

World 744

Chapter 744: Heavenly Communication Device_2

However, deep inside, he was thinking that if he ever had the chance, he would properly deal with these five families on behalf of his master.

Upon returning to Giant Tree Ridge, Chen Mobai naturally went first to Shenmu Hall to report to the sect leader.

“Hmm, you’ve worked hard. Approximately a month from now, the second batch of cultivator troops should be able to assemble. We can dispatch these people from the sect, which ones do you need?”

Chu Zuoshu didn’t really care about the number of people the six major Immortal Cultivation clans of Jian Country had dispatched; he handed a list to Chen Mobai.

The cultivator army would certainly not only send one Foundation Establishment elder like Chen Mobai; the determination of the Divine Wood Sect this time was great, approximately one third of the Foundation Establishment cultivators in the sect would be sent to the frontline battlefield.

This was Chen Mobai’s first time leading the army as the main general, which made his heart somewhat excited.

However, his understanding of commanding a large cultivator army was far beyond anyone on the Eastern Wilderness side.

Because on the Immortal Gate side, they possessed a mature tactical system for this domain.

Countless experiences of wars of expansion, coupled with various modern magic artifact communications, enabled the Immortal Gate to exert the collective power in wars. Even when they were at a disadvantage in top-ranked combat strength, they could still press ahead and always achieve victory in wars.

“Are there any Foundation Establishment cultivators from the Artifact Refining, Rune Manufacturing, Formation, or Puppetry departments?”

Chen Mobai was not very familiar with the Foundation Establishment cultivators in the sect. Although there were familiar people like Mu Yuan, Yan Jinye, and Yu Lian on the list, it was unbearable for him to take his good friends to the battlefield. So, he let Chu Zuoshu recommend some needed people to him.

Although he hadn't systematically learned about warfare at the Daoist Academy, he knew that the first priority in Immortal Gate warfare was communication.

Only by ensuring smooth communication between the top and bottom could one command the entire army as if it were an extension of his own limbs, thus forming various battle arrays, and creating zones that even Core Formation cultivators dared not easily invade.

Therefore, the first thing Chen Mobai thought of was to make a simple communication device to ensure he could contact his subordinate cultivator generals at any time.

For this, he needed experts in puppetry, artifact refining, and rune manufacturing to help him do the grunt work.

“These few should meet your requirements.”

Chen Mobai's choice of departments was a bit strange with the puppetry department, but Chu Zuoshu didn't pay much attention to it and designated four people on the list according to his requirements.

Then Chu Zuoshu selected another four, making a total of nine Foundation Establishment cultivators including Chen Mobai.

Among them, Mu Yuan and Yu Lian were selected by Chu Zuoshu.

Meng Hong's injuries from his Core Formation failure had largely healed, and not wanting his disciple to stick around him all the time, he sent him away.

Having nothing to do, Mu Yuan applied to go to the front line to toughen himself up.

After Chu Zuoshu consulted with Meng Hong, he nodded in agreement.

Yu Lian, on the other hand, was chosen because he had left a deep impression on Chu Zuoshu.

When Chen Mobai first came to the Reward Virtue Hall, Chu Zuoshu was not yet the sect leader. Through the matter of Yu Lian, Chen Mobai was regarded by Chu Zuoshu as a core disciple.

After Yu Lian established his foundation, he was sent to guard the mines in Lonely Spirit Ridge for three years.

Chu Zuoshu wanted to completely include him in the Divine Wood Sect, so he let Chen Mobai lead him to see blood on the frontline battlefield first, with the hope that he could kill more cultivators from the Shake Mountain. If he could achieve merit, it would be easier to promote him in the future without any gossip within the sect.

Besides these two, there are also two Inspection Envoys from the Reward Virtue Hall, Chen Zhenwu and Liang Lingzhen.

Among them, Chen Zhenwu was one of the rotating elders of the Spirit Treasure Pavilion. He was the one who received Chen Mobai last time when he exchanged for the Green Wood Evil.

As for Liang Lingzhen, he originates from the Qinghong Liang Family of Jian Country.

Both of them fought on the frontlines with Chu Zuoshu and Chen Mobai last time. They had a certain understanding of each other and could be considered as being from the same faction.

With these people assigned by Chu Zuoshu, Chen Mobai could at least command them.

In a team, as long as half of the members obey orders, the rest will go along with the flow.

“How’s Elder Fu’s puppet refining going?”

After discussing the matters of the cultivator army, Chen Mobai asked Chu Zuoshu about the matter of the Purple Sun Puppet.

If Fu Zongjue could succeed in refining it, the Divine Wood Sect would have an absolute advantage in the top-ranked combat strength.

“I don’t know much about this matter, but An Jinghui has been running around collecting materials for the past year. He should be in the throes of intense manufacture work now, I presume.”

As the head of the Puppetry Department and a disciple of Fu Zongjue, An Jinghui had received the true transmission of the puppetry technique from this elder. By observing his whereabouts, sect leader Chu Zuoshu could roughly deduce the situation.

They chatted for a while before the chosen Foundation Establishment cultivators of the sect started appearing one by one.

The first to arrive was Mu Yuan, followed by Chen Zhenwu and Liang Lingzhen. Yu Lian was still guarding the mines at Lonely Spirit Ridge. After the order was sent out from here, it would probably take a few days for him to return to Giant Tree Ridge.

The remaining four were Yuan Feihu from the Artifact Refining Department, Hong Lingqin from the Rune Manufacturing Department, Zuo Hongqiu from the Formation Department, and Su Wanshi from the Puppetry Department, all of whom were chosen in accordance with Chen Mobai’s requirements.

“The matter is as follows, although Brother Chen is young, in the Eastern Wasteland, it has always been the one with the higher cultivation level who is deemed superior. This time, he will lead the team for the mission,” said Chu Zuoshu, the sect leader, giving support to Chen Mobai.

Among those present, most of them recognized and admired Chen Mobai. They knew that he had broken through to the middle stage of the Foundation Establishment two years earlier and had also developed into a rare genius of Sword Sha. Whether it was cultivation level or combat power, he was ahead of them all.