Chapter 290: Advanced To Legendary, His Strength Has Soared! (2)

Overall, it was very practical.

This should be the best Wizard Tool Levi had at the moment.

In terms of value, even the Pot of Equal Value could not compare to this ring. After all, the good things in that pot had almost been taken away by Levi, and old antique Tuten slept in it every day.

Amongst all the first-circle Wizard Tools, the Ring of the Wind Spirit was definitely the best of the best. Levi estimated that it was worth more than 1,000 Aether Stones.

In any case, he would have been reluctant to buy it.

Of course, with Levi's current level of spiritual force as a mid-level apprentice wizard, activating the Wind Spirit's Blessing in the Ring of the Wind Spirit was still a little difficult.

Levi currently had 8 points of spiritual force and 80 points of spell power. This Wind Spirit Blessing would consume 60 points of spell power at once, which was 20 times more than casting Water Arrow.

If it was a Wizard Tool with a second-ring spell, it would consume a few hundred points of spell power at a time. Only an official wizard could barely activate it.

With the Ring of the Wind Spirit, Levi had greater confidence in this trip to the Shadow Realm.

It could be seen that the Tower Master had invested a lot in order for Levi to obtain the Stone Heart.
Or rather, the Tower Master was also fighting with his back against the wall.

Therefore, he had given Levi his lover's Wizard Tools.

Naturally, Levi did not want to betray the Tower Master's trust.

If it was within his ability, he would try his best to help the Tower Master obtain the Stone Heart.

The stronger the Tower Master was, the safer Levi would be in the Gray Tower.

Just as Levi was preparing to enter the Shadow Realm, the other wizard organizations that were qualified to enter the Shadow Realm were also making preparations.

On Whale Song Island.

A black-robed wizard with a head full of white hair, his sunken old eyes revealed an extremely wise gaze.

This was the Island Master of the Whale Song Island, the Whale Sage, and the Third-Circle Wizard Morpheus. He was without a doubt the most powerful wizard in this sea area.

As an Intermediate Wizard of the Ocean School of Thought, Morpheus was naturally very confident in this trip to the Shadow Realm.

The current Whale Song Island was filled with talents.

For this trip, Whale Song Island had sent a veteran First-Circle Wizard, Wizard Shark Tiger Witch Bane.

Bane was Morpheus' disciple, and he had mastered a total of seven first-ring spells.

One had to know that mastering five first-ring spells was enough to be called an experienced First-Circle Wizard. Bane had mastered a total of seven spells, which showed his strength.

The five apprentices that he led this time were all outstanding apprentice wizards on Whale Song Island.

Four of them were high-level apprentice wizards, and each of them had mastered at least eight cantrips. The only mid-level apprentice wizard was the dual-element genius, Jagri, who had joined Whale Song Island a few years ago.

Jagri was a mid-level apprentice wizard and had mastered five cantrips. He was definitely not as strong as his four seniors.

However, Morpheus wanted to train Jagri, so he wanted Jagri to take this opportunity to learn. After all, with the luxurious lineup for Whale Song Island, the probability of danger outside of the controllable range was low.

"Let's set off when you're ready. We'll set off early just in case," said Morpheus indifferently.

"Alright, Lord Morpheus, we will definitely return with a full load."

Beside Morpheus stood a Second-Circle Wizard. It was the Second-Circle Pharmacist of Whale Song Island, Angus.

He was also the president of the Pharmacist Association.

The two higher-ups of Whale Song Island looked at the expedition team riding on the sea beasts.

"Island Master, according to the information obtained from Harland, Gray Tower Herman's strength has increased greatly. If he advances to the third-circle, it will be detrimental to our future plans."

"I know. That's why, regardless of whether we find anything in this exploration of the Shadow Realm, we can't let the people from the Gray Tower find anything. Moreover, Harland will also send people to infiltrate the Shadow Realm. When the time comes, we'll join forces with the Undead Ship and kill the Gray Tower's wizard and apprentice wizards that enter the realm. Then, we'll search for the resources inside," said Morpheus calmly.

"Aren't there law-enforcement officers from the Star Tower supervising them? Can we sneak in the Undead Ship?" asked Angus.

"I've already made arrangements, so there's naturally no problem," said Morpheus confidently.

Whale Song Island's foundation was too strong. It was completely beyond the imagination of other forces.

If it wasn't for the fact that the price of becoming a dark wizard organization was relatively high for the current Morpheus, he would have long since destroyed all the other organizations and unified this sea region.

Seeing how confident the Island Master was, Angus was no longer worried.

However, he felt a little uneasy and worried. He had a feeling that this operation would not go so smoothly.

On Sighing Sea Island.

The Second-Circle Wizard, Sage Mason, was wearing a green robe. The members of Sighing Sea Breeze who were exploring the Shadow Realm were all ready.

Sighing Sea Breeze's lineup was also quite luxurious.

A veteran First-Circle Wizard Docket led the team. Among the five apprentice wizards, there were also four high-level apprentice wizards.

The only one who wasn't a high-level wizard was that three-meter-tall big guy.

He was the Fist of the Empire, Emperor Mu. After so many years, the Fist of the Empire was still a low-level apprentice wizard and had not even advanced to the intermediate level. This was the true situation of the Children of Chaos without the proficiency panel. It was extremely miserable.

However, due to the powerful knight strength of the Fist of the Empire, Sage Mason still allowed the Fist of the Empire to participate in this operation. In fact, Fist of the Empire was the real trump card that Sighing Sea Breeze had hidden in this operation..
