this powerful individual was Fire Dragon's good friend Levi was yet to be determined.

Levi's displayed realm and power were even less than Elena's, yet it seemed he had some hidden abilities.

In any case, whether it be Master Fire Dragon or Levi, neither was an ordinary opponent.

He would be very cautious in dealing with these people.

As for that Burning oddity, it was already in his pocket.

Even if he couldn't refine it, he could trade it with someone else.

The failures of these recent actions had only spurred the Electric Eel Wizard's competitive spirit.

"A dull life, finally showing some ripples."

...

Ancient Dragon Continent.

Levi looked at the blue crow oddity in Elena's hand and said,

"This is the 'Branch Cold Crow,' an extremely fine Truth Oddity, thank you."

Elena asked,

"How do you know the names of so many oddities?"

Levi responded,

"From the guide Ms. Lucy gave me."

Elena said,

Chapter 1779: The Galaxy League Sword from the West arrives, the dormant dragon wakes, and the electric eel falls!

"What should be done about the Flame King's Arm?"

Levi said,

"Let's just leave it as it is for now. Fortune comes my way, my fate if it does not. I've come to terms with that."

Hundred Flowers said,

"You're definitely thinking about how to deal with the Electric Eel Wizard, aren't you?"

Levi said,

"I'm not, don't talk nonsense... But now that you mention it, do you have any ideas? This person has targeted Master Fire Dragon several times, and I truly harbor a desire to kill."

Hundred Flowers said,

"This person's status is not that of an ordinary Sixth-Circle Wizard. Not only his father, the golden prince, but also Grandpa Witch King, have high hopes for him. They even want to groom him as the successor of the Letney Family... If we act against him, it will inevitably cause a huge uproar in the Star Sea. The entire Letney Family will probably be shaken by it. We must ensure that it's done cleanly, without leaving a single clue behind."

Levi said,

"I've mastered the Flying Secret Sword Cult; I can kill enemies from three thousand miles away. If I could instantly kill the Electric Eel Wizard, it should be possible to do so without God or ghost noticing... But he surely has powerful protective treasures on him. If the first strike misses, I will have to flee immediately."

As Levi's partner, Hundred Flowers understood her man's abilities quite well.

"We'll find a way to test the Electric Eel Wizard's strength and cards before making a plan."

Levi embraced Hundred Flowers and said,

"This matter is not urgent; we can talk about it later."

Three days later.

Levi left the Ancient Dragon Continent.

He said there was no rush, but in his heart, he felt quite anxious.

For him, the Flame King's Arm held strategic significance.

It was an important treasure to improve the efficiency and output of the Holy Infant Artifact and pave the way for his future cultivation.

Thus, he intended to act before the Electric Eel Wizard could trade away this treasure.

Lest the oddity get lost to unknown places, refined by someone else, turning uncooked rice into cooked rice.

To be honest, Levi had never thought to move against the Electric Eel Wizard so soon.

These days.

He had examined the memories of the Eight-Armed Demon Witch and Moore Wizard and hadn't obtained any useful information.

To get more intel on the Electric Eel Wizard, he needed to start with some people close to him.

These people included, on one hand, his family members, and on the other, his work colleagues.

Levi had not been so seriously intent on dealing with a person in a long time.

The Electric Eel Wizard, repeatedly targeting the Holy Infant, was walking a path courting death!

Endless Sea.

Law Enforcement Department office.

Celine Witch left the Electric Eel Wizard's office with a slightly unhappy mood.

As the personal secretary of the Electric Eel Wizard, she had grown tired of this life of being treated as a tool for venting.

But unlike those second-generation elites who got in through their families and organizations, she truly earned her place through her own abilities.

The position at Star Tower, especially the job of a high-level secretary to a primordial soul wizard, is something many desire.

Moreover, this primordial soul wizard was the ideal type of wizard that countless witches fantasized about—the Electric Eel Wizard!

