Chapter 95: Blood Whale's Sac!

Levi had always felt that breathing techniques were magical.

However, this Blood Whale Breathing Technique refreshed his knowledge.

He could increase the number of organs in the human body by cultivating the breathing technique.

This was something that Levi had never expected.

The function of the whale sac was straightforward.

Like the hump, it stores a tremendous amount of energy food produces. Food would be replenished through the whale sac in the human body when it was unavailable.

In Levi's eyes, this was similar to a food bank.

He could eat a lot of food at once. After the digestive system digests the food, the excess energy produced is stored in the whale sac. The upper limit of the storage was related to the cultivation base of knights.

In short, for a low-level knight, if he did not use the breathing technique violently, a full whale sac would output energy to his body and last him a week without any food.

For a mid-level knight, it could last him two weeks, three weeks for a high-level knight, and one month for a peak knight.

As for grand knights, it was rumored that they could go without food for three months without any problems.

Of course, these depended on the condition that the breathing technique was not used violently in battle. Time would be shortened if breathing techniques were used.

"Isn't this the Imight's version of fasting?" Levi thought.

The benefits of the whale sac were huge. First, Levi did not need to carry much food outside. He could eat his fill once, which would last him long.

At the same time, he did not have to worry about the sin of gluttony and becoming delirious due to excessive hunger when he used high-intensity breathing techniques without food.

"I have to train. Isn't it just having more organs? This is very normal and reasonable in the supernatural world," Levi consoled himself.

Besides the Blood Whale Breathing Technique, the Azure Falcon breathing technique Levi had just obtained during his trip to the Holy City also reached the fourth level.

According to Levi's speculation, the Azure Falcon breathing technique had a maximum level of five.

After level five, he could sacrifice the Azure Falcon breathing technique for the Siren Breathing Technique to allow the latter to break its limits.

That way, he could continue to cultivate the Siren Breathing Technique.

The Azure Falcon breathing technique's cultivation speed could be the fastest

Levi had ever cultivated. This also proved that his previous guess was correct. As more powerful breathing techniques appeared, Levi's cultivation speed became shorter.

At Levi's heart, the Black Snake danced wildly and majestically.

Under the Black Snake, the Siren, Giant Bear, Giant Rhinoceros, Raging Bull, and Man-Faced Spider's "five underlings" all submitted. The Azure Falcon Seed had joined the underlings' army, and the Black Snake had another underling.

Levi felt that if the Black Snake Seed had not suppressed the others, those Life Seeds might have started fighting each other.

Besides the Blood Beast Breathing Technique and the Azure Falcon Breathing Technique, Levi did not have any breakthroughs in his other breathing techniques.

After all, Black Snake and Man-Faced Spider were stuck at level 5. They needed considerable proficiency points to reach level 6, which could not be achieved

The Giant Breathing Technique required the Giant secret medicine, and Levi had yet to find one of the main ingredients, the Frost Ape's Blood.

Not only was he unable to find it, Levi had never heard of a creature like the Frost Ape. It was most likely a complex material, just like the Turbellarian Egg.

Levi was afraid that these creatures had already gone extinct, but after thinking about it, he felt it was unlikely. After all, whether it was the Frost Apes or the Turbellarians, they were relatively unpopular.

Conversely, ambergris was a secret medicine for many powerful breathing techniques. From what Levi knew, besides the Black Snake Breathing Technique, the Jade Royal Family's Dragon Breathing Technique also required ambergris.

Moreover, he had heard that the breathing technique passed down from the Giant Iron Crocodile Arion family in the Land of Rust Lake also required ambergris.

Therefore, many families targeted the Earthly Dragon Beasts, yet they were still not extinct. The Frost Apes and the Turbellarians should still be around, but Levi had not found them yet.

Cultivating an excellent breathing technique without any secret medicine would waste time. For efficiency, Levi had stopped developing the Giant Breathing Technique after he had reached its primary level and would cultivate it again when he found its secret medicine.

The same was true for the Vortex Beast Breathing Technique, which Levi also stopped cultivating.

Levi used his saved time to cultivate other breathing techniques, which was why the Azure Falcon breathing technique reached the fourth level.

As for the final Giant Rhinoceros Breathing Technique that had no limits, it was not far from level 5.

After the Giant Rhinoceros reached level 5, Levi planned to fuse the Raging Bull and Giant Bear with the Giant Rhinoceros to break its limit.

In the future, if he cultivated the Giant Breathing Technique to the limit, he would use the Giant Rhinoceros as a material for the Giant Breathing Technique.

In short, he could strengthen the breathing technique as he wished. It would not be a waste anyway.

The combination and fusion of breathing techniques would be beneficial.

The same type of breathing technique would be ideally circulated to the highest level of the breathing technique ecological chain.

During this period, Levi was most concerned about cultivating the Seal of Flame and Seal of Protection. These abilities were closest to a wizard, and their future achievements would not be comparable to standard breathing techniques.

As a fan of the Stacked Armor Style, Levi naturally prioritized the Seal of Protection.

Therefore, the Seal of Protection was upgraded very quickly. This month, it had reached level 2, and the Pure White Protection had been upgraded to Bright Silver Protection.

