Chapter 687: Bug Luminist! (2)

Countless corrosive venoms filled the deep crater, and swarms of bug-like creatures, resembling ladybugs, emerged, flying into the sky, emitting a foul odor as they attacked Levi.

These were Clay's own cultivated lower-tier Zerg, the "Seven Poison Ladybugs." They were a combination of seven deadly toxins he had collected, refined, and improved.

According to Clay's estimate, his Seven Poison Ladybugs should be among the top 120 in the Zerg rankings, making them exceptional lower-tier Zerg.

Tens of thousands of Seven Poison Ladybugs, like a vast cloud of insects, obscured the sky, producing a buzzing sound comparable to a locust invasion.

"They're actually from the School of Insects!"

Levi's mind stirred.

Most insects were weak to fire, so he infused them with Hellfire and cast a perfected second-circle spell!

Five Fireballs Technique!

Five suns appeared in the sky.

The flames scorched, causing the poisonous bugs to fall one after another.

With Levi's Aether Dominance talent and the Hellfire enhancement, his Five Fireballs Technique was far more powerful than the conventional version.

The remaining poisonous bugs were frozen by Levi's Glacier Descent.

Meanwhile, Saint Scorpions had appeared on the battlefield, devouring the poisonous bugs.

Some Saint Scorpions were bitten to death by the bugs, while others died from poisoning after consuming them.

By the time all the poisonous bugs were consumed, Levi's Saint Scorpions were reduced to less than five thousand.

During their peak, there were over twenty thousand of these Saint Scorpions.

Now, less than a quarter remained, showcasing the potency of the poisonous ladybugs.

Turning misfortune into a blessing, these Saint Scorpions quickly developed resistance to the toxicity of the bugs. Some even absorbed the toxins to enhance themselves.

If they survived, this would greatly assist Levi in breeding even more powerful Saint Scorpions.

Levi believed that, after this transformation, the Saint Scorpions had a chance to advance to middle-grade insects.

Seeing that even the hidden trump card within himself, the poisonous bugs, was useless, Clay couldn't help but feel desperate.

Today, he unexpectedly encountered another version of himself in the world. The other person was also a body-refining wizard, proficient in poison arts, and kept poisonous insects.

"D*mn it! My Zerg!"

Clay shot forward, and the black demon appeared in front of Levi.

He was becoming somewhat insane, directly engaging in close-quarters combat with Levi.

Boom, boom, boom!

Levi's golden-armored divine figure clashed with Clay's black demon in mid-air.

Golden scales fell off, and the venomous body began to dissolve.

Both of them were body-refining wizards, and now they unleashed their true powers.

Seeing Levi's fierce attacks, Old Golden Lion and Wham were both amazed.

Wham finally understood why Levi was so confident.

The opponent turned out to be a rare and powerful body-refining wizard, not inferior to the Hundred Poison Wizard.

The fighting style of these two was too unconventional for them.

With Levi dragging the Hundred Poison Wizard, they quickly surrounded and overwhelmed Yefa, who succumbed to the assault.

After achieving victory, the three third-circle wizards joined in attacking the Hundred Poison Wizard.

Under the siege of so many people, Clay couldn't hold on for long and was eventually defeated by Levi.

The Venom Body exploded, dispersing in all directions.

"Destroy all of this venom, or Clay may potentially resurrect," Levi said. A series of third-circle spells rained down, painting the sky with vibrant colors.

Levi's blood fog dispersed, covering a wide area.

All the venomous microorganisms were enveloped in the blood fog and eventually absorbed.

Levi's figure reappeared, asking, "Have all the other venoms been eradicated?"

"They have all been annihilated," Old Golden Lion and the others now regarded Levi with the utmost respect.

Levi's Intuition state was fully activated.

Frowning, he sensed that there were still some escaping venomous microorganisms within a range of dozens of miles, hiding in concealed places.

His figure disappeared from the scene.

Not long after, Levi confirmed that all the venomous microorganisms had been collected, and he sighed in relief.

"This Hundred Poison Wizard is truly troublesome," Old Golden Lion remarked.

Even with so many people, it took great effort to barely kill him.

If it weren't for Sir Levi, even with more third-circle wizards, it would have been challenging to completely eliminate him.

"Powerful individuals on the Dark List are indeed not easy to deal with, but they are still within my expectations," Levi analyzed in his mind.

He still had many trump cards left, like Bo Gang, Wind Thunder Winged Dragon, Red Lotus Form, and more.

The current enemy, however, was somewhat special.

Clay's mysterious abilities couldn't be solved with brute force.

Initially, Levi planned to use his Scarlet Poison Body to extract all the venomous microorganisms from Clay's body.

Without the Venom Body, Clay would be just a normal third-circle wizard in terms of strength.

However, Clay quickly sensed something was wrong and forcefully broke through Levi's blood fog blockade, denying Levi any opportunity.

With the leader of the Black Water Tower resolved and the addition of Levi and the other third-circle wizards, the remaining minions were completely wiped out.

The tumor entrenched in the central part of the Yellow Earth Continent was finally uprooted.

"Thanks to Sir Levi, I can finally breathe a sigh of relief. Although we only destroyed one Black Water Tower, addressing the symptom rather than the root cause, obtaining a brief respite is not easy," Old Golden Lion expressed his gratitude sincerely.

"Yeah, Sir Levi, which wizard organization are you from, and where do you practice?" Clan Leader Wham inquired..
