Chapter 2381: Three Water Talents! Water Element Holy Body!

Roar!

Roar!

Accompanied by two dragon roars echoing through the skies.

A beautiful yet robust flame giant dragon, covered in red scales, with a queen-like demeanor, rested on the Red Wizard Tower, looking disdainfully across the seas, with high temperatures distorting space, making others shy away.

On the other side, with a wingspan of a kilometer, emitting a chilling air, with the north wind howling and snowflakes swirling, the glacier giant dragon also opened its narrow golden eyes, cold and noble, admirable yet unapproachable.

Two figures with seven-ring auras slowly appeared within the dragons, their eyes filled with joy.

"You've reached the seven rings?"

"You too?"

"Congratulations, congratulations."

"The same to you, the same to you."

"Hahaha, although we were not born in the same year, month, and day, we broke through to the seven rings in the same year, month, and day."

Elena and Elsie looked at each other in surprise, evidently not expecting it.

"Congratulations to both of you for stepping into the seven rings, further advancing; truly a fortunate event for our Fire Dragon Sky Work."

Holy Infant clapped, his form leisurely appearing.

"Such envy."

Gandaph appeared from somewhere, standing next to Holy Infant.

"The overall strength of our Gondor City has further improved; in the upcoming Wizard World's Hundred City Ranking, we should be able to make it into the top ten."

Gondor City Lord couldn't conceal his smile.

He is now also a senior eight-ring cultivation, further existing as a dual-faction presence, being the offspring of Legendary Wizard [Thousand Mountains Immortal], holding an exceptional status. Primordial soul wizards present all saluted.

"I won't disturb you; after a while, I'll specifically host a banquet to thank everyone for their contributions to Gondor City over these years."

He came quickly and left quickly.

Back inside.

Holy Infant sat opposite the two women and asked:

"What are your plans for the future?"

Elena said:

"After consolidating our realm, we plan to first visit my father, then hunt demons for a while, earn some war merits, and exchange for Bright Moon Artifact available in the seven rings stage. After that, it's refining multiple weapons, making more money to prepare for future Blood Battle Auctions."

Elena has money, but still not enough to buy oddities, her father, the Melt Mountain Dragon, after her primordial soul stage, also left her to her own devices.

Elsie is even an orphan; it has not been easy all the way along. Without Elena's support, she might not have made it to this point.

Holy Infant said:

"Alright, you can go without worries, don't fret about things here; if there are any difficulties, tell me. I've refined two seven-ring witch artifacts as gifts for your ascent, you can take them."

With a wave of his hand, two armors floated in the void, emitting a purple-blue glow.

"These are the [Purple-Blue Twin Linked Holy Armor], both are top-quality seven-ring level, and are combination witch tools. Separately, they are defensive treasures capable of resisting a strike from seven rings Perfection; combined, they can release [Purple-Blue Holy Flame] capable of threatening seven rings Perfection with an attack treasure. You've just entered the seven rings, with still shallow strength; this witch tool can assist you in getting through difficulties; just carefully avoid level 8 demons, and it should ensure safety and security."

Looking at the dazzling treasures, the armors engraved with blue and red giant dragons, Elena and Elsie breathed quickly, their hearts racing.

"Master... this is too valuable; if auctioned, it would start at no less than ten billion Aether Stones, surely shouldn't, shouldn't..."

"Yes, we should buy it... though we don't have that much now, but can deduct from dividends."

Holy Infant smiled and said:

"You've been with me for so long, from the initial creation of the Fire Dragon Shop to becoming Fire Dragon Sky Work, hundreds of years of companionship can't be compared to just ten billion Aether Stones, can it?" .

Elena covered her small mouth, unable to control her emotions, while Elsie's eyes were slightly watery.

The Master's words touched the softest part of their hearts, directly reaching their spirits.

The Master, he truly is so good.

Elena no longer hesitated and laughed:

"Master, we will accept this; this kindness, we will not forget."

After a long silence, Elsie solemnly said:

"I've been lonely since childhood, a journey of cultivation for one thousand seven hundred years, where I've met Elena as my family and partner; no matter how the Master perceives me, in my heart, I've already seen you as family. I'll strive to repay Master."

Holy Infant laughed freely and said:

"Hahaha, don't be so serious, in Fire Dragon Sky Work, we are all family, all are relatives."

Elsie pouted and said:

"Not quite the same..."

Elena holding Elsie, they expressed gratitude repeatedly before leaving Fire Dragon Sky Work.

Holy Infant watched their departing backs, returned home, and continued refining the wizard tower.

During this period, everyone wasn't intensely demon-hunting.

Having refined so many oddities prior, all needed time to digest; Victor was even charging towards seven rings Perfection.

...

Ten years later.

Nora Calendar Year 770.

Blood Battle Year 565.

Dragon King Li turned 1200.

He held a grand banquet within Ancient Banyan Fairyland, inviting a group of animal friends, along with a select few humans, such as Elena, Triss, to participate.

After the banquet, he received good news, Sorrett from Tower of Dawn finally also broke through to the Seven-Ring Realm.

Sorrett and Elsie are considered people of the same era, now only three hundred years from the sixth-circle's limit.

At such a crucial juncture, achieving seven rings, how delightful and joyous.

Subsequently, life extended to three thousand years; over one thousand three hundred years, under normal circumstances, advancing to eight rings will be difficult.

But if he could live until the day the Thousand-Year Potion emerges, perhaps he may attempt to charge forward into the Eight Environments.

Overall, Sorrett has benefited from a good era, already achieving accomplishments surpassing his talent and ability.

Due to identity reasons, he didn't partake in demon slaying but was in charge of education at the Tower of Dawn, also earning organizational contributions and exchanging resources for cultivation.

Chapter 2382: Three Water Talents! Water Element Holy Body!

If it were a time of peace, Sorrett might stop at the sixth level.

Sorrett is a fine teacher, having already guided one primordial soul and dozens of fifth-circle students, his merits are indeed immense.

Good things come in pairs.

Shortly after Sorrett reached the seventh circle, as the storm clouds in the sky dissipated, a teacher from the Tower of Dawn also broke through to the six-circle realm.

She is Lillian, the Water Element Child that Levi brought out from the ancient tower over four hundred years ago. Her cultivation journey has been exceptionally smooth. She began teaching at the Tower of Dawn after reaching the fifth circle.

Now stepping into the sixth circle, the entire school celebrated her achievement with cheers.

Levi felt a sense of emotion in his heart.

The seedlings he brought out from the ancient tower in the early days have begun to bear fruit.

Among them, as long as they haven't died prematurely, even the weakest are intermediate wizards, all teaching or conducting research at the school, serving as the backbone of the Tower of Dawn.

Back then, alongside Lillian, was another, Pique, the Wind Element Child. He and Lillian were very close, having developed feelings for each other inside the ancient tower, akin to young companions growing up together.

Unfortunately, Pique failed to advance a few years ago. Although he relied on the organization's rare treasure to save his life, advancing to the primordial soul requires a one-time, robust effort, making it difficult to succeed again.

There are cases of a second successful breakthrough, but they are very rare.

The reason lies in the unsolved mysteries of wizard theory research.

