Chapter 196: All Settled! (2)

A figure unknowingly appeared in front of Earl Morton.

"Who are you?" Earl Morton gazed at the newcomer, realizing that his guard, a grand knight, had already perished in the hands of this individual.

Though the grand knight wasn't at the top level, being killed by this person without a sound made it clear that his strength was terrifying. Earl Morton composed himself and remained calm. "Who are you?"

"I am a friend of your father," Levi said softly.

"You killed my father?" Earl Morton asked.

"Yes, that's correct," Levi replied.

After a moment of silence, Earl Morton seemed to feel some relief.

"Do it," he said.

"Where is your family's breathing technique inheritance diagram? Tell me, and I'll end your life quickly," Levi inquired.

The Montenegro Mountain family's breathing technique was of perfect quality, which Levi was looking forward to.

"In the fireplace." Earl Morton's expression was devoid of emotions, filled with deathly calmness.

Levi's face changed in reaction.

As he approached the fireplace, he discovered some ashes, remnants of the burned breathing technique inheritance diagram, barely visible.

Levi sighed inwardly as he killed Earl Morton.

Perhaps aware of his family's desperate situation, the Son of Montenegro Mountain had deliberately burnt the breathing technique inheritance diagram, leaving no hope for his family. Levi couldn't comprehend this decision.

Nevertheless, Levi remained determined to search for it himself.

That night, a massacre unfolded in the Montenegro Mountain mansion.

Levi continued killing while searching for clues about the four great families that the Duke of Montenegro might have left behind, as well as the breathing technique inheritance diagram of the Montenegro Mountain family.

He finally found a clue about the four great families. It was a red letter.

In one corner of the letter, there was a small inscription, "Winchester".

On the back of the letter was a depiction of a grand city, the capital, the Emerald City!

"The capital, the Winchester Family is in the capital," Levi muttered to himself.

Though the letter was blank, it was the most valuable clue Levi had discovered so far.

"It's a shame that I haven't found the breathing technique inheritance diagram. They're heartless," Levi cursed.

He suspected that Earl Morton might have deceived him, and the real inheritance diagram had already been moved somewhere unknown.

"D*mn of the Montenegro Mountain!"

Levi cursed inwardly and decided to temporarily give up his search.

He stashed the few treasures he had plundered into the Bag of Gluttony and quietly left Storm City.

The following day, as the sea breeze blew and the sun rose over the ocean, Earl Morton and the grand knight's corpses were also transformed into living dead by Levi.

They replaced the near-decommissioned Magic Shark and Demon Mountain.

Levi didn't bother giving them new names.

He had grown accustomed to the names of the Magic Shark and Demon Mountain. Regardless of future changes, their names would remain unchanged.

"Goodbye, old friends," Levi said as he used the Seal of Flame to destroy the old Magic Shark and old Demon Mountain. He then equipped the new Magic Shark and Demon Mountain with the armor from their predecessors.

"Now that this matter is settled, I'll head to the Tuva Empire first to deal with the Earl of Silversilk. After that, I can set off for the capital."

Levi pondered, "I wonder if dealing with the four great families will be easy."

Leaving the beach with his living dead companions, Levi found that the distance between Stormy Hill and the Tuva Empire wasn't too far. In a few days, he reached the Holy City after receiving news that the Earl of Silversilk had gone there.

Despite the passing years, the Holy City still stood magnificently.

Levi first visited the stronghold of the Bird of Death's Voice located outside the Holy City. After so many years, this stronghold was already empty.

"Forget it." Levi shook his head.

Everything in the world was as white as the clouds.

He didn't know where his enemies had gone.

He also let go of that obsession.

Inside the Holy City, Levi paid a visit to the Shining Tavern and was surprised to discover the whereabouts of his Turbellarian Egg.

The seller was a noble merchant from the Molten Kingdom. It was said that in the swamps of their country, there was a creature called the Turbellarian.

Turbellarian Egg was a delicious food. The seller had originally missed the delicacies of his hometown, so he had brought some with him.

However, he did not expect that someone in the Tuva Empire would buy this at a high price. He had the intention to use the Turbellarian Egg to open up the foreign market.

Levi happily discussed the details of the trade with the noble.

"The Vortex Beast Breath Technique has also been resolved." Levi sighed in his heart.

He was about to become a legendary knight, and this problem was finally solved.

The Turbellarian Egg was a pleasant surprise. Levi's goal for this trip was still to deal with the Earl of Silversilk.

He asked around in the Shining Tavern. With the help of money, the current

Earl of Silversilk had become a high-ranking official in the Imperial Government's Finance Department and lived in the high and mighty inner city area.

In the Silversilk Manor, a beautiful and elegant lady was teaching her daughter to practice the Aristocratic Dance of the Tuva Empire.

This was the Silversilk Lady. She had a graceful figure. Although she was already in her forties, she maintained herself well and had the demeanor of a mature woman.

Her daughter was about the same age as Levi. She was dressed in noble clothes and was exquisitely dressed. There were small freckles on her face that did not affect her appearance. She was wild and young.

"What a beautiful scene." A burly man descended from the SKY and crushed the noble floor tiles.

This burly man was two meters tall and muscular. He wore a black robe, and behind him were four brawny men covered in armor..
