Chapter 345: Legendary Blood Beast, Wings of Black Gas!(5)

[Blood Wings (Solid State): Bat wings condensed from black gas. You have obtained a speed comparable to that of the Primary Blood Clan. You have obtained the ability to fly. As long as there is sufficient black gas, you can fly for a long time.]

With a thought, two blood-colored tumors suddenly appeared on Levi's back. The smell of blood filled the tumors and spread out. Then, threads of veins that were like cicada wings appeared and folded. Finally, blood-colored bat wings with a wingspan of six meters appeared behind Levi and filled the entire small room.

"Hmm... What does it feel like to become a Blood Clan?"

Levi couldn't help but mock himself.

Back then, Anderson even asked Levi if he wanted to become a Blood Clan.

Levi didn't think much of it at the time. He didn't expect the old man to be a prophet.

After the legendary Maximum of the Blood Beast Breathing Technique, Levi was now half a member of the Blood Clan.

Bat wings, Blood Contract, changing appearance... These were all the signature abilities of the Blood Clan.

"No matter what, I can finally fly. I'll go to the surface of the sea to test my current flying ability." Levi immediately rode the Dragon King Whale to an uninhabited sea.

"Take off!"

Levi laughed happily and spread his Blood Wings. Then, the two large tumors on his back, his developed chest muscles, and other core muscles began to exert strength.

Just like the flight of birds or bats, using wings to fly required extremely exaggerated and powerful pectorals to flap their wings and take off.

If it was an ordinary person or an ordinary knight, even if they grew a pair of wings, they would not be able to fly.

Levi, on the other hand, was different. His chest muscles were extremely well-developed. If he were to unleash his full strength, even the Japanese ladies with E-cups in his previous life would have to admit defeat in front of him.

At this moment, Levi flapped his Blood Wings and took off!

He gradually rose higher and higher from the surface of the sea, and Leviathan became a small thing under him.

He flew to a thousand meters in the sky. Although he could still fly up, Levi did not continue to fly high in order to prevent himself from being attacked by some transcendent creatures.

From his initial unfamiliarity to his continuous practice, his speed was faster than before. With his full strength, he jumped about 200 meters in a breath. If he was faster, he would reach the standard speed of sound in his previous life.

Of course, such extreme speed could not last too long. It would consume a lot of black gas and stamina. The Blood Beast Seed would be exhausted in fifteen minutes at most, and that was under the condition that Levi had Transcendent Endurance. Levi estimated that other legendary knights would only be able to fly for less than three minutes.

If it was a normal flight speed of 100 meters per second, Levi tested it. The Blood Beast Breathing Technique should be able to last him for about an hour.

"This is what it feels like to fly!"

Levi could not help but feel excited.

As a person, to be able to fly in the sky without relying on transportation and rely on his own flesh and blood, what an unbelievable scene!

Even wizards needed to use spells to fly, which was completely different from Levi's.

Leviathan flew excitedly into the sky while Leviathan chased after Levi.

It was not until his Blood Beast Seed was about to die that he landed on Leviathan and ate some potions and food to recover his strength.

"After obtaining the ability to fly, my life-saving ability has become even stronger. Coupled with the Wizard Escape Technique that comes with the Wizard Tool, I can directly transform into a foreign world and run."

Other than the Blood Wings, the Blood Beast Breathing Technique also produced supernatural organs.

However, Levi could not understand this supernatural organ.

He looked inside his body. There was a pile of twisted and squirming things in the constantly trembling Blood Whale's sac.

It was a blood-colored band that coiled around it. It looked like a plate of...

Blood intestines.

There was a small crack in the blood intestine, and the other end seemed to be connected to Levi's Blood Whale's sac.

"What the hell."

Because the parts of the legendary organs were randomized, Levi was puzzled for a moment, not knowing how to use this thing.

This was what Levi called the "blood intestine". At first, when it sprouted in Levi's Blood Whale's sac, Levi thought it was a tumor. However, he felt that with his physique, it was unlikely for it to grow. As the Blood Beast Breathing Technique continued to advance, this tumor became bigger, longer, and thicker. Moreover, every time Levi ate food from the blood sac, it would be digested and absorbed by this tumor.

Fortunately, Levi had given birth to a new hump as a storage organ.

Otherwise, this damned blood intestine would be like the roundworm in Levi's stomach, parasitizing the blood sac and snatching Levi's nutrients.

If it wasn't for the fact that it was Levi's legendary organ, he might have cut off the blood intestine.

Now that he had advanced to legendary, Levi could feel the pulse of life in the blood intestine that had fused with him.

Every time his heart beat, this blood intestine would tremble.

Levi knew that this was indeed his organ.

It was not some strange parasite.

With a thought, the blood intestine extended out of the whale sac like a long blood-colored snake. Then, it freely shuttled through Levi's meridians and blood vessels. When the blood intestine shuttled through his body, it seemed to have turned into a blood-colored fog..