Disheartened, Pique set aside his thoughts for Lillian and focused on teaching to spend the rest of his life peacefully.

Unexpectedly, the first thing Lillian did after stabilizing her realm was propose to Pique, a storyline worthy of science fiction.

Knowing that Pique's path to the primordial soul was almost cut off, with little hope of significant achievement, she still stayed by his side without hesitation.

The Dusk Palace Master commented: There is true emotion in the human realm, there is true love in the human world.

Years passed.

Four years later, in the year 780 of Nora.

Lillian gave birth to a son, named Heim.

Unlike others who carry for ten months, Heim stayed in the womb for a full three years before finally being born.

After taking care of Lillian, Pique held an instrument while gazing at this naturally blue, wavy-haired child. .

"This blue hair, it resembles his mother."

He placed the instrument on Heim's body, then stood frozen.

Inside the crystal ball, a vast sea representing the Water Element Child appeared.

Floating on the sea was a graceful blue giant whale.

On the whale's forehead was a beautifully carved coral throne, lonely yet serene.

Pique rubbed his eyes to ensure he wasn't mistaken, then muttered in a daze:

"A Water Element Child, along with two unknown special water element talents... this, this Three Water Talents?? How is this possible?"

Looking through history and across the Wizard World.

Even top-level prodigies are as common as carp crossing a river, but those with three talents can be counted on one hand.

There are rumors that in this current era, only the Great Council President Amon has the initial three talents, only he possesses the extraordinary "Three Fires".

And now, his, Pique's son, surprisingly has the "Three Waters" talent, at the same level as the Great Council President, which is why he was so shocked.

Meanwhile.

Lillian, who had just given birth, was exceptionally weak. Even with the strength of a primordial soul wizard, just having a child shouldn't make her this exhausted.

Yet carrying Heim for three years seemed to have drained her of immense energy, leaving her so fatigued.

"Pique, what talent does our child have? He won't have none, will he?"

In these chaotic times, Lillian didn't wish her child to be a mortal, forcing parents to bury their child.

Pique replied:

"Madam, you need to mentally prepare yourself. You've just given birth, and emotional fluctuations might affect your future cultivation."

Upon hearing this, Lillian felt a bit desolate in her heart. She said:

"I understand, with our strength, we can protect Heim to live out his life safely."

"Heim has the Three Water Talents..."

"What??"

...

Emperor's Palace.

"What?"

Just after celebrating with Elena, Levi glanced at the message from Lillian's side, and exclaimed slightly.

"What's wrong? I've never seen you this unsettled, not even during a demon invasion."

Elena, with half of her clothes on, embraced Levi's back, her body gently against his, casually asking.

"Our organization has given birth to a Three Water Talent, Lillian and Pique's child."

"What?"

"Don't mention this to anyone else for the moment, only we among the higher-ups should know. Heim's matter is of great importance, not as simple as it seems."

Levi spoke solemnly.

Elena nodded.

"Triss? I want to see her surprised look too."

"Triss is fine, but let's not tell the others for the time being."

Quickly.

Levi summoned Heim and Pique's family to the Emperor's Palace for a private meeting.

He looked at the child in Pique's arms. After testing, he confirmed the Three Water Talents.

"Don't discuss this matter with anyone else. When Heim grows up, I will personally mentor him. I'm worried that once exposed, Heim might be assassinated by those with ulterior motives, or by evil entities like the Council of Ten Thousand Clans."

Lillian replied:

"Okay, Hall Master, we haven't dared to tell anyone else except you."

Levi let the couple return home to rest, to care for Heim as usual. He even entrusted Lillian with the Ghost Elephant Young Master Eisenk, this Level 7 Corpse Demon, as a trump card to prevent unforeseen circumstances.

Levi suspected Heim to be the reincarnation of a legendary wizard, which was why he was so cautious.

However, he's still too young now, and Levi didn't dare to be certain. Besides, if the other party is a legendary wizard, as long as they don't wish to reveal their identity, Levi wouldn't know.

No matter what, such a genius, whose talent shakes the heavens and stirs the spirits, must be well protected. He must not die prematurely due to an accident.

Chapter 2383: Three Water Talents! Water Element Holy Body!

When Heim grows a bit older, I'll find a way to probe him. If he turns out to be a Legendary Wizard, Levi will need to come up with a plan.

If the other party harbors evil intentions as a dark wizard, I cannot let a threat grow unchecked.

When in doubt, extreme darkness enslavement!

Act decisively while he's weak, to prevent troubles down the line.

Even betting against a Legendary Wizard, just reincarnated, Levi is still a bit naive, might need to trouble the Black Abyss Sovereign.

"Why does it feel like I am outwitting a newborn baby."

...

Time passes.

Six years later, the year 786 of the Nora Calendar.

Under the care of his parents, Heim grew up carefree.

Though he was conceived for three years before being born, he didn't display any extraordinary talent, like a normal child, he slowly learned to walk and talk.

He was quiet by nature, not fond of socializing, often hiding alone in his parents' study reading books.

The contents he explored widely, many being legendary stories compiled by mortals, bards' absurd tales, and more.

This reinforced Levi's belief that Heim was a Legendary Wizard reincarnated, deliberately concealing his abilities.

Putting himself in Heim's shoes, if he were a Legendary Wizard reincarnated, he would certainly do the same.

On this day, Lillian brought little Heim to visit Uncle Levi...

"Heim, you must become an excellent wizard, study well with Uncle."

Before leaving, Lillian and Pique repeatedly instructed that Heim will mainly cultivate at the Emperor's Palace, but they can visit anytime.

"I understand, Mother."

Heim responded obediently, quiet as a girl, looking at Levi in his white robe.

"Hello, Uncle."

Levi smiled faintly.

"Are you a Legendary Wizard reincarnated?"

Heim:...

He looked at Levi in confusion, his big eyes blinking.

"What is a Legendary Wizard?"

Levi saw the little one didn't seem to be pretending, maybe he was overthinking it.

In theory, a Legendary Wizard reincarnated would retain memories, Levi's sudden question might stir emotions deep within.

"Heim, from now on I will be your teacher. You will become an apprentice wizard of the Ocean School of Thought. Do you agree?"

"Hello, Teacher."

Just like that.

Levi took what he thought might be a Legendary Wizard reincarnated apprentice, beginning their secluded cultivation at the Emperor's Palace.

Perhaps due to the Three Water Talents, Heim seemed to walk a path opposite of the Three Flames Talent.

This little guy was too gentle.

Gentle as the waters of Mirror Lake, seemingly missing some of the typical joys and sorrows, unable to express strong emotions towards anything.

This might not be a bad thing, at least Heim unlikely to become extremely wicked.

Time flies, like a flash.

Day by day Heim grew up, not disappointing the Three Water Talents. Besides the Water Element Child, the other two special talents are likely top-level as well.

A year later.

Seven-year-old Heim became an official wizard, completing the path Levi took decades to finish.

Three years later.

Ten-year-old Heim was already preparing to advance to the second-circle.

Levi worried he advanced too fast, encouraged him to accumulate more, not rush.

Damn, this child is unreasonable.

