

Wizard 246

Chapter 246: Blood Beast Limit Breaker, Deep Sea Level 2!(4)

The second-circle potion that Witch Marlene was about to refine required the assistance of a first-circle pharmacist. However, she was the only first-circle pharmacist in the entire Gray Tower.

She could only settle for the second best which was to look for four high-level pharmacy apprentices. Unfortunately, there was only one high-level pharmacy apprentice in the Gray Tower, and it was also a high-level apprentice wizard.

There were still three people left- She found an official wizard friend and a

High-level apprentice wizard from another force.

However, the last one was still unresolved.

Unexpectedly, Levi's appearance surprised her.

Although the Bread Potion was simple, it was still a potion that only a middle-level pharmacy apprentice could master. Levi, a newcomer, could refine it in a day. This showed that Levi's talent for making potions was very high.

She felt that instead of going out to find people from other forces, it would be better to spend some time directly cultivating an apprentice wizard of her own.

Anyway, she did not lack this bit of time now.

Marlene was old.

She wanted to train an official pharmacist for the Gray Tower before she passed away. It could be considered as repaying the Tower Master for saving her life.

Naturally, Levi did not know what Marlene was thinking.

A few days later, he successfully refined a Smurf's Leap and a Blood Elf's Wail.

These two potions could only be refined by the most outstanding middle-level pharmacy apprentice.

However, the success rate of a middle-level pharmacy apprentice was not high. Levi's current success rate was only one in ten.

Generally speaking, only a high-level pharmacy apprentice could master these two potions and increase the success rate to half.

"It's more difficult than I thought. It's still too difficult for me to refine these two potions with my level 4 Pharmacy skills. I'd better use the Bread Potion and other formulas to cultivate Pharmacy to level 5 first before starting to refine them on a large scale." Levi shook his head. The cost of these two potions was relatively high, and they were not suitable for practice.

A few days later, Levi brought the successfully refined blue and red potion to Ms. Marlene.

The blue and red potions were names that Levi had come up with himself. He felt that this was more appropriate and concise.

On the third floor of the White Tower, Marlene checked Levi's potion. It seemed that she was very happy.

"Great. I've already transferred your first month's points to your account in advance. Your Pharmacy talent is even better than mine back then. From now on, practice your pharmaceutical skills well. If you don't have the money to buy materials, you can look for me. Strive to become a high-level pharmacy apprentice within half a year. At that time, I'll arrange the next task for you.

"Little Levi, your talent as a wizard is not that good. For you, perhaps the path of becoming a pharmacist is a shortcut. As long as you can become a first-circle pharmacist, your status will not be inferior to a wizard."

After Marlene finished speaking, she let Levi go back.

When Levi returned home, he opened his bracelet and saw that Ms. Marlene had given him 6 points.

It was 1 point more than what was stated in the mission.

It seemed like it was an additional reward for him.

As for his teacher's suggestion for him to become a pharmacist, Levi would consider it. He felt that being a pharmacist might be his main way of earning money in the future.

However, he would never give up on the path of the wizard.

Strength was the most important thing. Everything else was secondary.

Moreover, Levi had also learned from Ms. Marlene that in the profession of pharmacists, starting from the third-circle potion, one needed to be in the corresponding wizard realm to be able to refine it. Therefore, the path of a wizard could not be avoided.

This was also the reason why high-level pharmacists were so rare.

Of course, Ms. Marlene did not have bad intentions. She did not know that Levi had the proficiency panel and thought that it would be difficult for Levi to achieve anything on the path of a wizard.

She thought that as long as Levi became a first-circle pharmacist and lived out the rest of his life, he should be satisfied.

No matter what, Levi was in a good mood. He now had another 10 points.

First, he would buy two Green Elf's Tears to test the effects. If it could increase the upper limit of his spell power, then he might be able to refine this potion himself. It would definitely be much cheaper than buying it.

At that time, he would just have to be thick-skinned and ask Ms. Marlene for a potion formula.

White Sail Alley.

Levi spent 4 points to buy 2 Green Elf's Tears.

He returned to the ninth floor of the Gray Tower.

He sat down in a meditative position, opened the potion, and drank it in one gulp.

The potion was bitter and it tasted bad.

Levi quickly entered a meditative state.

He dived into the faint golden ocean.

In the shallow sea, Levi found something different from his usual meditation. He found some golden spots of light.

Levi had seen these specks of light in his meditation before, but they were all sparse. He did not have a systematic wizard's general education back then, so he did not know what these golden specks of light were.

Looking at it now, this was spell power.

Because his talent was average, the golden light spots he could come into contact with when he meditated were very few.

However, with the Green Elf's Tears, Levi saw a lot more light spots than before.

These light spots surged into Levi's mind, filling him with warm energy.

After Levi finished meditating, his Meditation Art proficiency increased by 1 point.

He placed his hand on the Klein Crystal ball again.

"Spiritual Force: 4"

"Spell Power: 16"

"As expected, the upper limit of my spell power has increased by 1 point."

Levi smiled.

When he meditated the next day, he drank another bottle..