Chapter 333: High-Level Apprentice Wizard! (3)

At the end of the event, Levi and Emperor Mu had a spar that only determined who was stronger and who was weaker.

In the end, Levi still won, which made Emperor Mu admit defeat. Emperor Mu couldn't help but sigh. They were both legendary knights, but the difference between them was still huge.

He also advised Emperor Mu not to give up the cultivation of wizards. Although legendary knights like them were not talented, with their perseverance and temperament, as long as they did not give up, they would have a chance to become official wizards in the future.

Once he became an official wizard, his lifespan would be 200 years.

That way, Emperor Mu would have more time to break the shackles of a legendary knight and breakthrough himself.

Emperor Mu agreed. He felt that what the leader said made sense.

Besides, with a wizard's research ability, he might really be able to find a way to become a legendary knight.

In particular, there were Life Schools of Thought in the Wizard World that were proficient in School of Mutation, Bloodline Studies, Modification Studies, and Monster Studies. It was possible to break through the bloodline restrictions.

After organizing the team with Emperor Mu,

He returned to the Gray Tower to continue his cultivation.

Defeating Emperor Mu was not something to be proud of.

Levi knew very well that without the proficiency panel, his current achievements would most likely be inferior to Emperor Mu's.

He had to work harder and make use of his advantage.

It felt good to cheat for a while, but it felt good to cheat all the time.

A higher-up of the Star Tower had bombarded a Burning Faction wizard from the Azure Fire Alliance. He had violated many laws of the Pan-Plane Wizard Council and required the Azure Fire Alliance to conduct a thorough self-examination of its members.

Otherwise, some members of the Azure Fire Alliance would be expelled and driven back to their hometowns. All their properties in the Realm of Azure Cloud would be confiscated.

This wizard from the Burning Faction was the Fireplay Master Kane, who had been dead for more than a year.

Poor Kane. He died with a grievance.

Not only did no one really investigate the cause of his death, but after his death, the Star Tower even dug up old scores, making him a tool for the various factions to scheme and fight for power.

No matter what, this situation was a good thing for Levi.

The Star Tower was going to hold a public auction on the Black Fire Island.

However, the Black Fire Island was covered in earth fire. Further, Kane, the original owner of the Black Fire Island, had died for no reason.

Therefore, in the Realm of Azure Cloud, which was basically filled with Ocean Faction wizards, no one had been bidding for this small island.

Although he wanted to own his own island, he was only an apprentice wizard. Even if he had the money to participate in the auction, there was a high chance that the Star Tower would not give this island to an apprentice wizard like him.

Moreover, it was quite good to be in the Gray Tower now. With the Tower Master and the other powerhouses in charge, it was much better than the Black Fire Island.

His idea was to buy an island from the official channel of the Star Tower after he became an official wizard and be the Island Master.

Of course, he would not leave the Gray Tower. He would only build his own secret base outside the Gray Tower.

There were some things that Levi could not do in the Gray Tower. It was more convenient to have his own territory.

For example, it was very inconvenient to use the living dead's summoning spells from the School of Death or nurture an army of Saint Scorpions in the future in the Gray Tower.

In the end, after three price reductions, the Black Fire Island finally dropped to the price of 5,000 Aether Stones. No one participated in the bidding, and it was sold out just like that.

The Star Tower had no choice but to temporarily set aside the Black Fire Island and send someone to guard it, waiting for the fated person to come and buy it.

In the Endless Sea, other than those very small mini islands, all the famous islands were businesses of the Star Tower.

Although there were some good uninhabited islands in some dangerous sea areas, transcendent creatures were everywhere there. Ordinary wizards would be courting death if they went there.

Occasionally, he would inquire about the outside world. Most of the time, Levi paid no attention to the outside world. He followed his own pace and patiently cultivated his experience. He wanted to become a high-level apprentice wizard this year.

The human world, Evernight Kingdom.

The Snow Queen and the Goddess Knight Elsa were lying on the bed, gritting their teeth. Sweat drenched the female legendary knight's loose robe. Her strong and beautiful muscles bulged as she looked down.

On the other side of the bed, an old woman in an Ice God Robe was anxiously waiting for all of this.

This old woman was a head priest of the Church of Snow. She was here to deliver Snow Queen Elsa's child.

"Queen, use more strength, it's about to come out" the old woman urged.

Elsa frowned and kept exerting strength.

Even with her willpower as a legendary knight, she could not bear the pain of giving birth.

The price to pay for the birth of a saint was really huge.

Elsa thought to herself.

In the end, this pain lasted for a full day.

Elsa was already exhausted, and her sweat drenched the entire bed.

The fetus in her womb was finally born.

The ice head priest was holding the fetus. It was a crystalline baby girl that seemed to be carved from ice crystals. On the baby's forehead, there was a six-pointed snowflake symbol.

After the baby came out, she did not cry or make a fuss. She opened her eyes, and snowflakes spun in her pupils.

On this day, the huge statue of the Snow Goddess in the plaza of the Snow Capital City emitted a dazzling blue light that shot into the sky..