Just because you're a Legendary reincarnation you can do whatever?

Six years later.

Sixteen-year-old Heim still became a Second-Circle Wizard, the youngest among all the Second-Circle Wizards in the Tower of Dawn.

Sixteen years marks adulthood in this world, on this day, Levi called Heim over.

"Heim, as a member of the Ancient Dragon Continent, you must adhere to the corresponding virtues and discipline. Now that you've grown up, you'll need to make an oath on Excalibur, follow me and recite."

Levi thought.

Now, if you are a Legendary Wizard reincarnated, can you really remain unrattled?

Normally, Legendary Wizards wouldn't easily make oaths that restrict themselves.

Excalibur was left by Sauron, a Nine-level Treasure with strong control.

Even as a Legendary reincarnation, in the lowly second-circle realm, it cannot be violated.

Heim's ocean-blue eyes were like calm bays, he said:

"Alright, Hall Master, I understand."

Levi contemplated.

"Could it be Heim is not a Legendary reincarnation, but a Three Water prodigy I actually found?"

In thousands of years of Ancient Dragon Continent's history, no top-level native genius has been born. Lisa was brought back from the ancient tower.

Levi always hoped to see a top-level genius emerge, never expecting such a grand entrance.

Just like that.

Heim made the oath, accompanied by the shadow of Sea Dragon Huang merging into Heim's body, the contract took effect.

Levi felt slightly reassured.

"Maybe I've been too suspicious."

Since Roger told him the secret of Legendary reincarnation, he viewed many people as reincarnates.

Having cultivated with Heim closely, Levi indeed saw no issues.

The Ancient Dragon Continent is about to have a super genius second only to him. Properly nurtured, the future spot of a supernova, Heim will surely claim one.

Levi repeatedly advised him not to disclose his talents, merely as the Water Element Child.

Now it's the year 796 of the Nora Calendar, the 585th year of the Blood Battle, Levi is 1220 years old.

In past years, although not actively demon-hunting, he earned numerous war merits due to the Dark Tribulation and demon invasions, now accumulated over 5 billion, able to trade for Sun Refining Artifact.

Heim has grown to adulthood, extraordinarily intelligent, now focusing on self-study, Levi guiding.

Chapter 2384: Three Water Talents! Water Element Holy Body!

...

Sauron Continent.

Blood Battle Temple.

"It's been a long time, Sir Levi."

The Rock King saw Levi and smiled in greeting.

Levi exchanged some pleasantries.

Five hundred million war merits exhausted, the lottery began, and the name of the artifact slowly emerged.

[Tear of the Water God].

Levi breathed a sigh of relief.

"Fortunately, it's something usable."

On the list of exchangeable artifacts outside, Levi did not see this oddity, [Tear of the Water God]. It seems there are still many hidden treasures in the random artifact pool.

Unfortunately, he had already used up all his random artifact draws; next, it would depend on his Three Avatars, Hundred Flowers, and Triss.

If they could exchange for a Thunder God Series artifact or a combo artifact of Elemental Proof that he needed, it would be great.

Overall, it was a very successful lottery, much better than drawing some obscure poisonous or Dark Faction artifacts.

...

Tower of Summer Flowers.

Elena was still refining her wizard tower, clearly not planning to finish it until it was perfect.

She also invited quite a few array wizards from the Witch's Family and the Tower of Dawn to join in the construction.

Life was overly fulfilling now.

Wizards, knights, the path of the Energy Sect, and researching medicine with Triss, refining the wizard tower... Levi wasn't as busy as her.

This is the benefit of ample lifespan.

Levi called Elena over and said:

"I bought you a necklace."

Elena's expression slightly changed, then she showed a look of delight: "Could it be the Tear of the Water God? Where did you get it from? A draw? I didn't see this oddity on the list."

Levi nodded.

He took out a treasure-blue necklace, like a string of blue gemstones, and at the center pendant was a tear-shaped blue crystal.

Rich water elemental power surged, Truth Runes flickered, and there seemed to be the aura of the sea.

Elena's eyes rimmed red, embracing Levi in silent gratitude. Levi placed the necklace on her snowy neck: "Go refine it."

After refining this artifact, Hundred Flowers had collected necklaces, earrings, rings, and other artifacts of the Water God Series, including two Bright Moons, one Morning Star, one Radiant Sun, and the Water God Body talent, which should count as a Complete Body; the remaining small pieces make little difference.

Anyway, there's no such thing as a set effect for these Sequential Artifacts.

From Levi's current research, Divine-level Sequential Artifacts, after collecting enough two Bright Moon artifacts, could indeed birth things like the [Thunder Magic Net] and the [Call of the Sea], an extraordinary perception ability.

...

Four years later.

Blood Battle Year 589.

Unknowingly, it had already been the 800th year of the Nora Calendar, nearing the end of the first millennium of the Nora Epoch.

Alexandra and Elsie advanced to the seven-circle, and the dragon descendant wizards in the Sleeping Dragon Domain were greatly encouraged.

After meeting her father, Alexandra embarked on a demon-hunting journey with Elsie.

With the [Purple-Green Treasure Armor] bestowed by Ace and a soul artifact and wizard form that were well-known, the two women, though newly entered the seven-circle, maneuvered adeptly on the battlefield.

In Gondor City.

After setting new millennium goals, Gandalf Pharmacy and Fire Dragon Sky Work surged forward on the tide of the times. .

Toby inherited the title of his predecessor, [Fire God's Hammer], advancing on the path of dual factions to the senior realm of the sixth-circle.

His powerful talents began to unfold.

The initial five master refiners of the Fire Dragon Sky Work, "Gold, Silver, Copper, Iron, and Tin," were collectively known as the [Fire Dragon Five Metals].

The dwarf kingdom's Silverbeard advanced to the Sixth Circle Perfection Realm, as a longevity species, it too had hopes of reaching the seventh-circle in the future.

The human Iron Teeth found it hard on the cultivation path, feeling the seventh-circle was unlikely, prompting him to consider the issue of an heir.

Golden Eye finally discovered its own identity; it actually contained the blood of the [Golden Spirit Clan] from the ancient times of the Nora Continent—a race naturally sensitive to metals, skilled in weapon-making.

Copper Ear, as an elf with a long lifespan, was now also at the Sixth Circle Perfect Cultivation, with hopes of reaching the seventh-circle.

The only rare treasure master among the Five Metals, Zion, was himself a genius wizard who had advanced to the primordial soul at 500, gaining Docket's inheritance, with quite some fortune. Now he was also close to the perfect realm of the sixth-circle.

On the Blood Battle Battlefield.

The supernova Link ascended to the Sixth Circle Perfection Realm, having cultivated for just over 800 years with hopes to reach the seventh-circle before the millennium.

Most impressively, his path of the Energy Sect had never been neglected.

As those prodigious evildoers who previously dominated the seventh-level demon-slaying list successively ascended to the seven-circle and to the eighth-level list, on this special day of the 800th year of Nora, Link officially topped the list.

Generation after generation of talents emerged, each leading the way for hundreds of years; it was once Dusk Hall Master, and now it was Link.

Link's fangirls praised: "This era is named the Demon Tears Divine Sword!"

