Chapter 734: 'Sage' (8k)_5

The essence of a master is a divine sword that will dazzle for all eternity!

Of course, Chen Mobai had no idea that in the eyes of his young disciple, he was quickly becoming more than human.

After confirming with Chu Zuoshu that there would be no large-scale conflicts with Mountain Shaker Peak in the near future, Chen Mobai left his puppet body behind and returned to the other side of the fairy gate.

“I’m sorry for the delay in getting the core chip fabricated.”

After returning to the studio at the Heavenly Machines Factory, Chen Mobai first apologized to Chai Lun. As the chief engineer of the factory, Zhou Tiangong was usually very busy, so the two of them were basically the only ones using the studio.

“That’s fine, the bureaucracy at the Repairing Heaven Institute is very heavy. I would have been surprised if you had not delayed me.”

Chai Lun previously ordered core chips from the Repairing Heaven Institute and had prepaid the whole amount, but each time it took a while for the entire process to be completed.

So he nodded in understanding, handed Chen Mobai the skeletal structure of an arm that he had assembled over the past several days, and asked him to check if it had any problems.

[I feel that the Repairing Heaven Institute is actually quite quick.]

Chen Mobai thought about his two collaborations with the Repairing Heaven Institute. It seemed that as soon as the money was in place, they immediately arranged for the order to be made.

Maybe it was because he had used his connections.

Chen Mobai didn't talk anymore about this. He meticulously inspected the skeletal structure of the arm that Chai Lun had assembled and found three small problems.

He patiently explained them to Chai Lun, then had him disassemble it and reassemble them.

A month later.

Chen Mobai finally understood why Chai Lun had roared in frustration when he was teaching him. Although he had handed over the blueprints, Chai Lun did not know the Assembly of the Formless Puppet as well as he did. Each time they assembled it, or printed parts, they encountered unexpected problems.

Several times they thought they had succeeded in assembling it, but when they channeled spiritual energy into it, they found that it could not light up.

After checking again, they found that a wire may have been connected wrongly or a part may be sized incorrectly.

Since the assembly of the Formless Puppet needed high precision, an error margin of 0.01 millimeters was unacceptable. However, Chai Lun's concept was still at 0.1 millimeters, so many parts that had been printed by him had to be discarded and reprinted.

This meant that the work they had done over the past month was largely wasted.

At this moment, Chen Mobai felt an overwhelming urge to curse.

However, he certainly wouldn't take it out on Chai Lun. After consoling him, they reprinted these irregular parts together.

And Chai Lun, being an excellent puppet master, would not repeat his mistakes. Consequently, as their cooperation matured, the assembly and construction process actually sped up.

Time slipped by as they worked with dedication.

By the time Wenren Xuewei delivered the materials for biogenetics, they had actually completed the skeletal structure of the Formless Puppet.

What was left was to use various materials from bionics to simulate human meridians, blood vessels, visceral flesh, and so forth.

This would require the help of Wenren Xuewei. Although Chen Mobai had a perfect theoretical understanding, he could expect to make multiple errors if he tried to cover the skeletal structure with the materials.

“These small electronic components that simulate neurons are also very crucial. They need to be set in the corresponding positions when you cover them with biogenetic materials. This will make the skeletal structure form a connection with the biogenetic meridians, blood vessels, viscera, flesh, etc, if any one of them is misplaced, we will have to cut it open and redo it.”

To guarantee success, Chen Mobai repeated the relevant knowledge to Wenren Xuewei again and again.

Wenren Xuewei nodded solemnly, confirming that she understood everything and had no doubts.

However, after the actual coverage was completed, they still encountered issues with six neurons not having a connection.

“It’s okay, just consider it a minor surgery.”

Seeing the guilty look on Wenren Xuewei’s face, Chen Mobai comforted her gently, then opened his Void Spirit Eye, picked up a tool similar to a surgical knife, and cut open the biogenetic flesh over the Formless Puppet’s shoulder, precisely finding an electronic component that hadn’t been activated.

Thankfully, the Formless Puppet had no sense of perception. Chen Mobai soon activated all the neurons. After confirmation that there were no issues, the three people in the studio breathed a sigh of relief.

“Next, I need your help, Senior Wenren, to regrow these six pieces of cut biogenetic flesh, then reapply and fuse them with the rest of the material.”

Looking at the Formless Puppet with six small holes cut into it on the workstation, Chen Mobai felt a sense of accomplishment.

Even though he relied on the strength of three companions, he was the leader of this project.

This was the Formless Puppet, the peak of Daoist Academy’s Puppetry Technique.

At that moment, Chen Mobai’s phone rang. Upon seeing the caller ID, he smiled and answered,

“Hello, teacher! Okay, it’ll be delivered the day after tomorrow, I will be there then.”

After hanging up the phone, Chai Lun had already guessed what it was and was also excited: “The chip manufacturing is complete, right?”

“Correct. Fu Borong is going to pay a visit to Professor Che Yucheng, so he will bring it over. I will go there to greet them.”

After Chen Mobai finished speaking, all three of them were overjoyed.

“I didn’t expect that I would be the one slowing us down in the end. I’ll go back to Jumang Daoist Academy right away and try to culture these six pieces of biogenetic flesh as soon as possible.”

Wenren Xuewei said somewhat embarrassingly, then declined Chen Mobai’s offer to see her off. She immediately booked a flight ticket for the same day and left.

“Have you decided what kind of magical treasure embryo you want the principal to order?”

One day, Chen Mobai, wearing the Dancing Device Red and Black Robe, accompanied Che Yucheng to the airport to meet their guest. The latter suddenly asked him.
