

Wizard 740

Chapter 740: Dream Dragon! (4)

Now, all of this had finally come to fruition.

Next, the Twilight Knights would become a giant force behind the scenes in the human world. They would stir up the wind and clouds and sing loudly.

After returning to Dusk Island, Levi listened to the Blood Knight's report on the Twilight Knights in his commander's hall.

So far, excluding Levi and the branch he had established in the Wizard World,

The Twilight Knights in the human world had a total of four legendary knights: the Blood Knight, the Black Knight, the Divine Light Knight, and Knight Hogg.

Among them, Knight Hogg quietly developed in the Seven Kingdoms Continent with the East Pole Empire as the center. He secretly searched for some potential knights in the various large families. After passing the assessment, he was sent to Dusk Island and became a reserve member.

In addition to the assessment, every reserve member of the Knights had to sign a special contract. Once they violated the contract, they would be hunted down by all the other members.

The Blood Knight and the Black Knight were the two pillars of the Twilight Knights. In the past 50 years, they had resolved countless difficulties and obstacles.

The Divine Light Knight had just joined and had yet to break through the legendary barrier. She was mainly responsible for teaching combat skills to the Imights and guiding their training.

In addition, there were more than twenty grand knights on Dusk Island. Among them, there were four top-notch grand knights and one quasi-legendary expert like the Fist of the Empire.

As for the low-level, middle-level, high-level, and peak knights, there were nearly two hundred of them.

Putting aside legendary knights, before the Dark Wave Revival, it was like slaying gods.

According to Levi's previous estimation, in the history of the Emerald Kingdom, under normal circumstances, there were only more than a hundred surviving grand knights.

This meant that his Twilight Knights were already one-fifth as powerful as the grand knights of a country.

The Northern Seven Flying Cavalry, Seven Godly Swords, and Seven Holy Knights of the World were nothing compared to the Twilight Knights.

In addition to the personnel, according to statistics, a large portion of the members of the Twilight Knights were nobles from the seven kingdoms. This meant that the Twilight Knights also indirectly controlled many territories in the seven kingdoms and formed an extremely powerful network of connections and intelligence.

As for his gold coins and wealth, he did not lack them.

"Good! Not bad at all. You've worked hard all these years."

Levi was in a good mood as he listened to the Blood Knight's report.

"There are still many problems that we can't solve with our current abilities..." The Blood Knight said.

"What's the problem? Tell me."

"For example, the confidentiality of the organization by reserve members. The current contract is more of a deterrence. There's no way to truly form a soul contract with the Wizard World.

"I'm worried that if there are too many people, there will inevitably be some black sheep in the future who will leak the existence of the organization to a faction like the Church. In that case, it will bring a considerable disaster to the organization that still needs to develop.

"There's also the problem of the secret medicine of the Knight Breathing Technique. As more and more knights enter the island, our holy temple's secret medicine has long been insufficient.

"For example, the Earthly Dragon Beast ambergris that many powerful breathing techniques require is almost extinct because of our wanton hunting. Later on, we realized that this could not be sustained, so we tried to capture the Earthly Dragon Beasts alive and then artificially breed them, but we failed.

"The lack of secret medicines makes it difficult for most knights to cultivate without secret medicines. Their cultivation speed is not ideal."

The Blood Knight sighed and explained the predicament the knights were facing.

"I've been thinking about the two problems you mentioned recently. The first one is that I plan to rely on my wizard knowledge to research a Contract

Wizard Tool. This Wizard Tool can collect a trace of soul power. In the future,

Every new reserve member who joins the Dusk Holy Temple needs to contribute a trace of soul power to the Wizard Tool. Only then can we truly control these members and prevent some spies or traitors from harming the organization.

As for the second problem, I also have a solution, but it will take some time to prepare.

"The Dusk Holy Temple is not a charity organization. In the future, every reserve member needs a corresponding Equivalent Exchange if they want to obtain knight knowledge and secret medicine. This is the trading standard advocated by many wizards. We can do the same.

Moreover, there was no way to give birth to a true knight in the Ivory Tower. Knights had to experience battles of blood and fire to be trained.

"The Dark Wave Revival is also an opportunity to let these knights participate in more battles to train their combat skills and consciousness and temper their breathing techniques. "

"Indeed, I can feel that the activities of the dark creatures are becoming more and more frequent," the Blood Knight said solemnly.

After the Blood Knight finished reporting his work, Levi began to carefully study the breathing techniques he had learned from Andrew.

Among the hundreds of breathing techniques, there were only six Perception breathing techniques.

They were the Jellyfish Breathing Technique, the Mirage Beast Breathing

Technique, the Cloud Insect Breathing Technique, the Great Nightmare Breathing Technique, the Space Butterfly Breathing Technique, and the Dream Dragon Breathing Technique.

The Jellyfish, Cloud Insect, and Space Butterfly Breathing Techniques were all of shallow quality.

As for the Mirage Beast and the Great Nightmare Breathing Techniques, they were of excellent quality.

As for the final Dream Dragon Breathing Technique, it was actually perfect-grade!