Shadow Queen Aya ranked fifth on the list, unmoved for a long time.

In the Ancient Banyan Fairyland.

Seeing the newspaper headline of Link topping the list, Levi showed a gratifying smile.

"The world ultimately belongs to the young. Link, through his efforts, proved he is not Little Victor; he is uniquely himself."

In the Imperial Palace.

After a few years, Heim's cultivation at twenty years old had grown quite a bit more. Levi advised him to take it easy with his cultivation, as haste leads to waste.

The grown-up and handsome Heim still maintained a gentle demeanor akin to water.

He treated people with extreme politeness, with an extraordinarily humble personality, so perfect it seemed almost unreal.

Suddenly.

A not-too-large yet potent elemental tide surged from the direction of the Tower of Summer Flowers.

Elena opened her eyes, placing her hands on the Klein Crystal Ball.

"Spiritual Force 11,434, an increase of more than eight hundred points in one fell swoop; it feels great. I've also stepped into the Seven Rings Perfect Realm, not far from Maximum. This is the power of the Sun Refining Artifact, indeed.

However, as Levi said, leveraging external artifacts to boost spiritual force too quickly can lead to instability, and it now requires careful stabilization."

Levi appeared.

"How do you feel?"

"Great, thanks~"

Elena spoke, as she placed her forehead against an ability-testing crystal.

"Take a look."

Levi focused his mind to see.

On the azure sea representing the Water Element Child, there was a faintly discernible blue-robed figure, vaguely female in appearance, standing gracefully like a green lotus.

"Though there is still a sense of incompleteness, it has almost become a complete Water God Body... Additionally, the special talents born from my previous water system artifacts have all been absorbed by the Water God Body."

Elena snapped her fingers, and her form turned ethereal, dispersing as an invisible mist.

At this moment, she seemed to merge into a billion water elemental particles, blending into the water elements of this world, integrating with Heaven and man, leaving no trace. Seeing the state of Hundred Flowers, Levi blurted out.

"Elemental Holy Body?"

Chapter 2385: Ancient Secrets! Blood Dark Dragon King and Star Dragon King! Ultimate Creation!

In the void, the invisible water elements gathered before Levi like a never-ending river.

Within the water curtain, Elena's figure, like water ripples, emerged once again.

"The elemental holy body that only a Grand Wizard possesses, isn't it amazing? I'm not sure if it's a function of the Tear of the Water God or the Water God Body.

However, compared to the elemental holy body of the Grand Wizard, it's different. It has a time limit; with my current cultivation, it lasts about a quarter of an hour, after which I need to rest for a day.

Moreover, a Grand Wizard can annihilate everything into elemental particles, something I can't do. But it's more than enough to ensure safety against level 8 enemies.

Unless the enemy possesses a special treasure that limits the elemental holy body's power, I can handle anyone below level 9 with ease.

Regardless, to call it an elemental holy body might be an exaggeration; perhaps it can be called the [Water Element Undying Body]."

The elemental holy body is one of the chasms between a Grand Wizard and an eighth-circle wizard. To some extent, it's similar to Levi's Undying Body ability, but it offers more varied functions. Hundred Flowers has obtained a low-tier version of it.

Neither the effectiveness nor the varieties of the functions can compare to the original. But for opponents below a Grand Wizard, it could be considered a small "dimensional reduction strike."

Levi:

"Your [Water Element Undying Body] is more than enough. Where on earth are there so many level 9 experts?"

Elena smiled.

"From now on, when I go demon-hunting, you won't need to worry about me; I can completely protect myself."

Levi nodded.

"Are there any other changes?"

Elena said:

"All nine of my innate spells have been enhanced to some extent, but the degree of enhancement seems less than your Fire Dragon Tribulation. It might be because the effect of the Sun Refining Artifact was distributed among them."

"That's possible, but it's still very good. Gains and losses," Levi comforted her.

He only enhanced one spell, whereas Hundred Flowers enhanced nine spells. In comparison, there's no better or worse.

Hundred Flowers then showed Levi her current complete form [Water God Projection], which, like a Heavenly Earth Transformation, was guarded by a three-thousand-meter tall blue-robed phantom, more powerful than even Hundred Flowers' current wizard form.

Finally, she summoned her accompanying spiritual creature [Sky Water Stingray].

This was something she obtained by refining the [Water God's Joy], and after continuous enhancement, the stingray, like the legendary giant kun, with a wingspan of nine thousand meters, seemed to float in the void like a continent.

The stingray's eyes were sapphire blue and exceptionally lively, as if they might come alive.

In terms of level, this stingray's current quality is above Levi's [Si Lei], though Levi's cultivation is higher, and the strength of Si Lei is still greater than this stingray.

From the divine-level sequence artifacts refined by herself and Elena, no matter how many components there are, only one accompanying spiritual creature can emerge.

It could emerge in a small item or a large item, but the final result is the same.

As long as the sequence artifacts are fully collected, one can eventually get a complete accompanying spiritual creature and a projection of the god of the elements. [Thunder God] and [Si Lei], [Water God] and [Sky Water Stingray].

The divine-level sequence artifacts of other Elementalist Schools are likely the same.

After hundreds of years, with her own and Hundred Flowers' dual methods, they barely managed to achieve a complete Water God sequence. Such difficulty is unimaginable for other wizards. Being able to collect a king-level sequence artifact during the era of Blood Battle is already very good.

Hundred Flowers' breakthrough calls for celebration.

Celebration helps alleviate fatigue and release pressure, making it undoubtedly the best choice for relaxation.

Ten days later.

An exhausted Elena lay drenched in sweat beside Levi.

Levi said:

"Take the time to consolidate your realm now. Don't go demon-hunting until you advance to the eighth circle; there are no Water God artifacts for you to exchange at the Blood Battle Store anymore. The remaining Water God sequence components all depend on luck."

Elena, slightly panting, replied:

"I understand. Now that I have the Water God Body, my future plans are clearer, and I'm more confident about advancing to Grand Wizard. Thank you."

After some tender days, Levi put on his clothes and left the Tower of Summer Flowers as vigorous as ever, feeling pleased with himself.

"This [Indomitable Secret Word] is truly marvelous..."

Elena watched the tireless Levi, feeling as though she was the one drained.

She lay quietly on the bed, contemplating her future plans.

First, stabilize the surge of spiritual force. During this time, practice the Energy Sect and path of knights, complementing energy and spirit, achieving harmonious unity.

Second, complete the refining of the wizard tower in one go, possessing an accessory for attack and defense, and a treasure to ensure escape and survival.

Third, learn more advanced pharmacist knowledge with Lucy and Triss. This [Witch Trace Return Potion] project is a great opportunity.

Fourth, imprint the witch trace.

Wait for the Witch Trace Return Potion to be developed, redo the scattered traces, and attempt again. Fifteen traces are more than sufficient, and she might even try for twenty-two.

The longer lifespan she possesses is her greatest reliance. Not to mention, with the combination of [Water Element Child] + [Water God Body]. Even if compared to a reincarnated Legendary Wizard, her conditions might not be much worse.

