

Wizard 381

Chapter 381: Golden Horned Beast, Golden Spine, Level 4 Meditation! (5)

It was the year 1026 of the Holy Brilliance Calendar, Month of Flowers.

After learning that Emperor Mu was still alive, Levi and Emperor Mu's third team-building event was successfully completed. In the final routine spar, Emperor Mu, who had become much stronger, was still defeated by Levi.

Emperor Mu was covered in golden light when he fought. It was as if he had practiced the legendary Indestructible Diamond Divine Skill. He looked mighty and extraordinary, with a sacred temperament.

Levi felt that it was about time, so he asked Emperor Mu what kind of breathing technique it was. Emperor Mu told Levi that it was the breathing technique of a golden knight, called the Golden Horn Breathing Technique. In the legends, there was a type of beast that roamed the astral world called the Golden Horn. It could bathe in the sun and travel through the void. Its defense was unparalleled in the world. There was a golden horn on its forehead which was said to contain the power to destroy a world.

Hence, Levi took out a breathing technique that Emperor Mu was absolutely interested in, the Red Lotus Breathing Technique. He exchanged the Red Lotus Breathing Technique for the Golden Horn Breathing Technique from Emperor Mu.

Emperor Mu was naturally happy to exchange breathing techniques, as the Red Lotus Breathing Technique was a Top-tier Strength breathing technique that was on par with his family's Holy Ape Breathing Technique. He had long wanted to use it as a reference. However, when he was in the human world, he could not find the whereabouts of the Red Lotus Breathing Technique, so he could only give up. He did not expect Levi to have such a collection. As legendary knights, they could help each other and grow together. This was also Emperor Mu's original intention when he joined the Twilight Knights.

Although Emperor Mu could not cultivate without the Red Lotus Bloodline, at the level of a legendary knight, just observing and learning other breathing techniques might be able to inspire their own cultivation. They would not give up even if it could help them break through the shackles of the legendary realm.

In fact, Emperor Mu also knew that bloodlines could be transplanted after birth. It was not that mysterious. It was just that wizards who had mastered the technique of bloodline transplantation did not look at ordinary breathing techniques at all. After all, breathing techniques were more time-consuming than many spells. It was completely not proportional to the final benefits. Even if it took decades to practice breathing techniques to the limit and become a legendary knight, it was only the strength of a First-Circle Wizard. If he cultivated the path of sorcerers, he would achieve even greater achievements.

Due to the limitations of knowledge and vision, ordinary knights believed that bloodlines were sacred and noble and could not be changed. Changing bloodlines was taboo and against their ancestors. Naturally, they would not think of transplanting bloodlines to cultivate other breathing techniques.

However, Emperor Mu was different from ordinary knights. He was a legendary knight and had received the education of a wizard, so he was not that stupid. The Golden Horn Breathing Technique that he cultivated was actually acquired. During the vigorous voyage, he encountered a golden centipede-like monster in the treasure of the Golden Knight Gregor. It looked like a human spine, but it could move. It had many sharp, stinging feet and could penetrate anything, and seemed to have parasitic instincts. Emperor Mu was attacked by this “Golden Spine Bone” that was suspected to be Gregor. The spine directly drilled into Emperor Mu’s body. The devouring process had replaced the original spine of Emperor Mu, and he was helpless against it, so he gradually accepted this reality. He had come to the Wizard World to use his knowledge as a wizard to figure out what this Golden Spine Bone was and whether it would have any side effects on him.

No matter what, Emperor Mu obtained the Golden Bloodline and was able to cultivate the Golden Horn Breathing Technique. This had always been a secret hidden deep in Emperor Mu’s heart. He had a feeling that this Golden Spine Bone was not simple and would become an important reliance for him to break through the shackles of the legendary realm in the future. He even suspected that the Golden Spine Bone was the source of the Golden Bloodline of the Gregor Family. It was this monster who single-handedly created the Golden Family!

During the previous team-building event, Emperor Mu had learned from Levi that the Life School of Thought had the bloodline transplant technique.

Therefore, he felt that if he could find a supernatural creature with the [Red Lotus Bloodline] and obtain a trace of the bloodline through the bloodline transplant technique, he might be able to cultivate the Red Lotus Breathing Technique and further enhance his strength.

Therefore, Levi also took this opportunity to reach a preliminary consensus with Emperor Mu. That was, if they had different breathing techniques in the future, they could exchange them.

Unlike Emperor Mu, these so-called bloodline restrictions did not exist for Levi at all. moreover, Levi could rely on the Intertace to continuously break through the limits of the breathing technique and fuse different bloodline breathing techniques to mutate into a more powerful breathing technique. As for Emperor Mu, even though he possessed the Red Lotus Bloodline and could cultivate the Red Lotus Breathing Technique to the legendary limit, it would be difficult for him to break through the limit of the breathing technique. For an ordinary legend like Emperor Mu, having one more bloodline meant that he would be able to obtain one more legendary pathway and become stronger. However, if he wanted to truly break through the shackles of the legendary realm, he did not have an effective and clear path to guide him. He also did not have a proficiency panel like Levi's to continuously break through the limits. It was basically hopeless.

From Levi's point of view, if ordinary legendary knights like Emperor Mu or Anderson wanted to break through the shackles of the legendary realm, they had to first explore a path for themselves and let them walk on their own path, chasing after their own pace.. In other words, his own realm was the upper limit of a legendary knight!

