

Wizard 343

Chapter 343: Legendary Blood Beast, Wings of Black Gas!(3)

The huge toad opened its bloody mouth. In its mouth, an old man in a whale-patterned robe stood upright, looking energetic.

"Morpheus, did you and your Dark Frog bring any good news?" Demon Harland said, as if he had been waiting for a long time.

"Harland, how are your injuries?" Morpheus asked.

"With the potion Angus gave me, I've almost recovered. That damned Herman is too despicable. He doesn't care about ethics. It's clearly a personal grudge between us, but he secretly called the people from the Star Tower over. Otherwise, how could he have severely injured me?" Harland couldn't help but curse.

"Let me tell you a piece of good news. I learned from the Star Tower that the sea beast tide that happens once every 500 years is about to appear again. This time, the sea beast tide will sweep through the most violent area in the past 2,000 years! The entire Endless Sea might be affected. Harland, this is our chance," Morpheus said.

"The legendary sea beast tide. I really want to see it with my own eyes." The last time there was a sea beast tide, Harland had not even been born.

"You'll see soon. In the dangerous sea areas that the wizards aren't involved in, the countless sea beast armies, the transcendent creatures hidden in the Deep Sea, and the true natives of the Endless Sea, the sea race experts who hate the Star Tower... are about to appear. Hehe, I wonder how many wizard organizations will completely disappear this time." Morpheus sneered.

He was not worried. He was a Third -Circle Wizard and was extremely powerful.

He was the overlord of this sea area. He was enough to shelter his Whale Song Island and tide through the sea beast tide safely. In addition, the upper echelons on his side had secretly reached a strategic cooperation with the upper echelons of the Sea Clan. The Sea Clan would probably not attack Whale Song Island. Therefore, Whale Song Island only needed to deal with the sea beast army that could not communicate.

He continued, "Therefore, this will be our chance. While the sea beasts are wreaking havoc, join forces with the dark wizard organizations Bone Forest and Blood Sea Vortex to snatch the inheritance and resources of the wizard organizations like the Gray Tower and Sighing Sea Breeze. I will provide you with support and convenience. Whale Song Island can't fall out with the Star Tower yet, so this operation will depend on you."

Harland's expression changed slightly. Then, he said, "Sure, but you have to tell the other dark wizard organizations that if they want to make a huge profit, they have to listen to my commands."

Morpheus nodded. "Of course. With your strength alone, you can't fight alone without a unified dispatch. I'll make you the person in charge of this operation. You only need to report to me. The Second-Circle Wizards of the other dark wizard organizations will be under your command. If the operation goes smoothly, by the time the sea beast tide retreats, there won't be many wizard organizations left in this sea area. At that time, I can apply to the Star Tower to buy all the territories of these wizard organizations at a low price and integrate them into the territory of Whale Song Island. You don't have to hide all day long in my territory. The big shots behind me will naturally think of ways to erase the records left behind by your Undead Ship in the Pan-Plane Wizard Council. Or, you can go to the underwater prison of the Abyss City for a few years. You can come out and be a new person after reading the newspapers and playing chess. There are also our people in the Abyss City. You won't be mistreated."

Harland did not say anything. These were all things that he had discussed with Morpheus beforehand.

He had had enough of being a dark wizard. The game of cat and mouse that had lasted for more than a hundred years had tired him out.

He wanted to clear his name and live in the sun.

But before he could clear his name, he had to do something.

Kill Herman!

Destroy the Gray Tower!

Otherwise, his thoughts would not be clear!

Star Sea.

A towering black tower towered into the clouds.

Surrounding the tower were floating buildings that were like stars. They surrounded the black tower in a rhythmic manner.

From time to time, some wizards in starry robes would fly in and out of these buildings with flying spells, enter the towers, or head to other places.

In the sea around the tower, there were many small islands scattered across the boundless blue sea.

There were all kinds of wizard towers on almost every island.

This was the Star Sea, the core area of the Realm of Azure Cloud, and also the most prosperous area.

The towering Star Tower was the Star Tower, the manager of the Realm of Azure Cloud and one of the members of the Pan-Plane Wizard Council.

Most of the wizards in the Realm of Azure Cloud were proud to enter the Star Tower and become law enforcement officers.

His enthusiasm was no less than that of the civil servants in Levi's previous life.

After becoming a law enforcement officer of the Star Tower, he could have his own island near the Star Sea and build his own wizard tower in the place where the water element in the Realm of Azure Cloud was the most abundant. The speed of meditation and spell cultivation here was not something that the border areas could compare to.

In addition, the Star Tower would also give the law enforcement personnel Aether Stones every year, so that they could basically carry out their own wizard research in peace. At the same time, the law enforcement personnel would also buy Wizard Tools, potions, Casting materials, and so on from many official places like the Celestial Circle Shop..