Fifth, collect physique-related bloodline crystals, striving to evolve the breathing technique to mythical level before advancing to the eighth circle. The higher quality the bloodline, the more lifespan extension it provides.

Now, with Levi's secret technique's hundred percent amplification, she must fully leverage the lifespan advantage. To accompany Levi for longer, she especially needs to do so.

Chapter 2386: Ancient Secrets! Blood Dark Dragon King and Star Dragon King! Ultimate Creation! (part 2)

Wizard: Starting With the Knights Breathing Method

If conditions allow, bloodline crystals from those with a long lifespan are preferable.

Turtles, shells, trees... and legendary creatures related to them generally fit the criteria.

Stacking layer upon layer, her lifespan would inevitably reach a terrifying extent.

Through years of cultivation, she realized she belonged to the type who may not reach the top level in any single domain but was proficient in multiple fields.

Energy Sect, knight, wizard.

These professions influence and promote each other, and with a long lifespan as a guarantee, whichever path to legend is first paved will be chosen.

"Too tired, let's have a good sleep first."

She closed her eyes, entering dreamland with a smile.

...

A year later.

Nora Calendar, year 801.

Blood Battle, year 590.

Ancient Banyan Fairyland.

Levi awoke from meditation, placing his hand on the Klein Crystal Ball.

[Spiritual Force: 17666/25550]

...

"Getting closer and closer to the eighth-circle senior. By the time I return from the ancient tower next time, it should be nearly there."

He opened the proficiency panel.

Through years of honing, both "Thousand Thunder" and "Eight-direction Fierce Sun" are not far from the nineteenth level, which is the eight-ring limit, likely within a century.

These sequential spells see a sharp increase in difficulty beyond the eight-ring realm, being supreme methods pointed directly at the legendary realm.

"Small-scale Fragmentation Technique" is also at the eighteenth level, still a distance from the limit.

"Leonardo's Sound Barrier" at the seventeenth level, when layered onto the Shadow Dragon Group at this stage, can withstand attacks even from the primordial soul, proving extremely useful in group battles. .

"Sea God Armor" at the sixteenth level, can compress seawater within tens of miles range into armor, with such mass distorting space.

"Sea and Field" at the sixteenth level, every day for sixty years, Levi's first task was practicing spells over the Ancient Dragon Continent.

Through measurements, the continental area increased by one percent. This is just the seven-circle standard; post-eighth-circle, the pace of land reclamation can further progress.

Beyond a high wizard realm, one can control the precision of land reclamation, retaining waterways, lakes, and oceans in certain places.

This facilitates himself or organization members in employing Ocean Faction spells or water-related techniques. All land isn't optimal either.

The final one, "Sea's Delta" is also at the sixteenth level standard.

Before Levi lay two additional crystal balls.

One for "Eight-direction Thunder Movement," the other for "Snowfall Without Trace," both eight-circle spells, top-quality, with straightforward functions.

The former establishes eight thunder shadow duplications in a range of ten thousand miles centered on oneself. Indistinguishable from the original, they're hard to differentiate.

The original can choose any thunder shadow to merge with, commanding all to flee in eight directions, thereby confusing enemies and securing one's safety.

This is the "Thunder Escape Technique" of the Eight Environments realm, a signature survival spell of the Thunder Sect.

Levi had seen Destruction Realm Thunder use it in projection. Even legendary wizards reincarnate utilize it, proving its worthiness.

"Snowfall Without Trace," is the "Ice Escape Technique," allowing one to instantaneously vanish through icy landscapes, teleporting to any region within ten thousand miles, escaping swiftly.

Levi earlier learned "Fire Jump," "Shrinking Land," "Flowing Wind Without Determination," and "Sea as a Boat," these four major escape methods.

In the wizarding world's spell classification, these are collectively termed "Elemental Transmission Technique."

Their teleportation principles differ from the Void Shuttling Technique, as they utilize advanced element manipulation.

Thus, conventional void blockade methods cannot constrain elemental transmission spells.

Mastering these six spells, Levi essentially realized full-terrain escape methods, and with Void Travel and [Invisible Secret Word], they complement each other.

This ensures absolute security.

Soon, Levi initiated these two spells, inscribing nine Witch Marks.

Currently, the Nightmare Traveler technique is nearing its limit, yet there's no trace of the nightmare dragon clan. Levi plans to wait approximately a hundred years post-maximum.

Lately, he doesn't intend to mingle on the Blood Battle Battlefield, the security of the Ancient Dragon Continent is assured. Though hexagons are more perfect, pentagons are certainly sufficient.

"Speaking of which, Ayak has been gone for six hundred years. When he left, I was a Sixth-Circle Wizard; now I'm eighth-circle, and he's still not back; that guy can really wander."

Glancing at Jin snoozing in his mind, Levi couldn't help but recall the wandering Ayak.

"The Spider King has been hanging around the Land of Darkness near the Burning Rock World for nearly three hundred years. This time, I'll visit and inspect the work, and perhaps capture a few Amethyst Race members. My wizard tower has some of every rare metal except amethyst."

Occasionally some amethyst crystals appear on the market, but their quality is generally low, inadequate for refining a wizard tower, and they are challenging to obtain.

"Lord Dragon King, it seems Little Gray is about to undergo tribulation," the Black Lotus Beast materialized. Little Gray is the affectionate term for the Ash Dragon among Dragon Palace members.

Levi was moved, he must witness the tribulation of the legendary dragon clan; it might provide insights for his own path of knights.

...

Flaming Mountain.

"What terrifying momentum."

"Indeed, much grander than when we advanced to rank six."

The majestic Dragons hid far in the towering mountains, gazing at the central volcano.

Chapter 2387: Ancient Secrets! Blood Dark Dragon King and Star Dragon King! Ultimate Creation! (part 3)

A gray-black giant dragon, exuding high temperature and ashes, flapped its wings and looked up at the sky.

Rolling ashes surged into the sky like a torrent, forming boundless clouds that spread across the earthly realm.

Levi's figure appeared.

"As expected of the legendary Dragon Clan."

The sky darkened, shadows enveloping the Earth.

Near the Flaming Mountain, only the colors black, white, and gray were visible, with no other hues.

Levi's expression changed.

"Is this the omen of the Ashen World's arrival, is this the calamity of the Ash Dragon?"

At the same time.

The Ashen World of Ancient Banyan Fairyland.

Windmill Village.

The silver-armored Knight Owens, seated beneath the great windmill, lifted his head, his calm gaze turning joyful.

"Ashen Lord."

The fallen objects spawned by the Ashen World all raised their heads simultaneously, their forms terrifying and deformed, even more dreadful than the native nightmare creatures of the Nightmare World, emanating ominous death energy that corrupted all life force.

They all rushed toward the Flame Mountain World, overwhelming and countless.

Owens murmured.

"At last, an Ashen Lord has resurrected, this fragmented world has hope."

His body collapsed, transforming into a silver light, exuding a distinct life force, brilliant and luminous, flying toward the Flame Mountain.

If the "Ashen World" of Ancient Banyan Fairyland is the Inner World, then Ancient Banyan Fairyland is the Outer World.

At this moment, the Flaming Mountain of the outer world was an apocalyptic scene.

