Chapter 603: Earth, Fire, Wind, and Water—Four Elements Combined! Great Fusion! (1)

[Groundbreaking: Descend from the sky and perform a charging attack, causing destructive damage to everything within a certain range. This Special Effect cannot be upgraded, but as Strength and speed increase, its power will gradually increase.]

Levi looked at the freshly produced Special Effects and then at his thick and wide cow hooves.

It was not accurate to say that it was a cow's hoof. It should be a Dragon Demon Foot.

It was covered in hard scales that emitted a metallic luster.

The overall shape was like a mixture of dragon claws and ox hooves. It had a messy and strange beauty.

In Levi's previous life, there was a mythical creature called the Dragon Demon.

There was a saying in the Classic of Mountains and Seas: "In the shape of an ox, it has no horns. With one foot, it will definitely encounter wind and rain when it enters and exits the water. Its light is like the sun and moon, and its voice is like thunder. Its name is Dragon Demon."

In Levi's heart, there was a monster shadow standing on two feet with short wings on its back. It looked like a demon in some artistic works.

The monster's head did indeed look like a cow's, and it also had two horns.

Be it the Ostrich Mountain Bird or the Musk Bull Breathing Technique, they were both inclined towards earth element affinity.

Therefore, the Dragon Demon's breathing technique was also affinity with the earth element. It had nothing to do with the thunder beasts.

However, as Levi mutated more and more,

He realized that the proficiency panel's naming method for the mutated breathing technique always seemed to fit some of the cultural imprints in his previous life.

Golden Snake, King Kong, Dragon Demon...

It was as if the proficiency panel was automatically named in a way that matched Levi's understanding.

Similar to the Bloodline Wizard God's Heart, it was also related to Levi's cultural imprint in his previous life.

Moreover, the proficiency panel was not static. It would also constantly update as its strength increased and the situation changed.

"How did the interface panel come about?"

Levi discovered this panel when he woke up on the original owner's body.

He did not know if this was a product of this world or of his previous life.

Levi wanted to test the power of the Dragon Demon Feet, but in his wizard tower, it was undoubtedly impossible.

Today, in Levi's breathing system.

The level 13 Golden Snake was far ahead.

Next were the level 12 Blood Beasts and Red Lotus.

King Kong, the Dragon Demon, the Black Whale, the Silver Mountain Dragon, and Death Ember were advancing to level 12.

The Tianxiao breathing technique was at the maximum of level 9.

Other than that, they were all breathing techniques that were used as raw materials to break the limit or mutate.

After finishing his cultivation, Levi took out the bloodline transplant technology he had obtained from the Lush Forest Witch and began to study it.

When he was almost done with his research, he would experiment with ordinary creatures first.

After that, he would try to transplant it to the fur clansmen.

Of course, he could not forget his old profession in Pharmacy.

Days passed.

In order to test if the fur clans could cultivate the breathing technique, Levi passed the Frost Wolf Breathing Technique to Algerta.

Then, Algerta used less than a year to cultivate the Frost Wolf Breathing Technique to the level 4 Maximum.

This meant that as long as they had the bloodline of the Primordial Ancestor in their bodies, the fur clan could completely cultivate the breathing technique.

In Levi's opinion, the bloodline of the Primordial Ancestor was a catalyst, and the breathing technique was the path to strengthening the bloodline.

The Frost Wolf Breathing Technique was only a third-rate shallow breathing technique. At most, it could be cultivated to the maximum of level 4.

Logically speaking, Algerta should not be able to continue cultivating after reaching the maximum of level 4.

However, Levi discovered that after a period of time, Algerta's knighthood had improved again, reaching the level of a mid-level knight.

This meant that Algerta had broken the upper limit of the Frost Wolf Breathing Technique.

This surprised Levi.

He guessed that it might be because the Frost Wolf Bloodline in Algerta's body was too rich, directly breaking the Frost Wolf Breathing Technique's limit.

After all, the Frost Wolf Breathing Technique was essentially a technique to temper the Silver Frost Wolf's bloodline.

As for Algerta, she had already walked a long path on this path. It was equivalent to turning back and learning and understanding an elementary Dharmic formulation as a person of a high realm.

Levi thought of the Blood Knight. After the Blood Knight obtained the Blood Beast Breathing Technique, he quickly cultivated it to the limit and reached the level of a top-notch grand knight.

This was probably due to the thicker Blood Clan bloodline in his body.

There was also a possibility that this was related to the God Portrait that Algerta had mentioned.

The breathing technique itself also had a manifestation similar to the bloodline inheritance of transcendent creatures, not just the breathing technique inheritance diagram.

Only people with a certain level of bloodline could have such an inheritance. Giving the Frost Wolf Breathing Technique to Algerta was equivalent to giving her a key to open the door to the bloodline inheritance.

Regardless of the possibility, Levi realized that from the looks of it, the breathing technique and bloodline were mutually reinforcing.

The first trace of the bloodline was a primer. Relying on this primer, she cultivated the breathing technique and refined and strengthened her bloodline power.

Then, when her breathing technique reached the maximum, she might be able to forcefully break through this maximum through his high-level bloodline and let the technique evolve by itself.

In that case, even if Algerta cultivated the Frost Wolf Breathing Technique, she still had a chance to break through the limit step by step to the final Primordial Ancestor.

Perhaps to Algerta, who was born with the rich Silver Frost Wolf Bloodline, the Frost Wolf Breathing Technique was the most suitable breathing technique for her.

As for how to use her bloodline to break the breathing technique limit, Levi still needed more research and experiments..