His looks, talent, strength, status, power, and wealth... Electric Eel Wizard had it all.

But these were just appearances.

The closer one got, the more they realized that the Electric Eel Wizard was just trying to maintain his facade.

In Celine Witch's eyes, the Electric Eel Wizard was hypocritical, arrogant, capricious, and self-righteous.

And there, he was still inadequate... even with the aid of spells and medicine. Celine Witch, who had come this far and seen so many men, had her say on the matter.

As usual, she returned to her own precious little home in the Star Sea Domain, a wizard tower in the Nether Capital.

The moment she opened the door, she was stunned.

There stood a burly White Robe Wizard, easily three times larger than the Electric Eel Wizard, casually surveying her home with his hands behind his back.

He turned and said, smiling,

"Miss Celine?"

An overwhelming pressure surged, making her feel as if she had fallen into Abyss Hell, powerless to resist.

The ability to enter her wizard tower, which was fortified with a fifth-circle array, without anyone noticing... This person's strength... was clearly that of a primordial soul!

Boom!

The next moment.

Celine's gaze became vacant. When she regained her senses, she lowered her head and said,

"Master."

Clearly, she had been subjected to Crimson Enslavement.

Levi sat on the sofa and said,

"Tell me everything you know about the Electric Eel Wizard, no matter how trivial."

Celine Witch nodded and began to recount...

By the time Celine had finished, it was the next day.

Levi collected the useful information amidst her account, then stood up and approached Celine.

At the same time, a strand of blood-red power split off from the Scarlet Dragon Seed in his heart, surging into Celine's body, lying dormant within her.

Levi said,

"Go to work as usual, and once this matter is dealt with, you will be freed..."

Celine Witch left.

Levi thought to himself,

"I cannot act within Star Tower; with eighth-circle powerhouses guarding it year-round, it would be easy to fail, or even worse, I might expose myself."

He planned to use this secretary to lure the Electric Eel Wizard to an uninhabited place.

Then use the parasite and the secret sword at the same time, aiming to achieve an instant kill.

Next.

Like a lurking venomous snake, Levi moved around the edges of Star Tower, waiting for an opportunity.

Days later.

The opportunity arrived.

Through Celine Witch, Levi learned that the Electric Eel Wizard was to attend the Star Tournament as a guest to deliver a pre-game speech in one month's time.

Star Tournament.

Chapter 1780: Star Alliance Tournament, Sword from the West arrives, Dragon emerges from hibernation, Electric Eel falls!

This is a competition organized by the Star Tower, aimed at selecting talents and encouraging young wizards in their cultivation.

The league is only open to contestants below the primordial soul, divided into five levels, from the first-circle to the fifth-circle, with group competitions.

The once-known Simon, also debuted from the Nine Cities League.

The Electric Eel Wizard, was also a champion of one of the leagues.

These competitions, though they were small affairs involving low-level and middle-level wizards, would also invite some primordial soul wizards to maintain order.

The Electric Eel Wizard had been a guest of many conventions.

"Next, let this star-studded, high-profile league become the Electric Eel Wizard's Last memory."

After some thought, Levi decided to take action.

In the league, there should be more than one primordial soul wizard, but from past experience, they are all sixth-circle wizards.

After all, seventh-circle and eighth-circle wizards definitely don't bother with these child-like games.

That is to say, aside from any ace up the Electric Eel Wizard's sleeve, no one could save him.

Levi was confident in the might of his "Golden Dragon Break"; it might not be enough against a Sixth Circle Perfection, but in a surprise attack, severely injuring a Sixth Ring Senior should be feasible.

Just in case his first strike missed, he planned to have the Holy Infant modify the secret sword and, as a backup plan, deliver a second strike!

Two perfectly timed secret sword attacks, he refused to believe he couldn't kill a Sixth Ring Senior wizard like the Electric Eel Wizard.

Even if he truly failed, and his strike missed, both he and the Holy Infant would already be thousands of miles away.