The space around the Ash Dragon resembled two colliding mirrors, one colorful, the other black and white.

Crackling, cracks spread all over.

In the black-and-white world, all the fallen objects gathered into a thousand-meter-tall, six-level mid-stage sinister giant monster.

"The disaster of the pure-blooded Dragon Clan lacks the Blood Tribulation Master... Well, indeed, why would one inflict calamity upon oneself? The difficulty of such a tribulation is far more terrifying than the three calamities and four disasters faced by most wizards. However, correspondingly, although the Ash Dragon has just entered level six, its battle power is beyond comparison to wizards, so overall, the difficulty is not great."

Before long, the Ash Dragon used its dragon breath and fire to tear the sinister giant monster to pieces, scattering into gray crystals all over the ground.

The Ash Dragon easily overcame the tribulation, and the sky's ashes poured into its body, its aura continuously increasing, eventually stabilizing at the early stage of level six cultivation.

A silver light also entered its body, which Levi noticed.

"That was Owens from the Ashen World corresponding to Ancient Banyan Fairyland."

He had a moment of enlightenment, as a Fate Coin flew out.

"Unyielding Silver Seat, Owens!"

An Owens radiating level seven aura appeared out of thin air, asking:

"What is it? Why have you summoned me so frequently lately?"

Levi sighed in relief.

This Owens was still present.

"It's nothing, you can return now."

Owens looked at Levi suspiciously and was then disturbed by the Ash Dragon.

"It's level six now."

Owens slowly dissipated, with a trace of hope in his eyes before leaving.

Levi once again entered the Ashen World, wandering and inspecting the gray-white Ancient Banyan Fairyland.

"All the fallen have disappeared."

Finally, he went to the location of Windmill Village.

Windmill Village was also gone, empty and desolate.

The world was silent, only he remained, and... a dragon.

"Everything is normal here."

A tender yet ancient voice came.

It was the Ash Dragon.

Levi smiled and asked:

"Have you recovered your memory, sir?"

The Ash Dragon shook his head.

"I have only recovered a trace of memory from my past life, most of it still belongs to this life. I only know that my name is Borius Kasedo. Thank you for your care during this time."

Levi said:

"You're welcome, we each had our needs."

From beginning to end, he had never used enslavement or Dragon's Might on the Ash Dragon, it was hundreds of years of companionship that made the Ash Dragon, before advancing to level six, rely on him.

Levi asked:

"Do you know what's going on with the Ashen World? It seems I saw your past life being killed by a level 10 strongman from the Nightmare World."

The Ash Dragon asked:

"How much do you know about the ancient times?"

Levi shook his head.

"The wizard civilization evolved from the ancient, fragmented spellcaster civilization. There are no corresponding historical records before antiquity, many are myths or archaeological findings of uncertain truth."

Every civilization has its own era division system. For example, the wizard civilization considers the establishment of the congress as the end of the Nora Antiquity Age, while the division between ancient and antiquity is rather vague. Events before the birth of those civilizations are unclear.

The Ash Dragon said:

"In my inherited memories, there is some information about ancient times that may answer your questions. In distant, untraceable ages, at that time, the Nora humans had not yet been born. The entire Sauron Plane, and even the broader Multidimensional Plane. The rulers were the Giant civilization."

Levi said:

"That I know, Frost Giant Yugmir is the Ancestor of Giants, who once led the Giant Clan to rebel against God and failed, directly leading to the decline of the Giant Clan. Now they are like sea relics, hard to find, leaving only some bloodline descendants."

This is a more mainstream view formed through the wizard civilization's research on the history of the Giant Clan, and today the Frost Witch Gullwig is possibly a bloodline holder of Yugmir.

The Ash Dragon was silent for a moment and said:

"Yes, that's about right. The demise of the Giant civilization is widely recognized as the end of the ancient era in the Multidimensional Plane. But before the Giant civilization, do you know which civilization dominated the world?"

Chapter 2388: Ancient Secrets! Blood Dark Dragon King and Star Dragon King! Ultimate Creation! (part 4)

"Dragon Clan?"

"Yes, as inherently powerful beings, dragons once established a mighty civilization. It was an era when the Dragon Clan flourished. Among them, the most powerful were two giant dragons, Blood Dark Dragon KingOdyssey and Star Dragon KingOgranian. They were brothers, the overlords of most of the Mythical Dragon Clan in the dragon era, so powerful that many Gods felt fear."

"Did they reach Level 11?"

"I'm not sure, maybe they did, maybe they didn't. This era is so distant that what has been passed down are merely fragmented memory bits, like tangled threads, difficult to unravel. However, I think they probably did. Many Legendary Dragon Clan tales related to negative energy, death, shadow, darkness, blood, etc., are associated with the Blood Dark Dragon King. In contrast, positive energies like flame, light, earth, thunder, are related to the Star Dragon King."

Levi pondered.

The information on the Ash Dragon was similar to the knowledge about the Blood Dark Dragon King he obtained from Lowe.

Lowe acquired it from the ancient Blood Clan, and the two sources verified each other, so it should be true. Following the consistent pattern of such legends, Levi asked:

"Did these two brothers turn against each other?"

The Ash Dragon was surprised.

"How did you know?"

Levi smiled and said:

"I guessed."

The Ash Dragon replied:

"Yes, the two brothers were too powerful. The territories they conquered with the Dragon Clan across the Multidimensional Plane were larger than the Giant Empire, far surpassing the current Sauron Plane...

Of course, it wasn't because the ancestor of wizards, Sauron, was weak, but compared to the long-lived giants and giant dragons, Sauron, though powerful, was like a flash in the pan, soon disappearing from sight.

Yet, the giant dragons had enough vigor and time to wage wars across the Multidimensional Plane, where countless races, including so-called large civilizations, trembled under the overwhelming Dragon Flames.

This era was called by some Ancient Dragons as the [Expedition of the Double Dragons]. Until both Dragon Kings reached their later years, they had a disagreement, the reason unknown.

Later, the two Dragon Kings and the Dragon Clan they led eventually erupted into a world-shaking war, destroying an unknown number of planes. This battle lasted ten thousand years.

The final outcome was the fall of the Blood Dark Dragon King, whose body was devoured by surviving Ancient Dragons, giving birth to many first-generation negative energy Dragons.

Although the Star Dragon King was victorious, it came at a high cost. It went insane for reasons unknown.

Its consciousness began to split, eventually becoming two entities, one being a [Star Beast] and the other a [Ten Thousand King Dragon], and you should know the fates of these two entities."

Levi's expression subtly changed.

He looked up at the stars in the sky.

"Did these two choose to become gods? To become divine beings?"

The Ash Dragon said:

"Yes."

Levi's heart was shocked.

He didn't expect that among the seven orthodox gods, two originated from a dragon, no wonder the relationship between the [Lord of the Stars] and the [King of Ten Thousand Dragons] seemed quite good. During the prior Dark Wave Revival, the Church of the Stars and the Church of the Dragon God even joined forces against the enemy. It turned out they were both alter egos of the Star Dragon King.

Split into two, both could become leading gods of the astral world, the Star Dragon King must have been infinitely close to Level 11 or was Level 11.

