

Wizard 650

Chapter 650: Nightmare! (6)

"I'll go take a look. Yellow Earth Continent is in the outer sea region, and low-level wizard organizations usually organize the ancient ruins. At most, they are mid-level, and there are very few high-level wizard organizations. With my strength, if I'm not greedy, it won't be a problem to escape if I encounter danger."

Levi weighed the pros and cons before continuing to swim downwards.

He activated his Intuition state and used Perception to detect any movement. Once the Spider Sensing was in danger, he would immediately retreat.

In the end, he saw buildings deep under the sea. They were wizard towers of various sizes.

"Indeed. Judging from the size of these wizard towers, it should be an Intermediate-level wizard organization's relic."

Most of these buildings were intact and not damaged. There were still traces of arrays outside some buildings. Some arrays were even operating automatically. "This wizard organization shouldn't have been destroyed because of the war. It might have been abandoned."

Levi arrived outside a wizard tower. With his knowledge of arrays, most of the arrays here were not difficult for him.

He broke the restriction array on it and gently pushed open the door of the wizard tower.

The wizard tower was divided into three levels. Usually, this kind of small wizard tower was the accommodation of some first-circle or Second-Circle Wizards.

The first floor was the living room. There were some sculptures and artworks inside. These were all very ordinary items.

Levi, who had gained nothing on the first floor, came to the second floor. This should be the place where the owner of the wizard tower usually studied and cultivated spells.

Levi saw some specimens of strange creatures.

There were frogs with human faces on their backs and hideous mermaid-like monsters.

These things were lifeless and had died for a long time.

Levi found a thick notebook on the desk.

These were only used by ancient wizards. Modern wizards used all kinds of memory slates to replace them.

Wizard David's Research Journal.

"Experiment log 7: We captured some creatures from other dimensions from the entrance of the dimensional rift. Most of these creatures have strange appearances. They seem to do whatever they want. They grow without any pattern and are completely inconsistent with the rules of evolution. It's as if the monsters in our dreams often appear..."

"Experiment log 23: After research, we discovered that the blood of these creatures from other dimensions generally has a hallucinatory effect. Even wizards with powerful spiritual force will fall into an illusion after consuming it. Mick, the next-door neighbor, accidentally killed his maid in an illusion..."

"Experiment log 87'. After the unified research of the organization's wizards, we have tentatively named these creatures Nightmare Creatures. The world they are in should be a new world that no wizard has ever set foot in. The Wizards at the headquarters of the Dreamland Steeple call it the Nightmare World."

"Experiment log 108: Using the hallucinatory potion researched by the Nightmare Creatures, coupled with a special array, it can allow wizards to enter the Nightmare World. This is an epoch-making major discovery. The Nightmare World is a strange and mysterious new world. It contains endless resources. This might be a world on the same level as the astral world and the Underworld. Here, it seems to be able to connect to the entire Multidimensional Plane! If we master the method to use the Nightmare World to teleport, the wizards will be able to open a new route to the distant Multidimensional Plane! Countless wealth is waiting for us! This is a shortcut that can greatly shorten the journey time! I have a feeling that a new era for wizards is about to arrive, and our School of Dreams will become the pioneer of the new era!"

"Experiment log 300: The leader of the Dreamland Steeple, the eighth-circle wizard Daydream Wizard, has disappeared. In his empty wizard tower, a sentence echoed: Don't walk into a nightmare ignorantly.

"But it's already too late..."

The log came to an abrupt halt..
