Chapter 201: Return of the King! (1)

It was the year 104 of the Holy Brilliance Calendar, the Month of Northern Wind.

A group of travel-worn people slowly arrived on the road outside Flower City.

At the very front of this group of people were three tall and sturdy armored bears. A young man meditated on the back of the giant bear in the middle with his eyes closed.

Behind him, nearly two hundred armored cavalymen were riding on Scarlet Warhorse, all looking mighty.

The people behind them were wearing thick clothes from the Northern Territory. They sized up the passersby curiously and confidently.

"Oh my god, it is the Month of Northern Wind, yet these people are not dressed for winter?"

"Isn't that so? Short-sleeved shirts. Is this how Southern people behave?"

"At this time, there are still flowers by the roadside. As expected of Flower City."

The blacksmiths chatted in surprise. They had never left the Northern Territory and had no idea how incredible the outside world was.

This was the current situation of most ordinary people in this world.

They might never leave the territory they lived in for the rest of their lives. They did not know how big the world was, nor how wonderful the outside world was.

Sam watched all of this nervously. He was ready to follow the lord into a great battle.

He knew the kingdom would not quickly return Flower City to the lord.

These d*mn big shots constantly bullied the weak and feared the strong.

Levi's army and a few thousand civilians had fled from the north. Although they were escaping, they had sufficient supplies, so everyone was in a good mental state. They did not look like refugees at all.

Below the city tower, the door was tightly shut.

Levi rode on a giant bear and stood at the city gate carrying two swords.

He did not say anything, nor did he take any further action.

Instead, he sat leisurely on the giant bear and looked at the city.

He knew that the big shot inside would give him an answer.

Not long after, he went up the city gate tower.

Red Willow Divine Sword, wearing light armor and holding a longsword, frowned. The teams of fully armed soldiers beside him looked at the mighty army below the city as if facing a great enemy.

"Where did this army come from?"

This army was insignificant, with less than a thousand people. Moreover, most were part-time militia.

However, the 200 fully equipped Blood Red Cavalry had shocked Red Willow Divine Sword.

One had to know he was one of the Seven Godly Swords!

The Red Willow Family only had 300 armored cavalymen guarding Flower City, and from the quality of their equipment, they were inferior to the cavalymen who had suddenly appeared.

His heart stirred. He thought it was the remnants of the Northern forces, so he ordered the thousands of soldiers guarding the city to enter a state of war.

At this moment, the city guards of Flower City were on high alert, looking at the three giant bears below.

"Giant Bears of the Northern Territory. Who could tame them as pets?" "I don't know. I've never heard of this person."

"It's fine. We have the Red Willow Divine Sword. Even if the Earthly Dragon Beast comes, it will die."

Everyone whispered to each other. They felt extremely at ease when they thought of the Seven Godly Swords on their side.

Finally, before Levi could speak, Red Willow Divine Sword said, "Who are you? Why did you lead your army here?"

The Red Willow Divine Sword pressed down on its longsword, ready to fight at any moment.

His voice was loud and clear, calming the morale of the army.

Levi stroked the bear's head and said, "Black Snake Baron Levi, the master of the Tulip Hill.

"I want to ask you, why did you send troops to occupy my territory? According to the kingdom's laws, this is undoubtedly an invasion and a declaration of war against lord! "

After Levi finished speaking, the three Giant Bears of the Northern Territory roared toward the sky. Their terrifying roars spread throughout Flower City.

"This..."

This time, Red Willow Divine Sword was shocked.

"Baron Black Snake...You're still alive." He had almost forgotten about this person.

"What? Does the Red Willow Divine Sword want me dead?" Levi smiled. His grand knight strength was unleashed without holding back.

His opponent's heart skipped a beat.

During the years of the Civil War, the kingdom had long forgotten the existence of Baron Levi.

A grand knight suddenly appeared out of nowhere, and it was Baron Levi.

Red Willow Divine Sword was bewildered.

"I'm following the orders of the kingdom to guard this city. If you object to my actions, you can go to the capital and ask His Majesty for a second opinion." Thinking of his own identity, Red Willow Divine Sword calmed down.

"In that case, there's no room for discussion about?" Levi asked.

"Sir, please return. In terms of military strength, you are inferior to me. Don't do anything unwise. I am the Seven Godly Swords! My words and deeds represent the will of the kingdom!"

The Red Willow Divine Sword give up the city just because of a grand knight who suddenly appeared.

First of all, he could not verify Levi's identity. Secondly, even if Levi was honest, he was only following the orders of the kingdom to protect this city. He was not wrong at all.

At that time, the higher-ups would not do anything to him!

Levi sneered.

As expected, these people would not cooperate if he did not use force.

"Seven Godly Swords? I only have one question. Can your words and actions represent the will of the kingdom? Are you worthy?"

After Levi finished speaking, he got off the bear and walked to the city gate step by step.

"What do you want? If you leave now, I can still let you live. Otherwise, I'll kill you without mercy!" The Red Willow Divine Sword shouted angrily.. He pulled out his sword, and black gas surrounded the blade!