As his prowess increased, Levi realized, despite the seven Orthodox Churches seeming weak in the mundane world, the seven orthodox gods were by no means simple. Otherwise, Sauron wouldn't have needed to make a treaty with the seven orthodox gods initially; he could have destroyed them directly, given that he was a Level 11 formidable being.

He said:

"Perhaps the disagreement of the two Dragon Kings is inseparable from the astral world: those lofty divine beings are better than devils at inciting the heart and dismantling enemies from within."

The Ash Dragon replied:

"That might be one reason; the Double Dragons were too strong and too unchecked. The planes they invaded were many places of faith for the gods of the astral world, not to be touched by others."

Levi asked:

"How is this related to the Ashen World?"

The Ash Dragon said:

"This involves another possible reason for the Double Dragons' disagreement. In countless past life memory fragments, I once visited a sage among the giant dragons, who could be more erudite than any of your legendary wizards."

Levi was slightly incredulous.

The Ash Dragon said:

"This sage was a Time Dragon."

Levi believed.

The Time Dragon, also called the "Dragon of Time Control" or the "Dragon of Timeless Slumber," was so mysterious and powerful that its existence appeared only in fragments in wizarding texts. Throughout history, no one, including Legendary Wizards, had truly seen it.

The Time Dragon exists on a different dimension than ordinary lives. Some say it lives in a concept-like age, so myriad beings can never observe it unless you can see something as ethereal as the River of Time.

Seeing is believing. Whether the Time Dragon exists is currently undetermined in academia. Considering the Ash Dragon's remarks, it likely exists.

If Levi were to publish a paper tomorrow, it might stir up a huge commotion in the Dragon School of Thought and even the entire Wizarding World.

The Ash Dragon said:

"In fact, among the Dragon Clan, very few have seen or know of Time Dragons.

It's thanks to my constant reincarnation trait that I was fortunate enough to meet a Time Dragon who voluntarily appeared before me. As the Dragon of Time Control, it lived longer than any other Dragon Clan.

As a neutral and wise observer, it witnessed the history of both the era of dragons and the era of giants and discovered an astonishing secret.

Chapter 2389: Ancient Secrets! Blood Dark Dragon King and Star Dragon King! Ultimate Creation! (part 5)

Whether it is the expedition of the Double Dragons or the giants' divine war, in these seemingly unrelated long ages and histories, there is a vague [Shadow] throughout. The Time Dragon calls it [Mr. Ghost]."

Levi frowned slightly.

"Even the Time Dragon cannot see its true face?"

The Ash Dragon answered:

"Yes, this [Shadow] is equally mysterious and powerful. The Time Dragon speculates that the downfall of these two powerful civilizations, the dragons and giants, might be due to the machinations of this [Shadow]."

Levi asked:

"Is it the Shadow Lord from the astral realm?"

The Ash Dragon shook its head.

"Although that one claims to be the Shadow Lord, in front of the Time Dragon, it amounts to nothing. Even the strength of the Double Dragons never dared challenge the Time Dragon.

During the dusk of the giant civilization, that shadow appeared once more and vanished again. In the subsequent ages, towards the end of antiquity, in the Multidimensional Plane, a powerful existence was born.

Its true name is unknown, claiming to be the 'Ultimate Creation' and 'Ancestor of Ten Thousand Spirits,' its strength rivaled the Double Dragons and the Frost Giant Ancestor, perhaps even stronger.

It was ambitious, wishing to accomplish the grand deeds the two civilizations failed to achieve, continuing to lead many powerful existences further into the depths of the Multidimensional Plane, until it ruled over the Multidimensional Plane.

But this inevitably violated the astral realm's interest, even the generally neutral Underworld was affected. After another indescribable battle, this Ultimate Creation also fell.

The Time Dragon suspects that this Ultimate Creation cannot be separated from that [Shadow], and certain existences in the astral realm and other giant worlds have also observed [Shadow].

But the one most associated with the [Shadow] is undoubtedly the [Shadow World] from antiquity, the Shadow World reflects upon the Multidimensional Plane, absorbing the Dark Side power of the planes, continually expanding.

If it continues to expand, even those giant worlds might also fall under its shadow.

Thus, the super war that ended the ancient era broke out, a battle even the Time Dragon dared not easily observe. The battle process is unknown. The result is that the Shadow World was shattered.

Various terrifying powers simultaneously penetrated this world, ash flew, and no life force remained.

Since then, the connection between the Shadow World and the Dark Side of planes has been severed, continually weakening and collapsing.

Only those independent Dark Sides remained, clinging to the Multidimensional Plane, lifeless.

These Dark Sides are the Ashen World.

Separated from the Shadow World, the Ashen World began its path of self-evolution, many Ashen Lords were thus born. I am one of them, the dark side I was born from is precisely Nora's Dark Side. You should also be aware of the subsequent Nightmare invasion."

After listening, Levi pondered deeply.

"Did you hear all this from the Time Dragon?"

The Ash Dragon nodded, somewhat proud. .

"These hidden histories are known by only a few in the entire Sauron Plane, ordinary historians could spend a lifetime and only glimpse the tip of the iceberg. Only the Time Dragon can somewhat completely describe it."

Levi smiled and said:

"Then, thank you for telling me."

The Ash Dragon hesitated for a moment and said:

"Actually, I tell you this because of the Time Dragon's reason too. Do you know when the [Shadow] last appeared?"

Levi guessed some in his heart.

"Please enlighten me."

The Ash Dragon said solemnly:

"At the end of Nora's Ancient Age."

Levi was suddenly shocked.

"Ancestor Wizard Sorren?"

The Ash Dragon shook its head.

"I don't know, the Time Dragon didn't say; perhaps Sorren is also related to that shadow, who knows? These years of interaction, I also heard from the Holy Grail of Immortality and others that you are somehow connected to Sorren. Whether true or false, you have the right to know these things, consider it repayment for your life-saving grace."

Levi did not expect that his casual inquiry about the origin of the Shadow World would be tied to so many secrets.

What exactly is that hidden [Shadow]? Double Dragons, Frost Giant Ancestor, Ultimate Creation, Ancestor Wizard... what is the connection?

He suddenly felt an urgent desire to understand these, wishing he could ask the Time Dragon face to face.

But whether the Time Dragon is still around, whether it has fallen, even if still alive, he had no qualification to meet it.

"It still depends on strength. Once I step into the legendary realm, perhaps I can unlock these secrets."

Levi asked:

"What are your plans for the future?"

The Ash Dragon replied:

"I have absorbed the will incarnation of the dark side of Ancient Banyan Fairyland, which you call Owens, and I have now become a juvenile [Ashen Lord] of this Ashen World.

You can understand it as another form of Plane Sovereign. My growth will be closely tied to Ancient Banyan Fairyland; the stronger it becomes, the stronger the dark side becomes, the stronger I become. So I won't leave, from now on, Mana is the positive sovereign of Ancient Banyan Fairyland, while I shall be the dark side sovereign."

Levi said:

"I see. So, Owens just now was the will incarnation of Nora's Dark Side? How can we save Nora's Dark Side?"

