

Wizard 367

Chapter 367: Legendary Red Lotus, Heart Furnace, Red Lotus Breath! (2)

"I... I can't do it. I'm not very talented," Levi said.

"What's there to be afraid of? I'm also a Child of Chaos. Didn't I also become a third-circle cultivator?" the Tower Master asked.

"But you've turned yourself into a metal lump..." Levi complained in his heart. He did not want this to happen.

"I can see that your talent is not as simple as you seem. I also have some understanding of the path of knights. To be able to become a legendary at your age, your temperament and perseverance are not something that ordinary people can reach. In some cases, those legendary knights with wizard talent, no matter how talented they are, their final achievements will not be too low.

Besides, although you are a Child of Chaos, you have only been in the tower for less than ten years, but you have advanced from a low-level apprentice wizard to a high-level apprentice wizard. At such a speed, even the triple affinity can't compare to you."

"Therefore, wizard talent is nothing. I can tell that you can definitely become an official wizard. No matter what kind of opportunity or luck you have, I don't care about these processes. I only care about the results. I believe that you can become an official wizard. If you want to learn alchemy, you can come to me. Alchemy doesn't require you to transform your body. You can also make some puppets to help you fight and make groceries.

"Of course, there's no free lunch in this world. Although I'm not as rigid as some wizards who insist on the so-called Principle of Equal Exchange, I still hope that if you have any achievements in the future, you won't forget the Gray Tower, Granny Marlene, and the others who provided you with a little help when you first entered this world."

The Tower Master smiled.

"Thank you for your kindness, Tower Master. Please let me think about it. I'm afraid that I'm taking care of too many things and delaying the normal cultivation of wizards and pharmacists," Levi said awkwardly.

"Yes, I understand. Let's talk about it when you become an official wizard," said the Tower Master.

"Alright." Levi nodded.

With the Tower Master's permission, he left the White Tower.

"Why did the Tower Master suddenly want to teach me alchemy? Is he trying to turn me into an alchemical creature and turn me into his puppet or possess me? Of course, it's also possible that the Tower Master really likes my potential and wants to invest in me before I grow up. I can only say that... he has good taste." Levi's imagination ran wild. The former was too much of a conspiracy theory, and the latter was more likely.

He did want to learn alchemy, but his time was limited. The most important thing was to break through the shackles of the legendary realm and become an official wizard. Therefore, he could only put aside alchemy, which required time and money.

Regardless, now that the Tower Master was out of seclusion, the Gray Tower, which had a third-circle combat power, was almost guaranteed to survive the sea beast tide.

Livy heaved a sigh of relief, and his tense nerves relaxed a little.

However, the sea beast tide was not over yet, it was impossible to relax completely.

Levi still cultivated the breathing technique every day, hoping to advance to the Legendary Six-Dimensional State as soon as possible. At that time, he might have the combat power comparable to a Second-Circle Wizard.

Days passed. The rest of the people in the Gray Tower did not know that the Tower Master had come out of seclusion. They were already numb to the sea beasts' attacks.

After the Mangrove Cottage, another Second-Circle Wizard organization, the Sea Serpent Tower, was flattened by the Ghost Claw Butcher and the yellow flash.

This was the first time the Sea Clan had displayed their terrifying strength in front of wizards. The leader of this Second-Circle Wizard organization, which only had one Second-Circle Wizard, was killed directly.

This made the other wizard organizations in this sea area start to panic. The Sea Clan had displayed too much strength this time. Coupled with the countless sea beast armies, all the wizard organizations were afraid that they would be the next to be attacked.

The Sea Clan seemed to be targeting the weaker sorcerer organizations that only had a second-circle leader.

Forces like the Sighing Sea Breeze and the Gray Tower, which had two second-circles, had not been attacked by the Sea Clan's generals so far.

The wizards could naturally tell that the Sea Clan was defeating them one by one. When all the armies gathered in the end, they would go and bite the hard. However, even if they knew about the enemy's scheme, the wizards could not do anything. They could not abandon their wizard tower. Furthermore, without Azure Ship, they could not help each other and interact with each other. Compared to defending the wizard tower and fleeing on the vast sea in a panic, it was even more dangerous.

This was the tragedy of low-level wizard organizations. Many of them were treated as abandoned pawns by the Pan-Plane Wizard Council and became unlucky people in this Endless Sea trial.

Holy Brilliance Calendar Year 1024, Month of Northern Wind.

Compared to the chaos in the Realm of Azure Cloud, the world was rather peaceful.

In the Evernight Kingdom, the Snow Saint gradually grew up under the care of the church. As the mother of the saint, Goddess Knight Elsa rarely saw her daughter after she was born. The head priest's attitude towards her seemed to become colder and colder.

Elsa's rationality told her that the saint was not her daughter. She was just a vessel for "Him" to descend into the mortal world. However, when she thought of the feeling of being a mother when she was pregnant, she could not stop herself from crying..

