

Wizard 208

Chapter 208: Full Moon Night, Feast of Blood! (2)

Who cares if he lacked the support of the Primary Blood Clan?

Since these old antiques had been hiding in the human underground world, they were afraid of humans and did not want to cause too much trouble in the human world. Otherwise, there was no need to be so secretive.

However, as the Dark Wave revived, perhaps these old antiques were starting to be dishonest.

This was because the plane they lived in was about to converge again.

At that time, a new Primary Blood Clan might be invading this world.

"This is troublesome. Can evil spirits, Snow Demons, and the Blood Clan be any more chaotic? Was it the revival of the Dark Wave?" Levi was speechless.

Each of these guys was harder to deal with than the last.

It was hard to imagine how the humans would face the invasion of these monsters without the wizard's help and just relying on the rabble of the Church.

Levi felt that the wizard would probably make a move.

After all, wizards needed humans to replenish their blood. They should be unable to watch so many mortals die in the Dark Wave.

The wizard had not made a move yet because the situation had just begun. They would not make a move yet.

"Who cares? Saving the world has nothing to do with me, " Levi was no longer worried.

He continued to return to his everyday life.

In the following days, there were several similar murders every month. The rumors of "Mind Flayers" were rampant.

Even a blacksmith Levi brought over from Black Water Valley had been killed.

This made Levi, who originally wanted to turn a blind eye, unable to sit still.

"D*mn it! How dare you take advantage of me, out of all people," Levi cursed in his heart.

He decided to investigate first to see if the Blood Clan members were behind this.

Now, the Mind Flayers have seriously affected the everyday lives of the residents of Flower City.

With so many murders every month, who could stand it?

However, after concluding the characteristics of so many murders, Levi discovered some patterns.

They liked to commit crimes at night, and their targets were usually vagrants or wandering knights. Moreover, they preferred to attack young adults. There were no old people among all the victims so far. They were all young men or Women.

Other than that, these murderers did not leave behind many clues.

On the other hand, Levi had his subordinates focus on the investigation according to the monster manual. He had also hired some professional detectives, who were all capable and expensive.

Levi did not intend to alert the enemy. He wanted to see if he could find the murderer secretly.

Generally speaking, the Blood Clan members were no different from ordinary people under normal circumstances.

However, there were still some characteristics.

For example, they had pale faces, which was unhealthy. They often had dark circles under their eyes, which was what the monster manual introduced.

Other than that, they liked to move in the dark, and the full moon was their favorite hunting time.

According to Franken's preliminary research, it seemed that during the full moon, they could sense the power of the "Blood River Will" from their distant hometown, which they believed in, and obtain the blessing of strength.

Therefore, combining these characteristics, Levi planned to try and see if he could bait and find the murderer.

In the following days, although the lord had increased security patrols, some people would still go missing every month. In the end, the corpses of these people were found in the corners of the city or the wilderness. Without exception, they all had no hearts, and their blood was dried.

The Church of Flower City also sent people to investigate.

However, Levi really could not complement the ability of this group of people.

Without their “God,” this group could not do anything.

Of course, on the surface, Levi maintained a good relationship with the Church and had never stopped donating small amounts of money.

No matter what, the Church was still the true overlord of the country. There was no need for him to make things difficult for them. With the care of the Church, it was easier to do things.

Tonight was the night of the full moon.

Dark clouds floated in the sky, casting shadows on the ground.

The moonlight shone on Flower City. Inside the castle, Levi wore a black robe and cloak, carrying two swords on his back and wearing a White Wolf Mask. He quietly slipped out.

He wanted to see which d*mned Blood Clan member was causing trouble in his territory.

There was no one else on the streets because of the Mind Flayers rumors besides some homeless people.

Levi’s body shrunk and became thin. He hid in the shadows and activated his Advanced Vibrosensing.

So far, there has been no response from Spider Sensing.

He came to the top floor of the Church. This was the highest point of Flower City, and he could overlook the entire city.

"Come on, little b*stard, let me see you."

Levi's muscles tensed up, ready to move at any time.

A drunken wandering knight had just come out of Shining Tavern in an empty alley. He reeked of alcohol and burped.

He staggered on the street.

In the corner of the tavern, a slender, curvy figure wrapped tightly and raised her head silently. A veil covered the lower half of her face, but one could vaguely see that it was a female face.

She pursed her lips and stretched lazily, letting out a sexy moan.

A fat customer at the side looked at this young lady and could not help but feel his hormones rise. He used alcohol to strengthen his courage and impulsively blocked her..
