

Wizard 942

Chapter 942: Dragon and Whale, Battle Phoenix! (5)

"Fire Dragon Tribulation!"

He pointed out.

A Crimson Divine Dragon roared out and dived into the sea in the distance. With a boom, flames soared into the sky, and the seawater evaporated. White smoke rose up, and countless fish and sea beasts were scared out of their wits.

[101 Cas]

"It's also a third-circle innate spell. At the third-circle, it was only 40 Cas. After the fourth-circle, its power skyrocketed to 100 Cas. It's comparable to my Destruction Sword Qi after my transformation, but its attack range is far greater than the sword qi... this is the might of the fourth-circle!"

"Of course, if it was an ordinary third-circle innate spell, even if it was a fourth-circle innate spell, it might only have the power of 40 to 50 to 60 Cas."

"However, my talent is the top third-circle talent. It's different from those ordinary people!"

Levi tried the Water Dragon's Song again. The Earth Dragon Barrier's power had a qualitative change.

Especially the Earth Dragon Barrier, its defense was even stronger than Levi's Golden Snake Scales.

This was the first time Levi's spell defense had surpassed his knight defense!

After cultivating for so long, the path of a wizard had finally begun to flourish!

Then, Levi tried the only fourth-circle spell he had learned when he advanced to fourth-circle.

Thunder Afterimage!

As the spell power flowed into the spell model...

Suddenly, blue electric arcs jumped around Levi, crackling loudly.

He chanted an incantation.

With a whoosh, his entire body was covered in sparks and lightning as he dashed out like a monkey!

Not long after, when he reappeared, he was already a hundred miles away.

"Not bad, but its speed is still inferior to my Scarlet Shadow... This is only the most ordinary spell. Next, I'll use this spell as a foundation to construct my first fourth-circle innate spell to save my life!"

"However, after getting to the fourth-circle, it wasn't just the changes in these spells."

"My Metal Voodoo has also broken through its Maximum and attained level 8, entering the fourth-circle realm."

Levi stepped into the sea and pressed his palm on the surface of the sea.

The golden liquid flowed into the sea from his fingertips, spreading like golden ink in the sea.

In the end, the surface of the sea within a five-mile radius was dyed golden.

The golden waves rolled, looking dreamy under the sunlight.

If one were to sense it carefully with their spiritual force, they would discover that these golden waves were made up of countless densely packed tiny microorganisms.

It was the Golden Legendary version of the Toxic Swarm!

"Assemble!" Levi shouted.

All the golden liquid gathered together with the seawater, forming a golden giant that was 200 feet tall!

It was Levi's Metal Voodoo.

"After reaching the fourth-circle, the Metal Voodoo can already change the surrounding environment and make full use of the geographical advantage to strengthen itself in battle. Just this body-tempering clone that has just reached the fourth-circle is enough to defeat a fourth-circle imposter like Master of Flames."

Now, Levi was equivalent to a fourth-circle in terms of cultivation and spells.

Even if he did not consider the path of knights, his strength was still not something that an ordinary fourth-circle wizard could compare to.

He returned to the wizard tower. On the table, there was a small crystal wine cup that emitted a cold aura.

The Wizard Tool couldn't be kept in the storage bag. Inside it was the pond water of the Eye of the Ice Emperor, which contained a dense frost elemental power.

This was also the most important spoils of war for Levi's trip to the Ice Realm. Another loot he got was the storage bag of another fourth-circle wizard. There was nothing special in it, just some Aether Stones and a third-circle Wizard Tool. Other than that, everything else was trash.

Levi was thinking about how he could make use of this pool of water.

"When I return to the Ancient Saint plane, I'll see if I can find a place to preserve the rich elemental energy in the form of an array and build a cold pond. This way, I can continue to liquefy my spiritual force in it and not waste this treasure."

...

The next day.

Levi arrived at the Starfire Wizard Academy.

Wizard Newt was in class, waiting patiently.

After class.

In Newt's office.

"Levi, long time no see. I heard from Rose that you went on a long journey. Are you back now?" he asked.

"That's right, Newt. Can you appraise a fifth-circle Wizard Tool? I have a friend who wants to appraise a Wizard Tool and asked me to ask you." Levi asked.

"Fifth-circle?" Neute was shocked.

He thought to himself that this friend of his was most likely Levi himself...

He shook his head and said helplessly, "Right now, I can only appraise a fourth-circle Wizard Tool at most. The knowledge involved in appraising a fifth-circle Wizard Tool is too complicated. I can only master it after I become a fourth-circle wizard."

"Alright, I won't disturb you anymore." Levi's expression remained the same, but he was a little disappointed. Then, he asked again, "Then, do you know any reliable masters who can appraise fifth-circle Wizard Tools?"

A fifth-circle Wizard Tool was of great importance. Levi did not dare to casually find an appraiser to appraise it, lest he was targeted and killed for the treasure.

"I heard that you have a good relationship with Madam Triss," asked Newt.

"Yes."

"Then you should look for her directly. For a primordial soul wizard, any Wizard Tool below the primordial soul realm can be appraised. Therefore, the highest rank of an appraiser is fifth-circle. After the primordial soul realm, every wizard is a master appraiser. Even if it's someone else's Soul Artifact, a primordial soul wizard can appraise it, but it will take a long time," said Newt.

"Understood." Levi thanked him.

He trusted Madam Triss' character. Moreover, with her strength, she would definitely not be interested in a fifth-circle Wizard Tool. She would not go so far as to kill him for the treasure.

All in all, Levi had to appraise the fifth-circle Wizard Tool he had obtained from the Black-Eyed Crow. Otherwise, no matter how powerful a Wizard Tool was, it would still be scrap metal!

After witnessing Salman using a Wizard Tool to display his might, Levi began to pay attention to the effects of Wizard Tools on combat power.

After bidding farewell to Newt, Levi looked at the Starfire Wizard Academy which was developing well.

For some reason, he was quite optimistic about this new organization.

"Levi?"

Just as Levi was about to leave the Starfire Wizard Academy, a voice called out to him.

It was a short wizard with an unfamiliar face.

In the next moment, his face changed, turning into the appearance in Levi's memory.

"Huffman?"