Chapter 851: Emperor's Wrath! (6)

Not long after, King Cang hurriedly stopped his needlework.

He climbed up from the Lizardwoman's body, put on his armor, and held a Luminant gold greatsword in his hand. He then came to the messenger's side.

"King Cang present!"

On the other side.

The Intis Mountain Range.

King Yi, the Skybreaking Ancient Saint, had also received the imperial edict.

The Ancient Saint's blood in his body which had been immersed for a long time began to boil again.

A few days later.

Levi sat on his throne.

He looked down at the 23 Ancient Saints who had already arrived!

Three Kings and twenty members of the Senior State Assembly!

They might not be a match for a fourth-circle wizard if they fought alone, but if twenty-three of them joined forces, each of them could drown a fourth-circle wizard.

Moreover, the strength of the three kings was not weaker than the fourth-circle.

"Follow it and find the traces of the evil spirit. Be careful and don't be too ostentatious. After completing the mission, return immediately... I want to guard this place and fight against an even greater evil," said Levi.

"Understood!"

The three kings and the members of the Senior State Assembly accepted the order.

In the human world, in the outer sea region, on an inconspicuous island.

On the island, there was a small mortal town. In the middle of the town, there was a luxurious mansion.

That was the castle of Lord Barr, who was known to everyone on the island.

This island was Lord Barr's fief. The mortals here provided resources for Lord Barr and Lord Barr sheltered them.

In an underground secret room in Barr Castle.

There was a huge pool of underground fire.

On top of it was a large crucible that had been burned red.

The pot was filled with thick golden soup.

This wasn't water, but molten iron from the Luminant gold.

Luminant gold body-refining runes flickered on Barzan's body. These runes allowed him to lie in the molten iron unscathed.

Not only that, but traces of the metal element power of the Luminant gold continuously flowed into his body, patching up his wounds.

His Luminant gold's wizard body could only be cultivated by bathing in Luminant Gold molten iron.

"I don't know what kind of cultivation technique that brat cultivated, but he was able to shatter my Luminant gold's wizard body," Barzan muttered to himself.

"According to that brat's character, even if there is a contract, he will definitely not let it go. When I find an opportunity, I will deliberately appear in front of him and force him to attack me. Then, I will retaliate in self-defense and kill him. Then, I will be able to avoid the influence of the contract... Or I can ask my mother to ask the high-level primordial soul wizard of the Spirit Catcher Steeple to take action and tear up the contract. What can a wild wizard do to fight me?"

There was an oil painting on the wall in front of Barzan. In the oil painting was a peaceful girl with her eyes closed.

Suddenly, the girl opened her eyes. Her face was distorted, and she seemed to have come to life. She walked down from the painting and turned into a swaying human skin. A cold and lonely female voice came from the human skin. "Barzan, where are you now? I heard that the Mortal Barrier has been broken. Is that true?"

"Lord Spectre, it's true... It's indeed true." Barzan said respectfully.

"What's wrong with you? Why are you so heavily injured?" The human skin asked.

"I was hunting that flaming divine bird and was injured by its self-detonation. Then, I was ambushed by a third-circle wild wizard. However, it's not a big deal. I'm about to recover, but there's still some poison that needs to be removed," said Barzan.

"Your mother asked me to pass a message to you. Try not to cause trouble outside and wait for her to come to the mortal world."

"I understand."

As soon as Barzan finished speaking, his expression changed. He could sense auras approaching Barr Castle.

Outside Barr Castle, around the island, a black cloud lingered in the sky. This black cloud was like a wriggling asphalt that circled in the sky.

"Look, what's that above Lord Barr's castle?"

"Is it raining?"

"I don't know... What a terrifying feeling."

In the next moment, figures wearing black robes and black hoods walked out of the black poisonous fog. A total of 23 powerful auras surrounded the castle.

"This is the residence of the Alien Demons!" Feather King looked down coldly as a terrifying attack was brewing.

King Cang and King Yi also accumulated their strength.

The twenty Ancient Saints of the Senior State Assembly had even formed some sort of formation.

At this moment, the sky above the castle was like an apocalyptic disaster.

"Who are you?"

Just as Barzan walked out of the secret room, he discovered figures charging into the castle from midair.

Boom!

The castle collapsed instantly, and rocks flew everywhere.

Barzan's Luminant gold's wizard body, which had yet to be fully repaired, shattered once again under this terrifying joint attack.

The entire island was shaking.

"An earthquake..."

"Heavens, what is that? Angels or demons?"

"Run, let's go to the sea."

The citizens rushed to the sea.

Boom!

Immediately after, an even more violent attack erupted.

The castle was reduced to dust.

In the large pit in the center, there were only some pieces of Barzan's flesh and blood... There was also a shattered head that died with grievances.

The fierce attack caused the underground fire below the island to erupt, and the Luminant gold's liquid splashed in all directions. Along with the lava, it swallowed Barzan's flesh and castle.

The mortals who escaped to the surface of the sea looked at everything in shock.

Amidst the dark clouds and volcanoes, the demons disappeared before their very eyes.

Only the castle that had been razed to the ground witnessed everything that had happened.

"Previously, I heard from the maidservant of Barr Castle that Lord Barr seemed to have secretly signed a contract with the demons of Hell. Now it seems that... it is true. Those who sign a contract with the demons will not have a good ending. Everyone in Barr Castle is dead..."

A blind, crazed old man muttered to himself in the crowd.

"There's a demon! Let's run!"

The mortals boarded the ships and left.

No one cared about the crazy old man in the crowd.

When there was no one left in the sky, the old man looked at the castle with a lifeless gaze and a strange smile appeared on his lips.

His face began to change, and his figure began to grow taller and taller, finally turning into Levi's appearance.

The black Demon picked up the storage bags and treasures he had picked up in the castle and came to Levi's side.

After Levi filtered through the items, he threw them into the lava and destroyed them. Then, he left the place without looking back.

In the Gaia Kingdom, within the Spirit Kingdom.

A lady with skin as smooth as jade and dressed in a black palace dress was deep in thought in a hall full of ghosts and monsters.

"Barzan is dead. Who are those mysterious people... Are they dark wizards?"
