Chapter 653: Mortal Divine Refinement (3)

Levi's spiritual power swept across the space.

He realized that the group of transcendent creatures had surrounded the Black Naga mother and daughter again. Their expressions seemed to be saying, "You came in too?"

'Gustav, you'll be in charge of protecting the mother and child from now on. You guys, behave yourselves." Levi's voice echoed in the space.

Levi planned to wait until he had mastered the dream entry spell to see if he could enter the Black Naga's dream and plant a psychological hint in it so that

It would completely submit to him.

If he could succeed, it would be easier for him to tame low-level transcendent creatures in the future.

The contract slots of the Scarlet Contract were still very precious. Levi planned to leave it for transcendent creatures above the third-circle.

After finding the Lake Naga, Levi did not stay there any longer.

He quickly retreated from this lost relic buried deep in the trench.

Holy Brilliance Calendar Year 1061, Month of Harvest.

Mist City by Mirror Lake.

A blacksmith shop quietly opened.

In the blacksmith shop, there was a half-naked, white-haired old man with a ruddy face and white hair.

He drank beer while forging in the firelight.

Clinks and clanks sounded outside the city.

Opposite the blacksmith shop was the tavern. From time to time, the sound of drinking and rock-paper-scissors could be heard from the tavern.

"Grandpa Keg, are you seventy-one years old?" Leah stood beside him, her face flushed from the firelight.

"Of course." Levi, who was playing Geralt, exhaled.

"Then why are you still so healthy? Are you really a wizard?" Leah asked.

"Hehe, as long as you run ten laps around Mist City and do a thousand push-ups like me every day, you can do the same," Levi said after taking a sip of wine.

Perhaps he had cultivated alone for too long and had not spoken to normal people for too long. Every day, he would accompany either the fur clans or various transcendent creatures.

Therefore, after obtaining the Lake Naga, Levi did not immediately leave Mirror Lake.

Perhaps it was because of the relic under Mirror Lake, but the power of Aether here was poor. There was not a single wizard organization within a radius of 10,000 miles.

Because of this, this place was also not involved in the disputes of the dark and righteous wizards. It was very peaceful.

Here, Levi lived a rare life of inner peace.

In addition to cultivating, Levi began to give himself some time to experience the various aspects of life.

He always felt that he should do something to further integrate into the lives of mortals.

Therefore, he thought of his old profession in the human world, smithing.

Levi was a Blacksmith Master.

His level 5 maximum blacksmithing skill had been eating dust for a long time.

He looked like a professional.

If Mist City was the novice village in the game, then Levi was the blacksmith NPC in the novice village.

There were all kinds of weapons on his shelves, including sabers, spears, swords, halberds, and everything else.

Many of the designs were made according to the weapons in his memory of Huaxia.

In this world, they were all special weapons.

"The White Wolf Blacksmith Shop is officially open for business. Farming tools, weapons, you name it," Levi called out with a bright smile as she patted Leah's head.

From time to time, some mortals would come to look at the goods. Levi's price was not high. In any case, he did not lack money. It was purely for the sake of cultivating his emotions.

Hence, the goods sold well throughout the morning.

"Business is good, Old Keg." The lady boss sashayed over to call Leah to lunch.

"Hehehe, I've got to earn some money. Otherwise, I won't be able to afford your wine."

The lady boss's name was Siria. Her husband had died shortly after giving birth to Leah, and it had not been easy for her to run the bistro on her own and raise Leah.

Originally, the lady boss thought that if Levi were a wizard, she would try her best to make Leah an apprentice wizard.

Unexpectedly, Levi was indeed an ordinary person. He was just a little stronger than others.

The problem was that no matter how strong he was, it was useless in front of Wizard Lord, even if you could lift a cow and kill it with a Fireball Technique.

Therefore, the lady boss could not count on this anymore. She only hoped that she could live a peaceful life with her daughter by Mirror Lake.

She did not know that Mirror Lake was considered a rare paradise in the chaotic Wizard World.

"I made a little too much for lunch. Do you want to eat?" The lady boss looked at Old Keg who was smithing.

Judging from Old Keg's boasting in the tavern, he was probably an old bachelor who didn't even have a wife.

Therefore, the kind lady boss invited Levi to have a meal together. After all, although he seemed to be in good health, he was still an old man at the end of his life. Perhaps one day, he would close his eyes and sleep forever.

"There's no need. I have a big appetite. That pot of yours isn't even enough for me." Levi waved her hand and let the lady boss take Leah away.

He tidied up the blacksmith shop and returned to his residence. He opened the proficiency panel.

Levi—

Forging: Level 5 (Maximum, can be fused), Special Effect: Fine Craftsmanship, Wind Axe.

Alchemy: Level 5 (13,124/30,000, can be fused)

"I didn't expect this Forging to have a chance to fuse."

This was something Levi had only discovered this morning after performing his blacksmithing work

Perhaps it was because his current forging skills were even more superior than before, so his Forging skills had changed..
