Chapter 987: Hell! (1)

Two years of special attack.

Cultivating day and night.

A large amount of resources and wealth, as well as countless efforts.

Levi had finally mastered the most difficult array skill to the fourth-circle!

After reaching the fourth-circle, he had been thinking about how to upgrade this third-circle array to a fourth-circle array based on the foundation of the [Glory of the Four Kings].

After all, he had spent a lot of effort and energy on this array. It would be a pity if he abandoned it and replaced it with a new fourth-circle array.

The predecessors were able to create a fourth-circle array.

Levi himself was a fourth-circle-array wizard. It was not impossible to upgrade a third-circle array to a fourth-circle array!

He planned to add lightning, frost, and metal as the three main mutated elements in addition to the Four Kings of Earth, Fire, Wind, and Water! This would allow the new seven kings to fuse perfectly.

As soon as this idea came to mind, Levi began to research and experiment crazily.

During this period, he had already spent a million Aether Stones, which was enough to buy a top-grade fourth-circle Wizard Tool.

Most fourth-circle wizards would not even dare to think about such an investment.

Only Levi had enough financial resources to support his idea.

Coupled with his sufficient theoretical knowledge and practical experience, he was finally able to achieve this goal.

Hell of the Seven Kings!

It represented the highest level of array that Levi had achieved at this stage.

Any one of the first-circle arrays could be used as a simple fourth-circle array, and the seven fourth-circle arrays could be linked together. Levi was terrified just thinking about this power.

Let alone a fourth-circle wizard, if that fifth-circle Cave Wizard from last time were to attempt it again, Levi would not even need to do anything.

This array could kill him!

This was Levi's confidence!

Apart from Levi, the other wizards in the Wizard World were basically all trained in a single school.

Whether it was the Burning Faction or the Ocean Faction.

No matter which faction the wizards were from, if they faced the Hell of the Seven Kings, there would always be a type of 'hell' that could restrain the wizard.

The mutual promotion and suppression of the elements were utilized to the extreme here.

The seven hells were:

Hell of Thorns, Inferno Hell, Wind Blade Hell, Dead Sea Hell, Ice Hell, Lightning Hell, Hell of Blade Mountain!

The names and designs were inspired by the culture of the eighteen levels of hell in Levi's previous life.

He felt that in the future, as his knowledge of arrays advanced, he would be able to use his array skill to create a new array.

There was still room for improvement in the Hell of the Seven Kings.

Sooner or later, he would make the legendary eighteen levels of hell in his previous life into his own gatekeeping array.

'You want to steal my house? Then let's go through hell first!'

"Furthermore, if I ever encounter a fifth-circle wizard that I can't defeat, I can lure them into the Seven Kings of Hell and use the power of the array. I feel that I can even fight a true fifth-circle wizard!"

Levi was very confident.

This array was too powerful. It was simply a magic treasure that could defeat the strong with the weak!

"However, the current Hell of the Seven Kings still needs to be perfected. The Seven Hells need seven guardians to control the array cores and make them even more powerful!"

"The Hell of Thorns has Bo Gang, and the Inferno Hell has the Poison Fire Corpse Demon. The other five hells are still lacking five guardians. I'll slowly collect them in the future."

A transcendent creature like Raja could definitely be a Guardian.

However, they were related to his knight's secret medicine. If they were killed or taken away by the enemy, he would suffer a huge loss.

If the array was gone, Levi could still build it again.

But if Raja was gone... Then he might not be able to find a replacement for a long time.

This matter still needed careful consideration.

"The guardian of the array is just a icing on the cake. It's not a necessity. The current power of the array is enough."

"The most useful guardians are actually the fourth-circle wizards from the various factions. D*mn it, there are too few contract slots in my scarlet contract..."

"If it really doesn't work out, I'll use Excalibur to capture a few laborers. I'm also a fourth-circle wizard now, so I shouldn't suffer a backlash if I contract a fourth-circle wizard."

He returned to the Emperor's Palace.

Levi did not rest.

In his secret room stood a tall and mighty blood-colored figure.

The figure's face could not be seen. It was covered in scarlet scales condensed from fresh blood.

On his back, elbows, head, and other places, there were ferocious blood thorns exposed.

On his back was a blood-red bow and a blood-red sword!

This was a corpse demon that Levi had refined himself, and he had spent several years refining it.

The raw material had come from an Ancient Saint, and the Ancient Saint was now completely unrecognizable.

He called it the Blood-Armored Corpse Demon.

As it was refined from the body of an Ancient Saint, the defense of the Blood-Armored Corpse Demon was much stronger than that of the Poison Fire Corpse Demon.

However, compared to the Poison Fire Corpse Demon, it lacked the poison fire ability.

However, with the three Blood Artifacts that Levi had refined into it as a supplement, it made up for the lack of attack methods!

The spikes on the surface of the Blood-Armored Corpse Demon were the Blood Imprisonment Awl that could shoot out.

The Moonlight Greatsword on his back was a close-range attack.

The Blood Feather Bow was responsible for long-range attacks.

These three Blood Artifacts were constantly devouring blood and killing while at Levi's side. They were already at the peak of level 3 Blood Artifacts.

If he had the remains of a level 4 Blood Clan member, Levi was confident that he could re-refine these Blood Artifacts and upgrade them to level 4 once he reached the fourth-circle for Weapon Refinement.

That way, the attack power of the Blood-Armored Corpse Demon would increase to another level.

The reason why Levi had spent so much effort to refine this external object was because he had been able to obtain it.

In fact, it was also to prepare for entering the Dark Ancient Tower.
