

Wizard 479

Chapter 479: Great Expedition Era! Level 12 Golden Snake!(5)

Although this was a little selfish, Levi did not want to see these people die on the battlefield.

Although the wizards had always been the final victor in the previous expeditions, the price they paid was not small. No one cared if these unknown low-level wizards died.

Every expedition would take anywhere from three to five years to a hundred years. During this period, countless resources and lives would be consumed.

There were a total of fifty plane consortia of various sizes under the Wizard Council, which meant fifty colonies.

According to the wizard's geography course, if the entire universe was an unknown and dangerous endless "dark land," the so-called dimensions were "crypts" that emitted the light of civilization. The levels and sizes of the crypts varied, and the dimensions were divided into different levels.

Around these "crypts" were thick "crystal walls" that protected the crypts from the unknown darkness of the Land of Darkness.

All kinds of civilizations were born in the crypts. Some of the crypts even had subspace lands, which was the realm of the non-believers.

And outside of these planes, there were two special non-material planes that were detached from the material world. One of them was called the Astral

World. This was a world formed by the spiritual power projection of all planes. Only gods and some powerful existences could enter it.

The other plane was the "Underworld". Legend had it that the souls of all living beings would eventually return there after death.

Among the many planes, after a long period of exploration and many colonial expeditions, there were fifty planes directly managed by the Wizard Council. These fifty planes were called "Federal Planes" by the Wizard Congress.

The place that Asta and the Four Evil Gods of Chaos had invaded was one of the larger planes.

There was no need to say anything more about Asta. As a frequent visitor to the Pan -Plane Truth Journal, he was known as the number one terrorist in the Multidimensional Plane. He was the city lord of Chaos City, and he called himself the "Dark Wizard Emperor." He was the spiritual leader of many dark wizards.

This was once a legendary wizard of the Dark Realm, the School of Dark Energy, and even the Grand Council Chairman. He did not expect to be bewitched by the Lord of Chaos in the astral world and become his divine son.

After that, he left the Wizard Council, seized a few planes, established Chaos City, and spread the faith of the Lord of Chaos.

The Master of Chaos had another name in the Seven Kingdoms, the “Lord of the Wilderness,” the god that the Wilderness Brotherhood believed in.

Although the Lord of Chaos was not one of the seven orthodox gods in the plane where the Seven Kingdoms Continent was located, his influence was even greater than the seven orthodox gods in many other planes.

This existence resided in the [Chaos Wasteland] of the astral world, and under his command were four lackeys active in the Multidimensional Plane. They were the so-called [Four Evil Gods of Chaos].

Father of Plague, Lord of Doomsday, Lady Famine, Duke of Death!

Although these four were not gods and were not in the astral world, their true strength might not be any different from gods. They were considered demigods.

The four Evil Gods had been stirring trouble in the Multidimensional Planes

All year round, spreading plagues, famines, and various other disasters to realize their self-worth.

According to Levi’s research on the history of the Wizard World, this kind of plane expedition involving Legends could last decades or even centuries. Therefore, in the next hundred years, Levi felt that the world might not be as peaceful as it used to be.

Therefore, he had to increase his strength as soon as possible. If the situation developed to a more chaotic level, Levi would return to the human world to hide for a while.

He would only return after this expedition was over.

However, there was also a problem with going to the human world. It was fine for a year and a half, but if he lived in the human world for decades or even centuries, it would delay the cultivation of a wizard too much. Moreover, the human world was not necessarily safe.

There might be many wizards who had the same thoughts as him. When the time came, the world would inevitably be in chaos. It would depend on how the church would deal with it.

The first year of the Five Sector Expedition happened in the year 1036 of the Holy Brilliance Calendar, Month of the Furnace.

Recruiting activities were carried out in full swing throughout the entire territory. In this expedition, in addition to the established legions under the Wizard Council, ten new legions were recruited.

The wizards who were recruited this time would also be incorporated into the new battle group and undergo special training.

What made Levi feel relieved was that it did not recruit any wizards from the Grey Tower. Everyone chose to pay military expenses and avoid disaster.

As for Emperor Mu, he was only an apprentice wizard, so he had also escaped the disaster.

In this kind of Plane War, apprentices were not even considered cannon fodder. Therefore, every recruitment did not include them. Rather than letting them die in vain, it was better to leave a spark for the future of the Wizard World.

So far, the ones who had signed up the most were those who had no money or power, as well as some wizards from middle-rank and high-rank wizard organizations.

Nomadic wizards did not have the money to pay military expenses, or they were attracted by the military rewards.

As for the wizards from the middle and high-level wizard organizations, they were arranged to join the army. These middle and high-level wizard organizations did not lack money and lacked knowledge inheritance, they were more concerned about the possible position in the parliament after the war. What they wanted was more voice and status!

In short, with the current large number of wizards in the Wizard World, it was not difficult to recruit ten thousand wizards. However, it was unknown whether they could qualify..
