

Wizard 283

Chapter 283: Sacred Dragon Emissary, Favored By The Night (3)

The Night Owl Breathing Technique had a double special effect for the breathing technique.

Sound was produced by the vibrations of objects. The Advanced Hearing ability was similar to Levi's Advanced Vibrosensing, but it was slightly different.

[Advanced Hearing: Your hearing is different from ordinary people. You can hear the wind blowing, grass moving, leaves falling, and insects chirping within a kilometer.]

Advanced Hearing had a wider range of perception, but it was limited to the perception of the ear.

Although the range of the Man-Faced Spider's Advanced Vibrosensing was very small, Levi could use his skin, hair, and any other part of his body to sense it, and the depth of his perception was even deeper.

All in all, each had its advantages and disadvantages.

Other than Advanced Hearing, there was another Special Effect that was very interesting.

[Favored By The Night: Starting from dusk, your physical and mental state will gradually rise from the original foundation. When it reaches its peak at midnight, your state will be 10% higher than during the day. Then, this state will begin to decline until dawn. Your state will return to normal. This Special Effect cannot be upgraded, but the effect will be slightly improved as your realm increases.]

This Special Effect was similar to the Blood Clan's ability to increase their strength on a full moon night. The Night Owl itself was a legendary strange bird that appeared at night.

In a normal area where night and day were distinct.

At night, Levi's overall condition would be significantly improved. In terms of improvement, it was equivalent to the low-level Red Lotus Blood.

However, this Special Effect was passive, long-lasting, and long-term.

Red Lotus Blood was active and short-lived, and there was a period of weakness.

Levi muttered to himself, "In the dark of the night when killing and setting fire, this Special Effect is the strongest special effect for assassination."

Perception type of breathing technique seemed to have two initial special Special Effects.

Moreover, the Special Effects were extremely practical and powerful.

The Man-Faced Spider Breathing Technique had Spider Sensing while the Night Owl Breathing Technique had Favored By The Night.

"However, I'm currently living a good life in the Gray Tower. I don't need to assassinate anyone, so this Special Effect doesn't seem to be useful for the time being. "

Levi was holding onto his vow not to leave until he became an official wizard, so he stayed in the Gray Tower to train.

During the Month of Wheatfield, the Tower Master also came out of seclusion.

He had been repairing his body during this period.

According to Ms. Marlene, the Tower Master was researching a new alchemical body for him. If this alchemical body could be successfully refined, then the Tower Master's strength would rise to a higher level and truly reach the level of a Third-Circle Wizard.

And the part of this alchemical body was... the heart.

"The heart? Doesn't he want the human heart anymore? Although theoretically, as long as the brain is human, there would be no problem. However, this is too extreme." Levi was puzzled.

Ever since he joined the School of Alchemy, the Tower Master had abandoned

His flesh and blood body bit by bit and replaced it with an alchemy body.

His strength improved faster and faster, but the price he paid was becoming more and more unworthy of being called... a human.

In this matter, Ms. Marlene had advised the Tower Master many times, but the Tower Master still did as he pleased.

He seemed to be under a lot of pressure, forcing himself to constantly use this extreme method to transform his body and quickly increase his strength.

No one knew what the reason was, but Ms. Marlene guessed that it might be related to the Tower Master's deceased lover.

According to her, when she went to look for the Tower Master once, she accidentally saw the Tower Master hugging the head of his dead lover and talking to it.

The head was soaked in a special antiseptic solution by the Tower Master.

Therefore, she felt that the Tower Master might want to use alchemy to resurrect his lover.

But so far, the School of Alchemy does not have such technology.

In fact, there were very few School of Alchemy wizards who would modify their own bodies.

That way, his strength might increase very quickly in the early stages, but he would basically give up the possibility of further growth in the future.

Moreover, this kind of alchemy transformation seemed to continuously strip people of their emotions and desires, eventually turning them into emotionless 'alchemy puppets'.

Alchemy puppets were still good enough. Some alchemists, in the process of constantly transforming themselves, were contaminated by the alchemy prosthetics because their spiritual force and willpower weren't strong enough. They became the so-called 'Metal Lunatics', something similar to the Lunatic Knights.

Ms. Marlene had been worried about this.

However, no one could change the Tower Master's decision.

"I didn't expect the Tower Master to be an idealist who believes in love."

After Levi found out, he could not help but sigh.

This reminded him of Noz, whom he had killed.

Although the other party was a d*mn traitor, judging from his behavior before he died, he really liked Winnie. Of course, the final outcome was that he died a horrible death.

"As expected, love is a weakness."

The forever single Levi found another reason to be single.

However, the Tower Master's condition also made him somewhat worried.

"I hope Tower Master succeeds. It's not easy to meet such a good leader." He sighed.

After Tower Master taught the Undead Ship a heavy lesson last year, the Undead Ship was very peaceful during this period.

Recently, there was very little news about the Undead Ship committing evil deeds in this sea region.

Regardless of whether there was a surging tide in the dark, at least on the surface, this sea region was calm.

This year's combat assessment was held at Silent Bay again, and it was still led by Mr. Marko. Levi finished in first place once again..