

Chapter 1403

"I will avenge you even if it means sacrificing Conway Corporation! I'll definitely kill him! No one can stop me!"

With that, Louis held the two heads and left Conway Corporation.

Chaney Manor was a villa-style mansion located on Chaney Mountain. With beautiful scenery and pleasant climate, it was an excellent location.

The Conways bought this mountain a long time ago. Ordinary people were strictly forbidden to come here.

"Master!"

"Master!"

...

At the foot of the mountain were stationed the Conway family's most loyal guards. They immediately stood up straight with their chests puffed when they saw Louis.

Louis walked straight in.

After arriving at the manor, he took the winding path leading to the deepest chamber.

In the chamber, a one-eyed old man was wielding a long spear, dancing gracefully inside. The majestic inner energy easily scraped deep marks on the surrounding walls. It was quite terrifying.

The inner energy was actually that of a Martial Emperor!

However, it was unstable. It was clear that he had broken through to the Martial Emperor realm not long ago.

Swoosh...

Swish...

Boom—

The old man's long spear danced wildly. Finally, it struck the ground, creating a long trench several meters deep.

Rocks flew, and dust filled the air. The spear strike was truly powerful.

“Hahaha...”

Seeing this, the old man laughed heartily. "Finally. After breaking through to the Martial Emperor, I've finally perfected my technique. How satisfying!"

At that point, a cold light flashed in his eyes as he muttered to himself, "It's time for me to take revenge, Old Klein. Are you ready?"

After saying that, the old man continued to practice his spear with excitement.

Not long after, a figure walked in. It was none other than Louis.

Clap, clap, clap!

When Louis saw the destroyed floor, especially the long and deep trench, he was first stunned, then ecstatic.

He clapped his hands as he walked, praising, "Master Hess, you've finally perfected your technique! With your current overwhelming strength and unparalleled spear skills, there must not be many who are a match for you."

He was rather good at brown-nosing at the right time.

Tegan Hess was very pleased to hear this and smiled, saying with fake modesty, "You flatter me too much."

In fact, he was already bursting with joy inside.

When he went into seclusion, the most powerful experts he knew of in the outside world were only in the Martial Emperor realm. Now that he had stepped into this realm himself, he had joined the ranks of the Martial Emperor experts...

How could he not be smug?

"Master Hess..."

Seeing him so happy, Louis immediately seized the opportunity and revealed his grief, saying, "To be honest, a great disaster has befallen the Conway family before I came here. My sons, Jasper and Justin, were killed by a martial realm expert. They were beheaded."

Louis was not a martial realm expert and did not know that Andrius' aura belonged to the Martial Saint realm. He simply attributed anyone who could kill a Grandmaster to be a martial realm expert.

"Please, Master Hess. Avenge my sons!" At that point, Louis knelt directly in front of Tegan, groveling.

"Is that so?" A visible trace of murderous intent flashed on Tegan's face at the news. "Don't worry, Mr. Conway. You've also done a lot for me over the years. Now that I've reached the peak of my technique, I'll surely help you kill the enemy and sacrifice them to my spear!"

As he spoke, he held his long spear and slammed it hard on the ground.

With a loud boom, the floor began to crack in all directions at an extraordinary speed, not a single place remaining intact. 1

"Thank you! Thank you, Master Hess!"

Only then did Louis raise his head, a chilling look flashing across his face.
