

Wizard 470

Chapter 470: The Black Knight! (2)

The spoils of war were 15,000 Aether Stones and a Second-Circle Wizard Tool that he did not know how to use. Even the worst Second-Circle Wizard Tool was at least 5,000 Aether Stones.

There were also other miscellaneous items that were worth a lot of money.

In addition, there was also the head of this black-robed wizard suspected to be a dark wizard. However, Levi did not plan to take it to collect the bounty for the time being.

Firstly, as a First-Circle Wizard, he could deal with a Second-Circle Wizard.

This did not make sense. It was easy for others to covet him.

Secondly, the matter was still unclear, and Levi did not want to be exposed. "No matter what, we've made a killing this time."

"I wonder where that giant ape went. I hope it doesn't die. Wait for me to reach the second-circle and I'll come to Yellow Earth Continent to take you down." Levi was thinking about the giant ape that looked like Hapes.

He suspected that Hapes might be the descendant of the Giant Ape's clansmen who had wandered in the human world. Otherwise, they looked too similar, and they were both frost-type.

In the future, Levi would have to rely on this giant ape to cultivate the Giant Breathing Technique.

For safety reasons.

Levi stayed in the shelter for a few more days.

Until the weakened state passed and his strength returned to its peak state.

He headed in the direction of the Quicksand Sea.

After subduing the Red Sand Ape and the Crimson Fire Dragon Lizard, Levi would be able to complete his trip to the Yellow Earth Continent and return to his safe Black Fire Island as soon as possible.

Area 7 was too dangerous.

A few days later.

The news that a First-Circle Wizard family with a second-circle powerhouse had been destroyed by a dark wizard spread in the western region.

The Black Sun Flame was once again pushed to the forefront of the storm.

When the Star Tower enforcers arrived, only the burning black flames proved everything that had happened there.

A young first-circle law enforcer looked furious. "He's too arrogant and lawless!"

An old second-circle enforcer beside him took a puff of his pipe, coughed, and said, "You're still too young. It'll be fine if you see more of them."

The two of them were enforcers sent here to investigate. The old enforcer was a teacher, and the young one was a disciple.

"This is already the eighth time the Black Sun Flame has committed a crime in the past ten years. It's getting worse and worse. I think it's necessary to invite those high-level enforcers to investigate and bring these villains to justice," the young enforcer said, his anger burning.

"What are you thinking about? A high-level enforcer is busy every day? You want to alarm him with a small matter in the outer ring?" The old wizard said helplessly.

"But... Is no one going to take care of it?" The young wizard asked, discouraged. "Be content. Before the wizard council was established, do you know how chaotic the Wizard World was? It's already much better now. Humans are selfish by nature, and many wizards are a group of evil thugs.

'You've just joined the army. Just wait until you see more of them in the future. Does this Black Sun Flame Organization really have nothing to rely on to be able to roam free in the Yellow Earth Continent for so long?'

"Hehe, I caught small shrimps and big fish. There are even bigger fish behind the big fish. When the fish is big to a certain extent, the magic net won't be enough..."

"Is the Al Hidd Family behind this?" The young man suddenly asked.

"What? I didn't say that. Don't make wild guesses. Report the case here in a few days and see if you can invite the higher-ups."

Meanwhile, in Skyfire City.

The Al Hidd Family.

The wizard tower of the Flame Prince.

Lehman's face was gloomy. His eyes were filled with flames, and golden flames rose in the void.

Between his brows, the phantom of a flaming demon with wings on its back could be vaguely seen.

"Lehlin is dead..."

Lehlin's Soul Jade was in Lehman's hands.

Hence, when Lehlin died, he had already sensed it.

However, Lehman did not dare to go over.

He was afraid that his enemies or enforcers would use Lehlin's death as bait to lure him out.

"The Colin Family has already been destroyed. It's impossible to kill Lehlin. There are only three possibilities for Lehlin's death. One is that he died among the second-circle creatures in the secret realm. The other is that he died at the hands of the Star Tower enforcers. Lastly, there's a small chance that he died at Levi's hands, although it's unrealistic.

"Just you wait. I'll definitely investigate this matter thoroughly. I don't care about other places. I won't let the person who dared to kill me or my younger brother on the Yellow Earth Continent off."

Although Lehlin wasn't the only black glove under him, Lehlin was his younger brother, and his strength wasn't bad either. Naturally, he preferred using him the most.

Lehlin had never failed before, which was why Lehman had entrusted this matter to Lehlin.

Who would have thought that this would actually cost Lehlin his life?

Quicksand Sea.

Levi, the culprit who had killed Lehlin, was hovering in the air above the desert.

Relying on his top-notch vision and Perception, he had already found a small Red Sand Ape tribe. There were about five Red Sand Apes in this tribe, four of which were adults and one was a juvenile.

Every Red Sand Ape tribe had a leader who was the strongest. Levi looked at them and was a little disappointed.

There was no mutant that he had expected.

"I'll just grab the strongest to contract..."

He swooped down and accelerated, landing directly in the tribe.

The Earth trembled as dust filled the air.

The members of the Red Sand Ape Tribe were originally lazily catching lice for their companions until the dust dissipated.

They realized that the leader in the middle had already disappeared.

In the sky, Levi grabbed the leader of the Red Sand Apes, who had fainted from his kick and flew with a relaxed expression..