Chapter 921: Successful Potion Concoction! (1)

Miraya held the container in her hand and paused for a moment.

Soon, she understood what Levi meant.

"Master, I... I don't have it now," the succubus whispered.

"You don't? From the looks of it, that shouldn't be so..."

Levi looked down at the succubus and asked curiously. He even fiddled with her breasts.

It was bouncy!

As his scarlet servant, the succubus probably wouldn't lie to him.

Could it be that there was a special requirement to obtain this?

He had spent a lot of effort to capture this succubus alive.

If the goods didn't come out, even he would collapse.

The succubus blushed and looked down. The towering mountains blocked her vision.

"I'm very curious. Which wizard was the first to discover that this thing can enhance one's spiritual force after consuming it..." Miraya said helplessly.

"How are you going to provide that thing I need?" Levi asked.

If he encountered a problem, he would solve it.

He had an idea and suddenly remembered that to take care of some transcendent creatures in his ring, he had once refined a potion called the Goddess of Spring's Blessing Potion.

Spring Potion.

After injecting this medicine into female transcendent creatures, it could promote their secretion of milk to feed the small transcendent creatures.

"Master, succubuses can only produce what you need when they are in extreme pleasure," Miraya said.

"Speak human language," Levi said impatiently.

"It's that... Master, you know." Miraya looked at Levi with seductive eyes.

"Lie down!" Levi ordered thoughtfully.

The succubus revealed a smug smile and lay in front of Levi with a coquettish smile, revealing her soul-stirring curves. She took the initiative to take off the gauze dress at her waist...

Levi walked up to her, took out the Goddess of Spring potion from his inventory, and pricked it with a needle!

"Hiss... Master, it hurts a little. What are you doing?"

"Try using my method. Get up. I'll keep an eye on the changes in your body," Levi said.

"Alright." Miraya put on her clothes and smiled strangely.

While waiting for Miraya to deliver the goods, Levi continued his cultivation and research.

In the blink of an eye, a month had passed.

He didn't tell the Senior State Assembly and the three kings about his arrival.

Occasionally, he would visit the various city-states incognito and blend into the crowd to observe the situation of the people.

He just wanted to see if these guys from the Senior State Assembly had any crooked thoughts when he was not around.

From the looks of it, with Excalibur's constraints, they were all more honest.

As for Miraya, she would use some small tricks to seduce Levi from time to time.

This was the nature of succubus. Levi did not blame her.

For many wizards with special kinks, the goat hooves and horns of the succubus would make them even more excited.

Levi did not have such a strange preference. He only wanted to refine the Succubus Potion as soon as possible and advance to the fourth-circle.

"Before advancing to the fourth-circle, I have to construct a model of a fourth-circle spell. The spell model I'm going to construct next will be the embryonic form of my first innate spell after advancing to the fourth-circle. Then, with this as the foundation, I'll give birth to my own innate spell."

With this in mind, Levi began to search for suitable spells in the magic library that he had accumulated over the years.

Levi's innate spells during his third-circle were Earth, Burning, and Ocean Faction.

Therefore, he planned to choose his first fourth-circle innate spell from the Elementalist Schools such as Storm, Thunder, Bronze, and Frost.

After he finished learning the spells of the Elementalist School, he would consider the spells of death, life, and other schools as innate spells.

What was an ultimate polygonal wizard?

Levi!

As for which faction to choose, it would depend on Levi's spell storage.

The next day.

There were dozens of spell crystal balls on the desk in front of Levi.

The spell crystal balls were all third-circle and above spell models. They were also extremely precious knowledge in the Wizard World.

After some sorting out, Levi discovered that in his current magic library.

There were 1,286 cantrip models, 345 first-circle models, 153 second-circle models, 31 third-circle models, and 12 fourth-circle models.

One could clearly see that the number of spells had plummeted from the third-circle onwards.

Be it the quantity or difficulty of obtaining middle-level knowledge, it far exceeded low-level knowledge.

Because the Endless Sea was the territory of the Ocean Faction, more than half of these spell models were ocean spells.

"In terms of attack and killing, my path of knights is completely enough... I have the Fire Dragon Tribulation for long-range attacks, control the Water Dragon's Song, and defend against the Earth Dragon Barrier. When I advance to the fourth-circle, the power of these three innate spells will similarly advance to the standard of the fourth-circle... I'm still lacking a spell for running. Otherwise, just relying on the Scarlet Dragon Breathing Technique is too low."

In the Elementalist School, lightning or storms were undoubtedly the most suitable to escape.

Levi began to flip through the information on these spells.

He counted the spells of the Storm Faction. There were very few of them. Other than the Collins Family that he had met in the Yellow Earth Continent, he had never seen a wizard of the Storm Faction.

On the other hand, the spells of the Lightning Faction had been accumulated because they had killed many members of the Thunder Dragon Family during the auction.

In the end, Levi finalized the list of thunder element spells that needed to be fused in the future.

They were Thunder Afterimage, Lightning Wings, Lightning Current, Swift Thunder Technique...

There were a total of 18 spells that were related to movement and flying.
