

Wizard 272

Chapter 272: Capture Dragon King Whale, Second-Ring Battle, Level Nine Red Lotus! (5)

He just wanted to knock it unconscious so that he could kidnap it.

Whether it was Dragon Affinity or Wild Heart, it was impossible for Levi to tame this transcendent beast in a short period of time.

He had to bring this fellow back and slowly tame it with time, just like how he would tame an eagle.

This hammer strike was accompanied by a dull sound.

The Dragon King Whale immediately fainted.

It was half floating and half sinking in the sea, but it was still breathing.

Levi took the opportunity to take out the mithril chain he had prepared beforehand from his storage bag and tied the Dragon King Whale up firmly.

He had come out this time with the intention of taming a sea beast along the way, so he had done his preparations well.

Levi dragged the heavy Dragon King Whale and slowly swam forward.

If it wasn't for the fact that there was water, even with Levi's current extraordinary strength, it would be difficult to drag such a huge object.

By the time Levi returned to White Tower No. 9, it was already early the next morning.

At this time, most apprentice wizards had completed their missions, but there were still some who had not found a suitable target. Winnie had obviously completed her mission.

She saw Levi appear in her line of sight.

"Hehe, I killed a Hammerhead Beast."

She excitedly shared the information with Levi.

The Hammerhead Beast was a relatively powerful sea beast, with the strength of a high-level apprentice wizard.

"Congratulations, Senior Sister. You did the assessment excellently." Levi smiled.

"What about you?" Winnie asked.

Levi, on the other hand, tied the chain in his hand to White Tower No. 9's tail. Next, he had to rely on White Tower No. 9 to drag this big guy back.

A giant sea beast that was not much smaller than White Tower No. 9 appeared in the eyes of many apprentices. It has a symbolic horn, two pairs of flippers, a slender and powerful whale tail, and a blue back and white belly.

"Dragon King Whale?" Winnie exclaimed. She had seen this thing in the monster guide.

Mr. Marko's expression also changed. He asked, "This is your prey? Why didn't you kill it?"

Levi smiled embarrassedly. "Teacher, I want to catch a live one. I've learned some beast-taming techniques, so I want to see if I can tame such a sea beast."

Marko's face twitched. After taking a deep breath, he said calmly, "The Dragon King Whale is a true first-circle transcendent creature. Ordinary beast-taming techniques can't tame it unless you're a wizard from the School of Spiritualism and have mastered a true beast-taming spell."

"It's fine, Teacher. I'll just try. I'll keep an eye on this big guy. Don't worry, since I can capture it alive, I have the ability to deal with it. It won't affect our operation," Levi replied.

"Alright, to be safe, I'm going to cast another First-Ring Spell on this guy, Song of the Sirens." Marko began to chant. His voice was as ethereal and melodious as a siren. He waved his wand, and a blue light entered the body of the Dragon King Whale.

"The Song of the Sirens should be able to keep it asleep for a while, but it won't last long," Marko said.

"Thank you, Teacher. Am I considered to have completed my mission..." Levi smiled bitterly and asked.

Marko nodded. "You went beyond what you should have done. Your reward is 200 points."

The other apprentice wizards were completely dumbfounded.

They were told to hunt sea beasts, and yet he captured a first-circle transcendent creature, the Dragon King Whale, alive?

All of them were apprentice wizards, but why was there such a huge difference?

Was it too late to switch to become a knight now?

Levi ignored their gazes and looked at Noz, who was sitting quietly.

Until now, everything was normal.

Could it be that he had misunderstood Noz?

He might not be the spy.

Levi was puzzled.

He returned to the ship to recover his stamina and spiritual force, waiting for the assessment to end.

The next night, Levi estimated that the Dragon King Whale was about to wake up, so he gave it a sleeping potion, and Mr. Marko used the Song of the Sirens again.

At this time, most of the apprentices had successfully returned.

However, some apprentices were injured.

However, none of them died while hunting sea beasts.

As long as they didn't run too far away and didn't provoke those powerful sea beasts.

Under normal circumstances, it would not be life-threatening.

At noon on the third day, everyone had completed the assessment. Even the worst of them had obtained a passing grade.

Levi was the only one who received an excellent rating.

This made the other apprentices envious.

White Tower No. 9 slowly moved and headed back the way they came.

Along the way, Levi stared at the Dragon King Whale, occasionally glancing at Noz.

Even now, the Spider Sensing still sensed a hint of danger.

Levi did not dare to let his guard down.

The Spider Sensing had saved his life many times.

Therefore, Levi was very confident in the accuracy of the Spider Sensing's detection.

When White Tower No. 9 sailed out of the harbor, he saw a wooden boat docked there.

The sense of danger from the Spider Sensing instantly surged, causing Levi's hair to stand on end.

This situation meant that the enemy was very powerful!

On the bow of the wooden boat, Green Ghost Carter's face was gloomy. There were two Hell Strongmen protecting him.

On his ship, the undead creatures were roaring, and the apprentice wizards were hiding among them.

Green Ghost Carter was excited when he saw Levi on White Tower No. 9.

"Hehehe, that damn legendary knight has finally come out. This time, I must kill him!"

It had been more than half a year, and the flowers that Carter had been waiting for had withered.

He held his staff like a shaman from hell..