

Wizard 847

Chapter 847: Emperor's Wrath! (2)

Not only did these guys obstruct its advancement, but they also forced it to a dead end and almost killed it.

If it wasn't for their interference, it would have been possible for it to advance further with that trace of [Divine Fire]. At that time, it might even become a level 6 [Fire Element Lord].

But now, it had failed to advance into a Fire Elemental Lord and its strength had even deteriorated to the peak of the fourth-level fire element.

Among them, the most abominable one was that little bug that only knew how to run away from him!

If it wasn't for chasing after him, he wouldn't have come to this unknown world. It wouldn't have gotten lost here and couldn't find its way home. It wouldn't have been running around like a headless fly!

It's all the little bug's fault!

The Fire Elemental Spirit roared angrily towards the sky.

Suddenly, it felt a weak but holy Strength burning in its body.

It looked over and saw that the Sealing Sacred Objects that it had detonated to burn the Mortal Barrier still had a fragment lying dormant in its body. There was also a trace of [Divine Flame] that contained the original divine power.

At this moment, its eyes revealed hope again.

Although only a trace was left, as long as it was nurtured and refined in its fire element body... One day, it would be able to recover its strength. This divine fire was just a little primer. In the future, its advancement will be smoother than other fire element.

In the fire element, "Anvada" meant "the flames of vengeance, burning everything."

This Fire Elemental Spirit named itself Anvada.

It would search for underground fire in this Land of Darkness without sunlight and cultivate quietly to become stronger. It would never come out before it became a Fire Element Lord!

When it came out of seclusion, it would be the time for the fire of revenge to sweep through the world!

Even if it had to turn the human world upside down, it had to find that little bug and use the Strength of the Fire Element Lord to subdue that little bug. Then, that bug would suffer its flames every day until it died.

Three hundred years to the east, three hundred years to the west. I, Anvada, will never yield to fate!

The fire elements sang loudly, their voices piercing the clouds and cracking the rocks. The flames lit up the dark world.

At this moment, it felt like a God!

"Eh, there's actually a wild level four fire element here. I'll keep it, hehehe..." Suddenly, a huge hand that seemed to be formed by endless black gas descended from the sky and grabbed Anvada.

Feeling the terrifying sealing power, Anvada was shocked.

This Strength was stronger than the female wizard who had surrounded him.

In addition, its strength had just regressed. Now, it was actually sealed in place and could not move!

The next moment, there was a thud.

Anvada was pressed to the ground by the black hand.

"I just happen to be lacking a fire element for refining weapons. It's really like someone is giving me a pillow when I'm sleepy."

A bald old man with pale skin and clear purplish-purple blood vessels appeared in the sky above Anvada.

He wore a tattered black robe that seemed to have been made in ancient times. His face had no eyes, only a narrow eye socket that seemed to have degenerated. His teeth were yellow and withered. He stuck out his black tongue and licked his lips.

"It's been 300,000 years. Ever since our ancestors started, we have been forgotten here for 300,000 years... Those who abandoned us and banished us here should be dead as well. The barrier that blocks the Blade of Vengeance has already begun to collapse... Nora, your king is back!"

The strange bald old man cackled as he grabbed the extremely unwilling Anvada and left the place. He found a crack in the ground and disappeared into the darkness.

Anvada looked at the blue sky and roared in his heart, 'Just you wait, little bugs. I'll be back. The king will take revenge. A thousand years is not too late! You better not die of old age!"

On the other side.

Levi was currently hurrying on the sea.

"Sigh, I feel like I've accidentally caused trouble again... There was actually such a barrier like an air wall in the outer sea region. No wonder the adventurers' attempts to explore Nora's Great Voyage had failed... That's because the [Game Map] of Nora hasn't been fully opened yet..." Levi cursed inwardly.

He knew that these barriers were most likely related to the war between the gods and the wizards in ancient times.

Moreover, this barrier should also be used to protect the Seven Kingdoms Continent.

But now, it shattered...

"It's not my fault. If you want to blame someone, blame that damned fire element. After I attain the fifth-circle, I must go and subdue that fellow."

As Levi flew, his expression suddenly changed. He sensed a golden light rapidly approaching from behind.

He gradually increased his speed, but the golden light still caught up to him.

"Little guy, why are you running?" A wizard walked beside Levi and said with a smile. It was Wizard Barzan.

"Senior, I've completed my mission, so I'll leave after getting permission from the Rose Witch," Levi said truthfully.

"I didn't expect you to be so good at hiding your skills. I wonder where you learned your knowledge about arrays..."

"I only have a rough understanding of it. It's just some common knowledge of arrays..." Li Wei quietly felt the hairs on his body stand up as the Strength in his body accumulated.

"Don't be nervous. I'm a body-refining wizard. I'm not interested in your array inheritance... However, I'm quite interested in your powerful body tempering technique!"