Chapter 335: High-Level Apprentice Wizard! (5)

Of course, although the Church's habit of bragging had been around for a long time, if what Knight Anderson said was true, then if there were still traces of the Van Helsing family's inheritance that Master was concerned about, there was a high chance that it was in Heavenly Mountain.

Even though Andrew was almost a legendary knight, he did not dare to go to the Heavenly Mountain.

He planned to continue searching for other possibilities in the mortal world and find all the other clues given by his master. If it really didn't work, he would tell his master about the news of Heavenly Mountain and let him decide.

As for the second thing that his master had instructed him to do, it was related to Anderson.

"Elder, Master asked me to tell you that he has advanced to the legendary knight realm and established an organization called the Twilight Knights. He wants to build a knights' group that is full of legendary knights, and you, Elder, are the vice commander."

"Huh?" Knight Anderson was dumbfounded.

He was playing chess and sleeping at home. How did he suddenly become the vice commander of some knight group?

"This kid... However, the ideals and goals of the Twilight Knights are exactly what I want. I'll try being the vice commander," Anderson said.

"By the way, Elder, Master asked me to give this to you. He said it might be useful to you." Andrew handed the breathing technique inheritance diagram to Anderson, who took it.

"Blood Beast Breathing Technique?"

Holy Brilliance Calendar Year 1022, Month of Winter.

Endless Sea, Gray Tower.

As early as half a year ago, Levi had developed a new secret medicine for the breathing technique. The effect was not bad.

A month ago, Levi had cultivated the breathing technique to the Maximum Level 7. His Special Effect [Advanced Perception] had been upgraded to [Top Perception], and the range of his Perception had become wider, twice as wide as before.

Levi only needed to break the limit one more time to upgrade [Top Perception] to [Transcendent Perception].

However, the Perception-type breathing technique could only be chanced upon by luck. He could only leave it to fate. Now that he could find three, it had far exceeded Levi's expectations.

In addition to the limit of the breathing technique, Levi had also made a major breakthrough in his sorcery.

On the Klein Crystal, Levi's spiritual power was revealed.

"Spiritual force: 11"

"Maximum spell power: 107 points."

After Levi's continuous efforts, the Earth Meditation Art had successfully entered level 3 and was ahead of the Deep Sea Meditation Art and the Night Crow Meditation Art.

Levi—

Earth Meditation Art: Level 3 (1/10,000)

This meant that in terms of spiritual force, Levi had already advanced to the level of a high-level apprentice wizard.

He now had ten spell slots.

No matter which school's Meditation Art stepped into the spiritual force category of a high-level apprentice wizard, it would not affect the unlocking of new spell slots.

However, Levi had the highest realm in the Earth Meditation Art. If he learned the Meditation Arts of other schools, his power would definitely be inferior to the Earth School of Thought.

Levi planned to learn a cantrip from the Earth School of Thought to defend himself against the five new spell slots. He already had his eyes on this cantrip.

That was the most powerful defensive cantrip of the Earth School of Thought, [Stone Skin]. Although the name was unattractive, its advanced spell was the famous first-circle [Rock Body].

[Stone Skin] and [Rock Body] were both passive defensive cantrips. They were directly solidified on a wizard's body, which was equivalent to directly modifying the body's strength. As long as they were attacked, like the official wizard of the Undead Ship who was killed by Levi, they would automatically protect their bodies without casting spells or chanting.

After all, even though this active defensive spell had a stronger defense, the cooldown time for each spell was too long. It also required chanting and casting. Before each battle, one had to carefully calculate the number of times they could cast the spell before making a move. If they encountered a very fast enemy, there was still a possibility of being interrupted. Therefore, they might as well solidify the spell on their bodies, making it more convenient to use it.

The Stone Skin Technique could also complement his Solid State Black Scale. The Black Scale was above, and the Stone Skin was below.

Among the storage items of the official wizard he killed, there was a cantrip spell book for Stone Skin.

Levi immediately began to learn. The solidification of the Stone Skin Technique was similar to a craftsman solidifying a spell on a wizard tool, but the operation was not that complicated.

In any case, he had to construct the spell model first before he could proceed to the next step of cultivation.

With the Special Effect of Earth Pulse and Levi's five cantrips, he was already familiar with constructing spell models.

The spell model construction this time was completed in three days.

After that, Levi prepared the Casting materials for the solidification of the Stone Skin Technique, such as Stone Snake Scale Powder, Earth Fruit Shell, Pyroxene Powder, Stone Lizard Blood, and so on.

He felt that the solidification of the Stone Skin Technique was similar to knights using breathing techniques and secret medicine to modify themselves. Perhaps when wizards designed a spell back then, they might have referenced the cultivation method of knights.

In just a few days, the Stone Skin Technique had completed the preliminary transformation of Levi's skin. He used a small knife and stabbed his arm with the sharp tip of the knife without using the Solid State Black Scale.

In an instant, a faint green light that was like a green rock circulated around Levi's body, and spell runes flickered in it.

"Stone Skin Technique, success.."
