Chapter 218: Levi's First Spell! (3)

Of course, Levi did not need to worry about this yet.

He only needed to build these dozens of nodes and the Insect Controlling Technique model, which would be a breakthrough.

Levi spent a month comprehending.

During this month, Levi did not even cultivate breathing techniques.

He practised the Meditation Art day and night and then comprehended the spell model of the Insect Controlling Technique.

After working tirelessly for a month, Levi had only completed half of the nodes.

The difficulty of learning spells gave Levi a deep impression.

He did not know if it was because he was a beginner or if it would be like this in the future.

If he continued to progress at this speed, it would be tough for him to become an official wizard.

When he asked Tuten, Tuten's answer made Levi completely relieved.

"If a wizard can build his first spell model in a month, even if it's the simplest cantrip, then he's a genius in the field of spell model construction.

"It would be slower for the first time because it was a process of starting from scratch. It would be much better after that. Of course, some complicated spell model would still take a lot of time, so the wizard would always be busy." This made Levi feel at ease. His construction speed was not slow.

He did not have an official wizard as his mentor, so he felt he could be considered a small wizarding genius.

So what if he was one of the Children of Chaos? His ability to comprehend spell models was pretty good.

During this period, Anderson came to the castle to find Levi again.

However, Levi had been in closed-door cultivation, so he told his subordinates that he would not meet anyone who came looking for him.

Knight Anderson did not disturb him and continued to wait for Levi in Flower City.

He had plenty of patience as a Blood Clan member with a long lifespan.

The more he thought about it, the more he felt that this master of the Black Snake Castle was not simple.

Therefore, he wanted to meet this young man.

Within Black Snake Castle, Levi put all his heart and soul into constructing the spell model.

In the second month, he was pleasantly surprised to find that the speed of his node construction seemed to have increased a little.

Initially, he could build a node in a day and a half. Now, he could make a node every day.

"Practice makes perfect. This is the truth."

Levi was delighted and struck while the iron was hot.

Meditate, construct, meditate, construct...The cycle repeated.

Finally, at the end of the Month of Northern Wind of the year 1015 of the Holy Brilliance Calendar, a precise and mysterious spell model lit up like a star in Levi's mind.

If Levi's mind was compared to a star map, this spell model was like a constellation connected by starlight.

After nearly two months, the spell model of the Insect Controlling Technique was finally constructed successfully!

This was a great encouragement to Levi.

Without a mentor, he had comprehended a spell model by himself.

"Levi, as expected of you!" Levi gave himself a thumbs up in his heart.

Of course, he was not arrogant and complacent.

"Building spell model is only the beginning of spell cultivation. Next, you'll need to improve through continuous spellcasting practice to become more skilled, accurate, and powerful."

The cultivation of spells was similar to that of seals.

There was no shortcut to increase proficiency, which was to practice spellcasting continuously.

Of course, if he were a Son of Element, his cultivation speed would be faster than a Children of Chaos like Levi.

Thanks to their affinity with a single element, they were able to cultivate the Meditation Art and spell of the corresponding elemental school as if the gods blessed them.

However, the Insect Control Technique was a spell from the school of the worm.

It was closer to the Life School of Thought, School of Death and School of Alchemy.

The tremendous significance of the birth of a new school was to give way for most ordinary wizards with the talent of the Children of Chaos.

This was because they had the lowest requirements for elemental affinity compared to the old Elementalist School.

Of course, the lowest requirement did not mean any criteria.

To become a wizard, one had to have the talent of a Children of Chaos.

This was because regardless of whether it was the new or old school, in terms of origin, it relied on the four great wills of creation, Earth, Fire, Wind, and Water!

However, the old school relied heavily on elemental affinity, while the new school relied less.

After successfully constructing the spell model of the Insect Controlling Technique, Levi opened his proficiency panel.

He realized that a new skill had appeared on the proficiency panel. [Insect Controlling Technique: Level 1 (1/1000)]

"Perfect. Once you get on my proficiency panel, I'll cultivate you to the maximum!" Levi said confidently.

The next step was simple. He would practice the Insect Controlling Technique.

Insect Controlling Technique did not require casting materials.

He only needed to use his spiritual power to communicate with the poisonous insects he controlled continuously.

Levi took out a Saint Scorpion, and his mental strength flowed along the constructed Insect Controlling Technique spell model. After circulating it, it became a faint connection. He instantly felt that he had an invisible hand, or rather, it was similar to the Mother Tree on Pandora.

This was the high-level Wild Heart, which allowed Levi to use his spirit to communicate with Saint Scorpions.

Of course, the advantage of the Wild Heart was that it could be used on all kinds of wild beasts. However, the Insect Controlling Technique could only communicate with mutated insects, not even ordinary ones.

There were specializations in every field and no distinction between good and evil.

Soon, Levi sensed the Saint Scorpion's emotions. It was sometimes confused, irritable and crazy.

Under Levi's reassurance, the Saint Scorpion gradually calmed down.

Levi tried to remove the black gas and gently touched the Saint Scorpion with his hand.

It did not attack Levi.

"Success! Initial control successful!" Levi was delighted.

At the same time, a system notification came. [Insect Controlling Technique Proficiency +1]

"I'll start cultivating!"

From now on, Levi could be considered a true low-level wizard apprentice!
