

Wizard 983

Chapter 983: Primordial Soul Wizard Mastermind

Anya himself had encountered it many times, but he had always killed them.

"How can he be a match for the gang by himself? Even for me, as a Child of the Elements, it would take some effort to resolve it," said Sierra, feeling a little regretful. She had never personally sparred with Levi before.

"I think there's only one possibility for the battle to end so quickly... Either Levi encountered a fifth-circle wizard, or... Those people were killed by Levi."

"If it was a fifth-circle wizard, the two of us would have been discovered by the other party long ago. The fluctuations emitted from the battle would definitely be stronger than before, so there was no fifth-circle wizard involved in this battle."

"Therefore, Levi killed the other party and left in a hurry. Otherwise, with Levi's strength, he would not have been defeated in such a short time even if he was surrounded by several fourth-circle wizards!"

"I believe in my mother's judgment. She's very accurate in judging people."

Anya analyzed the situation seriously and said calmly.

He had set Levi as his target, so he was quite familiar with Levi's style.

"In that case, the enemy might be the White Robe Wizard from just now. It shouldn't be a gang... As far as I know, it's not just me. Even the fourth-circle elites of the Six Towers and our generation, the Children of the Elements, none of them can take care of several wizards of the same level in a short period of time," said Sierra.

Since ancient times, the Children of the Elements of large organizations had basically represented the ceiling of a realm's combat strength. Therefore, such an analysis made sense.

"Perhaps... Let's go back too. It's too dangerous outside recently." Anya looked into the distance. He felt that there might be more than one enemy.

In short, for Levi who did dual cultivation of spells and body-refining, even if he was not their match, nothing would happen to him.

In his mother's words, "Levi's life was solid!"

...

At the border of the Star Sea and the inner sea region.

In an uninhabited area of the sea, Levi's figure appeared in a flash of red light.

He found an island, opened up a simple shelter, and set up an array.

"Before I go back to the human world, I should deal with these spoils of war and that person first. I shouldn't bring trouble back."

Levi took out all the spoils of war from the three of them and counted them one by one.

After counting, his expression was ugly.

"A total of only a hundred thousand Aether Stones? It doesn't look like a normal fourth-circle wizard's savings at all."

"Among the other items, there are only Casting materials, some regular potions to replenish consumption and heal injuries, and a few standard Wizard Tools... Other than that, there's nothing else!"

This situation showed one thing.

These three people were not simple dark wizards, but some kind of organization's sacrificial soldiers or assassins.

They were only carrying out an assassination order, so they wouldn't bring anything that could expose their identities, let alone a large amount of Aether Stones.

They were just chess pieces that could be abandoned by their master at any time. They would cut off their connections to avoid exposing themselves.

"I reckon I won't be able to get anything out of that person..."

Levi released the wizard controlled by the corpse demon from Alice's ring, only to find that he was no longer breathing.

"When did he die?" Levi asked coldly.

"He committed suicide not long after entering the ring. I tried to control him but failed." Guillermo said helplessly.

"They came prepared. It seems that this auction incident was not caused by ordinary dark wizards. This is because Black Sun Adam or the Hundred Beast Berserk Witch would not care about exposing their identities at all... They are even proud of entering the Savages List. Every time there was an attack by a dark wizard, they would take the initiative to step forward and announce that they were responsible for the matter. This was so that their bounty would be higher."

"It seems that the mastermind behind this incident has a certain reputation and status in the Wizard World. He might even have a good reputation, which is why he is so sneaky and careful."

Levi turned this person into Fate Coin and looked at the three White Bone Wizard Tools in front of him.

A spear, a ball, and a sword.

"The production method of this kind of Wizard Tool is very advanced. It uses relatively cheap materials like the bones of powerful transcendent creatures to make a fourth-circle Wizard Tool and achieve mass production... The person behind this is a weapon-making master. He should be at the primordial soul realm."

Although these white bone Wizard Tools were exquisitely made, the materials used were still too ordinary, so the quality was not very good. They could not be sold for much money, and they might even implicate him and be discovered by the mastermind behind the scenes.

Levi thought for a moment and destroyed all of them.

Finally, he held a black arrowhead in his hand, his eyes solemn.

"This isn't a Wizard Tool. It doesn't have any regular spell runes or formations. It's more like a special treasure. It's obvious that it was made by that weapon-making master. The bone spikes used to make the arrowheads have a strong corruptive power. If one uses their spiritual force to activate it, they might be directly corroded if their will isn't firm enough."

"Moreover, the owner of the arrowhead is likely to be a primordial soul wizard. His means are beyond my imagination. For safety reasons, we should leave this in the Endless Sea to avoid getting into trouble."

Everything behind it was confusing.

Levi carefully checked himself, the Poison Fire Corpse Demon, and his subordinates. There was no tracking mark.

"To participate in the official auction, I need to register my real name. It seems that my information was leaked to the mastermind by that d*mn staff member, so they finally came to find me and have been waiting for me in the Nether Capital. Moreover, some experts used interference spells to prevent me and the other bidders from sensing that they were being targeted through special methods. Once we left the city, they began to attack."