The Ash Dragon shook its head.

"With your current strength, you're still far off. Nora's Dark Side is one of the main battlefields of the Nightmare invasion; Ancient Banyan Fairyland was impacted like a small shrimp due to its proximity, so I cleared it out after my tribulation; Think about rescuing Nora only when you have legendary strength.

However, as a will incarnation of Nora's Dark Side, Owens won't die so easily.

Moreover, I suspect some of your legendary wizards are likely resisting the Nightmare forces of Nora's Dark Side.

Chapter 2390: Ancient Secrets! Blood Dark Dragon King and Star Dragon King! Ultimate Creation! (part 6)

The dark side is not essential to the plane, but without it, some completeness is lost.

In ancient times, with the connection between the dark side and the Shadow World, fast planar travel could be realized, just like astral world travel. But not anymore; between each dark side, only faint symbiotic connections remain, long isolated from the world."

Levi asked:

"Is there any possibility of the Shadow World being repaired?"

The Ash Dragon said:

"There shouldn't be. I believe the astral world would be the first to prevent the Shadow World from being repaired."

After speaking, the Ash Dragon's figure disappeared from Levi's sight, seemingly entering the Ancient Banyan Dark Side for rest. It must remain vigilant to prevent Nightmare forces from infiltrating again.

Levi did not disturb it. He looked at the puzzled Dragon Palace People and smiled, saying:

"Disperse now, tonight we shall celebrate the Ash Dragon's promotion to level six, ranked as the 'Sky Burning Dragon General.'

With the Ash Dragon's promotion, the early elders of the Dragon Palace, excluding mixed-blood dragons restricted by bloodline, all other sub-dragons and pure-blooded Dragon Clan were promoted to level six.

...

Time passed.

Despite knowing those secret pieces of knowledge, Levi wasn't troubled with undue anxiety.

Such worry serves no purpose. Focusing on the present and continuing cultivation and strengthening steadily suffices.

On this day.

While practicing the spell, an attendant reported that a distinguished guest has arrived, none other than the Grand Wizard. Hearing the name, Levi's expression remained unmoved, yet he stirred slightly inwardly.

"Golden Wanderer."

...

In the reception room.

"What brings Sir Florio to visit the Ancient Dragon Continent?"

Levi asked with a smile.

The golden-haired wizard in front, whose gaze is profound and whose spiritual force is vast like the sea, with a faint flicker of electric light in his pupils, smiled:

"I have long heard of the Dusk Palace Master's reputation as a peerless genius throughout the ages, and meeting today is a testament to the name."

Levi humbly replied:

"It's nothing worth mentioning. Whether I can reach the ninth-circle is uncertain. If you have any matters, it's better to state them directly."

The Golden Wanderer hesitated, then laughed, saying:

"So decisive. I admire young people like you the most. I heard the Palace Master has provided shelter for Louise and that group of the Ancient Tomb race, is that true?"

Levi responded:

"Yes, these alien races have already been registered and acquired Nora residence permits, and my Ancient Dragon Continent has processed relevant formalities, personally handled by the Wanderer of the Vast Sea. Could it be that the Golden Wanderer, as Deputy Director, is unaware?"

The Golden Wanderer laughed:

"Of course, I'm aware. I have some matters I'd like to discuss face-to-face with Louise; could the Palace Master bring her here? After I talk with her, I'll take my leave."

Levi did not hesitate:

"I have no objections from my side, but it must require Louise's consent. Let me ask her for you."

Saying so, he transmitted a message to Louise and showed it to the Golden Wanderer.

"Not meeting."

Louise's reply was straightforward.

The Golden Wanderer felt a chill in his heart but maintained a warm smile.

"Please inform her that I am speaking with her as a high-ranking member of the Alien Affairs Administration and need her collaboration in my investigation."

Levi asked, "What is the inquiry about? Is there an investigation warrant? If it's within the Ancient Dragon Continent, I think Louise would cooperate."

The Golden Wanderer felt an imperceptible flash of murderous intent, then vanished, but Levi, with his sharp perception, caught this old fellow's psychological change.

"Palace Master, another distinguished guest is here to meet."

"Who?"

"DaydreamerFrodo."

Levi's expression slightly changed, and even the Golden Wanderer across from him couldn't help but react.

"Why would a legendary wizard come here?" The Golden Wanderer quickly pondered internally.

Levi was also puzzled; he reluctantly said:

"Quite an unfortunate time, Sir Florio. Do you have any more business? If not, I shall welcome the legendary wizard first."

The Golden Wanderer slightly smiled.

"Nothing worth mentioning. I'll be on my way."

He transformed into a streak of Golden Lightning, instantly vanished from the Imperial Palace, leaving no trace.

On the square in front of the Imperial Palace, a figure wearing glasses and a brown coat, looking very modest, gazed at the disappearing Golden Lightning, silently unspeaking.

Levi hurriedly arrived and politely greeted:

"My apologies for not welcoming you earlier, Frodo Senior."

He had addressed the Golden Wanderer as a peer because he felt the person was undeserving of being called senior. But before a legendary wizard, respect was imperative and not to be taken lightly.

Frodo smiled gently, accompanied by two figures beside him: the 'Phantom Wind Walker' and the 'Dream Moon Walker.'

"Let's go inside for a chat. Sir Levi, need not call me senior; as fellow seekers of truth, I believe knowledge knows no rank."

He spoke politely.

"Alright, Sir Frodo."

In the council hall.

Frodo sipped some tea and stated directly:

"I heard Sir Levi has a way to explore the Nightmare World, and the Tower of Dawn has a branch of the School of Dreams which is developing quite well, so I came to visit."

Levi remarked:

"Frankly speaking, most of this School of Dreams' knowledge comes from the inheritance of your Dreamland Steeple.

I do have a method to explore the Nightmare World, but due to limited current ability, if you wish to enter, it would greatly consume me."

Frodo laughed and said:

"I understand. If my guess is correct, your method for exploring the Nightmare World should originate from your Knight Bloodline Breathing Method."

Levi knew nothing could be concealed from a legendary wizard, so he frankly admitted.

"Yes."

Frodo asked:

"May I ask, what's the name of this breathing method?"

"Nightmare Dragon."

Upon hearing the name, Frodo pondered.

"Nightmare Dragon? Daring to take on the name of Nightmare, such Nightmare Creatures are indeed rare."

Levi knew it was rare.

Back then, he had no knowledge, initially named by the panel itself.

Frodo continued:

"As far as I know, the Knight Bloodline Breathing Method requires corresponding bloodline crystals for cultivation. With the Nightmare Dragon Method, does it require the Nightmare Dragon Clan's crystals for cultivation?"

Levi mused whether there was anything this person didn't know, like a tapeworm in his gut—no wonder he's a tough guy who escaped the Lost Monarch's maze.

"Yes, sir."

Frodo smiled and said:

"I would like to propose a trade with Sir Levi: I provide the corresponding bloodline crystals, offer knowledge and technical support to your Dream Academy, and when you're sufficiently strong, allow members of our Dreamland Steeple to enter the Nightmare World by your means to develop... This time, we wish to engage in fair competition with the Lost Monarch in the years to come."