The parasite would instantly self-destruct without leaving a trace.

Afterwards, the Star Tower wouldn't be able to find out anything.

Otherwise, his previous case of killing Schubert would have been solved long ago.

Instead, it was still being dragged out without resolution.

From Hundred Flowers, Levi knew that the main artifact used by the Star Tower in investigations was the "Mirror of the Past".

This was a rare treasure possibly related to time rewinding.

However, the exploration scope and rewind time of this treasure were limited.

After all, the knowledge of time, hailed as the most complex and mysterious truth, wasn't an exaggeration.

Even legendary wizards, aside from a calculating expert like Sauron, would hardly delve too deeply.

Land of Darkness.

Boundless, empty, unknown.

Nora stood like a giant, attracting the surrounding planes amid the eternal night.

In the midst of a meteorite cluster in deep space, a kilometer-diameter stone coffin floated silently.

The coffin was carved with complex and mysterious patterns, emitting a splendid treasure light, clearly a powerful rare artifact.

Around the coffin, there stood two silver-armored puppets and twelve copper-armored puppets, and over a hundred stone-armored puppets.

Suddenly, a hand as large as a fan extended from the stone coffin.

The fingers were smooth and slender, proportionate and beautiful, apparently a woman's hand.

A woman, a hundred meters tall dressed in black scale armor like a military general, stood up from it.

She stretched lazily, looking toward the distant Nora.

"Whew, finally recovered from my injuries. Who would've thought that after a sleep, I'd end up in the Wizard World, nearly left there by the congress... It's a pity, most of the Ancient Tomb Guards prepared by my father were lost. It seems there was also a junior who took advantage of my slumber to steal two Level 6 Guards, quite the headache."

At that moment,

a Level 6 black beast lord, a majestic and handsome White-headed Divine Eagle, happened to pass by.

Seeing the woman, it attacked without considering whether it could win or not.

In the woman's hand, a bright silver spear emerged, shimmering with light—she gently pointed it!

Boom!

A terrifying attack pierced through the void, blasting the black beast lord into a Blood Fog over hundreds of miles.

With a wave of her large hand, the coffin radiated a tremendous light, sucking in all those puppet creatures.

Then, she changed, her form shrinking to that of a human woman, dressed in tight-fitting leather armor, her chest firm.

"Taking this opportunity, I shall tour the Wizard World. If I encounter that little thief, a harsh lesson is a must."

Several days later.

Nether Capital.

Inside the wizard tower, Levi's eyes were tightly closed, his forehead sweaty, as if he was constructing an extremely complex spell.

In his mind.

The two-foot-tall primordial soul of Levi was sitting cross-legged.

Inside the primordial soul, aside from the spell model, there were various other rune patterns.

Bull, Heavenly Horse, Hidden Snake, Aries, Jade Rabbit...

Following Jade Rabbit, another rune pattern lit up; it was a somewhat comical pig head pattern.

The pig head had its eyes shut, the corners of its mouth split, revealing a creepy smile.

"The sixth rune of the Rune Language, the Fool Rune, is complete. This rune is a bit different."

Levi opened the proficiency panel.

Levi

Fool: Level 1 (1/1000), Special Effect: Power of the Blind Pig Star (Level 1).

...

[Power of the Blind Pig Star: The Rune Language communicates with the Blind Pig Constellation, amplifying your Power of Fooling and foreknowledge by 10%.]

The so-called Power of Fooling.

Refers to the ability to fool the heavens and human calculations.

In simple terms, it's "anti-divination," "anti-spying," and creating false impressions for others.

The powerful ones even fool history, and even time!

Foreknowledge needs no further explanation.

Levi's Danger Perception was essentially a form of foreknowledge.

"The effect of the Fool Rune is similar to astrology, meant to amplify powers of astrology and anti-astrology... It seems, apart from Danger Perception, I need to start delving into Astrology Magic."
