

Chapter 1417

"Okay."

Dax quickly had a guard summon Tyler.

"Wolf King, Warzone Master." Tyler immediately saluted the two upon his arrival.

Andrius nodded and asked, "Why did the refugees turn into this state? Have you found out what happened at the time?"

Tyler said solemnly, "Sir, everything was smooth and normal after the refugees entered the camp. Nothing unusual happened.

"However, not long ago, the problem started when I instructed the soldiers to distribute water among them. We've sealed off that batch of water and started monitoring it, but the specific cause still requires further investigation."

There was a problem with the water source!

Andrius immediately ordered, "Get me a sample of the water."

"Yes, sir!" Tyler responded and went out.

When he returned, he held a cup with the water sample inside. "Wolf King, this is the water the refugees drank."

Andrius nodded, took the cup, and used inner energy to investigate it immediately. Soon, he discovered transparent insects in the water.

"What did you find, Wolf King?" Dax hurriedly asked when he saw Andrius' expression.

"There's something wrong with the water." Andrius' face was cold as he snorted, "There's a high concentration of transparent insects inside. Just one sip and the insects will enter the body, causing insanity."

Insects!

Dax's expression darkened.

"Go and investigate." Andrius' brilliant eyes flashed with coldness as he said sternly, "We must quickly find out who supplied the water source and why they did this!"

"Yes, sir!"

Tyler immediately carried out the order.

Before long, he returned with a soldier.

"Wolf King, this batch of water was provided by a company called 'Seabreeze Mineral Water'."

The situation would be easier to handle now that they had a name.

Andrius immediately said, "Let's go and see what this company is up to and why they added insects to the drinking water."

Andrius, accompanied by the Southern Warzone Master and a group of soldiers, arrived at Seabreeze Mineral Water in full force, frightening the receptionist.

"W-what do you want?" the receptionist asked nervously.

Andrius did not bother with the small fry and asked coldly, "Call your boss out. I have something to ask him."

"Y-yes..." the receptionist answered and made a phone call to explain the situation.

Before long, a middle-aged man with a round belly came down the stairs. He glanced at Andrius, Dax, and the soldiers behind them but walked over calmly as if nothing was wrong.

Andrius became even more certain that this guy must have planned something. He immediately asked, "Are you the boss of Seawater Mineral Water, Carl Fields?"

"Yes." The chubby man smiled and said, "I am Carl Fields, the boss of this company. Who are you? Is there a reason why you brought so many soldiers to my office?"