Once he cast the spell, Levi's body would emit a brilliant silver light, making him look gorgeous.

Levi tested it out. The Bright Silver Protection's physical defense was enough to block the three brothers' attacks completely. The three brothers did not shatter the barrier until the Seal of Protection lost its effect.

However, he reckoned it would not be enough against the grand knight's attack. Nonetheless, it would still serve as an additional layer of defense.

After all, Levi valued the Seal of Protection's defense against creatures like evil spirits.

With the Black Snack Breathing Technique and the Frost Giant Armor, he was invincible in the mortal world!

However, after Seal of Protection reached level 2, Levi did not dare to waste his time on it.

He had used up two-thirds of the materials to reach level 2. The remaining one-third would only gain a few hundred proficiency points. It would be futile since the Seal of Protection required 5000 proficiency points to reach level 3.

Therefore, before finding new Pyroxene, the remaining few hundred sets of casting materials could not be wasted.

The Seal of Flame was still level 1. Although its materials were easy to find, they were not cheap. However, he was not far from level 2. The range of the Flame Seal had already reached about two meters!

A month ago, Levi had gone to a deserted place to test the power of the Frost Giant's Sigh. Everything within a ten-meter radius of him was frozen!

The birds flying at low altitudes were frozen and turned into ice sculptures. The grass that had just emerged was frozen into the ice crystals and no longer swayed.

With Levi as the center, everything within a ten-meter radius was frozen solid!

This was the power of spells!

If those mortals saw this, they would think it was a miracle. However, Levi knew that this was only the power of a First-Ring Spell.

"Grand knight, if you can't withstand my spells and enter my ice-sealed domain, you'll be easily beaten."

"It's a pity that it can only be used once per month. Otherwise, I would have killed my way to the Duke of Montenegro's house and frozen everyone I saw."

After a month of charging with the Aether power, the Frost Giant's Sigh had been restored.

With this trump card skill, although Levi was still cautious about grand Imights, he was no longer as afraid as before.

Without Fred in the castle, no one could share the joy of Levi's breakthrough.

During this period, he spent all his time in the shelter, either making medicine or forging. He only spent a little time every week to check on the situation in the territory.

A few days ago, Abraham happily returned after receiving Levi's tax payment.

Levi remembered all their transactions.

During this period, he had been waiting for the arrival of the grand knight in his territory. He had already made preparations to kill him.

Unfortunately, the enemy did not come. Levi decided to take the initiative to attack.

The evil spirit had attacked the grand knight, so he was most likely injured and in poor condition. Levi's strength was far more significant than a month ago, so he felt now was the best time to beat up a fallen knight.

After communicating with the survivors, Levi briefly learned about the grand knight's appearance. He wore an iron helmet and carried a shark-tooth-shaped sword.

He was also very tall, probably over two meters tall. He was most likely cultivating strength, defense, and physique-type breathing techniques.

With these characteristics, Levi should be able to find his traces with the help of the Shining Tavern.

Moreover, he heard from the survivors that they seemed to be looking for a Blacksmith Master called the Golden Warhammer from the conversation between the grand knight and his subordinates.

"Perhaps I can use my avatar to lure the enemy out of his hole. That grand knight will never expect that the Golden Warhammer he is looking for is me, Levi!"

Hence, Levi began to prepare for the hunt for the grand knight.

He made and refined large quantities of the Man-Faced Spider series poisons. Poison was always the best tool for the weak to defeat the strong.

He forged and reforged the Dragon Armor and spent a lot of money on mithril to reforge Frostmourne. Now, the mithril content of Frostmourne had reached one-third. In this era, it was a top-notch divine weapon. Coupled with Levi's Golden Cross Slash, it could genuinely cut through iron like mud!

The Frost Giant's Sigh had also finished its cooldown.

Everything was ready; all left was to lure the enemy out of his hole!

Levi brought a set of Blacksmith Master-grade mithril armor he had recently forged and arrived at the Icewind City.

He wore the iconic Golden Warhammer mask and entered the Shining Tavern without a ticket.

The Shining Tavern staff was overwhelmingly passionate after not seeing him for so long.

"Master, you've finally appeared. The entire Icewind City nobles are waiting for your next masterpiece."

The Shining Auction House president was full of anticipation.

"That's right. I've been silent for this period because I've put in a lot of effort and spent half a year forging the strongest mithril armor: Leviathan Armor!

"There are three tales of mithril mixed into this. This is my best work this year. I hope your auction will do a good job and make this work worth its price.

"I will also stay in Icewind City for some time to custom-make items that cost no less than 500 gold coins. If anyone needs custom-made items, you can contact me through your Shining Tavern."

Levi had the air of a master: confident and arrogant.

"No problem, Master. Please leave it to us. This Leviathan Armor will excite the entire Icewind City! Master, be prepared to retrieve money with a gunny sack!"

Then, Levi found a small inn in the Icewind City. While cultivating his breathing techniques and honing his sword skills, he waited for the fish to take the bait.

Since he wanted to find the Golden Warhammer, he would come.

Levi clenched his fists. He was fully prepared.

He wanted one less grand knight in the Emerald Kingdom!
